Omaha digs out from disaster

3 dead, many hurt as twisters leave city in shambles

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — National Guardsmen patroled 3,400 square blocks of Omaha today to prevent looting after tornadoes that killed three persons, injured more than 100 and did millions of dollars of damage.

The National Weather Service said the three twisters which hit Omaha were among about a dozen which struck widespread areas of northeast Nebraska Tuesday, causing loss of livestock and substantial property damage in rural areas. No deaths were reported outside of Omaha.

After surveying the damage in Omaha from a helicopter, Gov. J. James Exon said, "It's just devastating. I've lived in tornado country all my life and I've never seen anything comparable to this for property devastation. This is certainly the biggest loss in property damage that ever has hit Nebraska."

He said at least 500 homes were destroyed and at least 1,000 severely damaged.

Acting Douglas County Coroner James Keenan identified the dead as Margaret Burke, 86; Lloyd Kramer, about 40; and Pamela Myers, 23. All were believed from Omaha.

Police said Kramer died when the roof of a northwest Omaha service station collapsed while he was standing on it watching an approaching tornado. Keenan said the Myers woman, a waitress, died when the restaurant in which she was working was struck by a tornado.

He said he did not know how the other victim died.

Storm sirens started wailing at 4:30 p.m. as a huge black cloud moved in over the city from the southwest, and the tornadoes soon touched down. Forty-five minutes later, the storm alert was over, but sections of this city of 350,000 were in shambles.

The two areas most severely damaged were a 300-squareblock area in the southwest portion of the city and its southern suburbs and a 500square-block area in northwest Omaha.

In the southwest section, the major damage was between L and Q Streets from 84th St. west to 132nd St. In the northwest section, damage was concentrated from Grover St. on the south to Maple St. on the north for several blocks on either side of 72nd St.

Some of the most severe damage occurred at the 848unit Wentworth Apartments, the city's largest. About 70 per cent of the complex, which houses about 1,800 persons in suburban Ralston on the city's southern edge, sustained severe damage.

One Wentworth resident, Army Capt. William Rollins, said, "I'm wiped out. Everything is smashed to smithereens."

Another resident, Beryle Scott, said she was in her office overlooking the complex when the twister struck the building housing her apartment.

She said her first thought was, "Oh, my God, my children!"

She said she rushed to her apartment and found her two children safe, though virtually all her possessions were lost and two cars were leaning into the living room.

Other major structures which received heavy damage included several other apartment complexes, the Ralston Bank, Westgate Elementary School, Lewis and Clark Junior High School, Creighton Prep High School, Temple Israel, the First Methodist Church, the Downtowner Motel, Bergan-Mercy Hospital and the Omaha Playhouse.

Mayor Edward Zorinsky slapped a curfew on the damaged area at 6:56 p.m. and said it would remain in effect for 72 hours.

Exon called out all Omaha area Army and Air National Guardsmen and said, "I think the danger of looting is very serious and we'll keep them here as long as we need them."

He said he would ask President Ford to declare Omaha a disaster area, making victims eligible for low-cost federal recovery loans.

In Saunders County, just west of the Omaha metropolitan area, farm buildings, a garage and a home were reported damaged near Colon.

A tornado destroyed a grain elevator, lumber yard, grocery store, gas station, city hall and storage buildings in Magnet, a community of 88 in northeast Nebraska. It missed a school by 150 feet, officials said.

Also in northeast Nebraska, at Pierce, a community of 1,360, police said a twister struck a half-block area.

Doctors threaten big strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Interns and resident doctors at three Los Angeles County hospitals threatened to strike today, disrupting medical service to thousands of patients.

At issue is improved patient care, wage increases and a limit on working hours.

The strike came as doctors in the San Francisco area went into their seventh day of a boycott over the issue of skyrocketing malpractice insurance. Some 250 doctors in San Diego and an undetermined number in Los Angeles staged a one-day walkout Tuesday in sympathy with their northern colleagues.

The walkouts in the southern part of the state and the continuing boycott in northern areas have limited surgery at affected hospitals to emergency cases.

The physicians in Los Angeles are demanding more duty nurses, more intensive care units, improved X-ray facilities, better spiratory thereapy services, more interpreters for patients who don't speak English and a work limit of 80 hours per week.

Hospital services affected included inpatient and out-patient services at Martin Luther King Hospital and out-patient services at County-USC Medical Center and Harbor General Hospital.

Spokesmen at County-USC Medical Center, one of the largest hospitals in the nation with 2,103 beds, were not available for comment.

At 394-bed Martin Luther King Hosital, which normally handles up to 1,000 outpatients and 300 inpatients a day, regional health director Melvin J. Fleming said all scheduled outpatient clinics had been canceled.

"I understand the residents and interns are asking for a 12 per cent increase and they are asking the same at the other hospitals," said Fleming. Fleming said his hospital staff included 131 residents and interns.

John Rossfeld, asssistant administrator of the 719-bed Harbor General Hospital, said fulltime faculty members and physicians at the hospital would be used to provide emergency outpatient services.

"We are prepared to handle upto 350 emergency cases," said Rossfeld.

He said Harbor General normally treats about 1,200 outpatients and 500 inpatients each day, with a resident-intern staff of some 250.

Dramatic midnight decision

Brown jubilant as bitter farm labor fight resolved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. jubilantly declared today that he has resolved California's 10-year-old struggle over farm labor legislation.

In a dramatic midnight meeting, Brown won endorsements for his secret ballot farm labor bill from both United Farm Workers leader Cesar Chavez and all major spokesmen for California growers.

Among major parties to the complex farm labor dispute, only the Western Conference of Teamsters failed to appear and endorse the Brown proposal.

But legislators backing the Teamsters endorsed the bill, and Brown scheduled a meeting today lith the Teamsters west coast chief Andy Anderson.

The agreement — if the legislature approves it — would set up a mechanism intended to resolve a quarter century of violence and conflict in California agriculture.

It would require secret ballots for all organizing elections, permit under limited circumstances the secondary boycotts used by Chavez and establish a state agency to supervise elections and regulate unfair labor practices.

It would authorize harvest time strikes, but only by unions which had won organizing elections.

For the past 10 years, bills aimed at settling the dispute have died in the state legislature as rival factions refused to compromise on key points.

Beginning at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Brown started telephoning throughout the state for leaders of all major interest groups in the farm labor dispute for still a meeting in his office. Numerous smaller meetings have been held over the past three weeks.

By 11 p.m., he had 37 people seated in the cabinet room adjoining his private study in the Capitol — representatives of growers, labor groups and the State Chamber of Commerce, top state officials, legislators and news reporters.

The only major figure absent was Chavez, who three days earlier said Brown's proposal was "not betrayal, but close."

Brown telephoned Chavez. After two unsuccessful attempts, the governor reached the UFW leader at his headquarters in the community of La Paz 30 miles east of Bakersfield and put the telephone conversation on an office loudspeaker system.

One by one, Brown asked the people in the cabinet room to take a stand on his bill, and he repeated each endorsement over the telephone to Chavez, including endorsements of two legislators who authored Chavez' own proposal.

Finally, the Democratic governor said: "After everything you've heard, Cesar, can we count on your support?"

The room burst into applause when Chavez replied, "Very, very definitely."

Chavez said he would endorse the plan because, by their endorsement, growers "are willing to give workers the right to self-determination."

"Though imperfect, we can live with it, provided it is not changed," Chavez told Brown.

"This is an historic moment," Brown said, obviously excited and happily shaking hands on all sides.

A key provision added to Brown's measure Monday would, in effect, void all current farm labor contracts next January by requiring worker elections to ratify the union's authority to represent them.

That was a crucial Chavez demand, and one which Teamsters, who hold 90 per cent of the current contracts, objected to most strenuously.

At an early morning party today following the midnight agreement, Brown said of Teamster reluctance:

"Yes, it voids all the Teamster contracts. But they have the same chance as anybody else to win an election."

Another amendment Monday viewed as a concession to Chavez would require that all workers on each ranch or farm be represented under a single labor contract.

Jerry Cohen, Chavez' chief attorney, and Daryl Arnold, leader of the Western Growers Association, shook hands and embraced each other after the Chavez telephone call. They have been among the most adament rivals in recent years.

Brown's chief of staff, Gray Davis, said the final agreement was not hammered out until Chavez was on the telephone.

"Coming into this meeting, we did not have a single firm commitment. They were all waiting for each other to make the move. You saw the agreement made right there," Davis said.

Among others attending the midnight meeting were leadesp

Record loss for carmaker

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. lost a record $47.8 million in the first three months of 1975, the nation's No. 4 auto maker said today.

It was AMC's third consecutive quarterly loss. The firm lost $5.6 million in the October-December period, the first quarter of its 1975 fiscal year, and $7 million in the JulySeptember period, when it was shutdown by a two-week national strike.

That gave the firm net losses of $53.4 million or $1.78 a share in the first half of its current fiscal year, and red ink of $60.4 million in the nine months since last July.

The firm's previous record loss for a single quarter came in 1967, when it lost $27.8 million in the July-September period of 1967. AMC finished that year with record losses of $76 million.

Oil production at low level in Saudi Arabia

NEW YORK (AP) — After five consecutive months of decline, petroleum production in Saudi Arabia has dropped to the lowest level since July 1972 because of a lack of demand, the Arabian-American Oil Co. (Aramco) reports.

Aramco, which can produce 10.5 million barrels a day, said in New York Tuesday its April output fell to less than 5.7 million barrels a day. This is down from 6.3 million barrels a day in March.

Aramco is the largest oil company in Saudi Arabia and the world's major exporter of petroleum. The company is 60 per cent owned by the Saudi government with the remainder of its assets held by the Exxon Corp.; Texaco, Inc.; Mobil Oil Corp., and the Standard Oil Co. of California.

Bankers say oil producers have lost revenue and trimmed development plans because the worldwide recession and high prices have resulted in a sharp decline in the demand for petroleum.

Report claims state near recession's end

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California is faring better than the rest of the nation and appears to be about to pull out of the current recession, a state report says.

California Economic Indicators, a bimonthly report by the Department of Finance, said in an issue released Tuesday the state's economy appears to be close to hitting bottom. Several indicators point to economic improvement in the near future, it said.

The report said Californians are increasing their personal savings at record rates, and that retail sales in January were 13 per cent higher than the previous January.

Unemployment, which hit 10 per cent in California last month, is 1.1 per cent above the national average of 8.9 per cent.

But that is not a bad sign, the report said.

"The gap between the state and the United States — at 1.9 points in January 1974 — has narrowed rapidly during the current recession, reflecting the sharper cutbacks in economic activity in areas outside California," it added.

The report did not say what effect economic trends will have on state revenues. That estimate, which is the key to budget options open to the legislature and Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., is due for release by the Department of Finance next week.

Highlights of the economic indicators report include:

—"There are signs that the recession may be approaching the trough; some evidence of improvement has been noted, particularly in inventories."

—"Construction employment is running 15 per cent below year-earlier levels...Construction activity could well turn around within the next few months."

—"Money for mortgage loans is once more available as cash inflows at savings and loan associations have achieved new highs. Net new savings for January amounted to $528 million, up an overwhelming 211 per cent from January 1974....Increased mortgage activity should be evident before midsummer."

Smoke area for schools signed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — School districts can set up smoking areas on high school campuses under a bill signed into law by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

The bill by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, was signed Tuesday night.

It squeaked through both houses of the legislature, passing the Senate 21-16 and the Assembly 41-35.

Opponents claimed it would encourage student smoking, but Gregorio said it might reduce it, because students like to do what is forbidden.

S.D. budget falls but tax prospect rises

Although the proposed 1975-76 budget is 14 per cent lower than the current budget, San Dimas City Manager Robert Poff will have to recommend a 15 per cent tax increase per $100 assessed valuation in order to close the gap between income and expenditures.

Poff reported in a press conference Tuesday that he will present a budget of $2,218,153 for the upcoming fiscal year to the City Council Monday. That proposed figure is 14 per cent less than the 1974-75 budget of $2,542,955.

The city manager said he will recommend an increase in the property tax from 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation to 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation. He will also recommend a nickel increase in the lighting district rate from 45 cents to 50 cents.

The property tax increase, the first since 1972, is expected to generate about $60,000. To the average homeowner in San Dimas whose house is $24,000 market value, this represents an annual increase of $9 to $10. For someone owning a home at $32,000 market value, it will be about $12 per year.

The original expenditures requested by city department heads exceeded income by more than $300,000, said Poff. The manager and other administrators reviewed and re-evaluated the budget, cutting approximately $225,000 from the new fiscal plan.

"We as a staff have conscientiously endeavored to cut in every way possible and thereby minimize the impact on the tax rate," Poff said.

Poff blamed the recommendation for the tax increase on expected loss in sales taxes; decrease in population and a reduction in revenues predicated on population; reduction of construction and development corresponding to losses in money from building permits and engineering fees; inflation; cost of paper products and equipment; and gasoline costs.

The reductions in expenditures were possible by not filling three full-time vacancies in the engineering, building and safety and street maintenance divisions; reducing part-time positions; reducing hours for recreation leaders; increasing fees for most recreation programs; eliminating major equipment requests in eacn department; maintaining a capital outlay of only $5,000 (compared to $39,000 in 1974-75); and cutting the summer playground program from five to four days.

"In most cases the individual budgets are less than last year's . . . We have tried diligently to cut this budget to maintain the lowest tax rate possible and still provide a high level of service," Poff said.

The law enforcement budget, up by $58,000, is the only budget that shows a large increase. Its share of the proposed budget is $260,400 because of the increased hours in surveillance and service on both the late night and early morning shifts, Poff reported. The 1974-75 law enforcement budget was $202,765.

The special funds budget reflects a 31 per cent decrease from $1,360,490 in 1974-75 to $1,038,693 in the proposed budget. Two major street improvements—San Dimas Canyon Road north of Foothill Boulevard and Bonita Avenue in the downtown area—are the principal reasons for the drastic reductions here, the manager said.

Local firm greets public

California Supply Co., 155 W. Commercial St., Pomona, is celebrating its 50th anniversary with an open house and product show today from 4 to 10 p.m.

More than 30 factory representatives and product technical men will be at the store to answer questions and perform demonstrations.

The Champion Spark Plug Technical School on Wheels will be conducted by Sonny Wienberg during open house hours.

Cold buffet and cold drinks will be served.

California Supply is an automotive parts headquarters with machine shop service.

Kids films at S.D. library

The San Dimas library will offer two children's film programs in May.

"Caterpillar" will be shown on Thursday and a series of films will be shown May 15. Both programs begin at 3:30 p.m. "Caterpillar" is the story of a world famous dancing caterpillar that disappears. It will be screened with "Turned On," a film about dune buggies, surfing and snowmobiles. The program will conclude with the Dr. Seuss favorite "The Cat in the Hat."

The May 15 program will screen "Famous Movie Monsters," "The Great Annual Bathtub Race" and "Wonderful World of Wheels" which features sports cars, hot rods, and drag carts. The program will include a sequence from the James Bond movie "Goldfinger."

O-M rehiring all teachers

A spokesman for the Ontario-Montclair School District said today that all teachers in the district will be re-hired in the fall. The district will have 598 teachers for 1975-76.

Several vacancies that occur because of retirement, transfer or other reasons will not be filled during the next school term. The exact number of these posts is in a state of flux and will not be known until the end of the year.

Scripps fund drive opening

Best selling author Ray D. Bradbury and KNXT-TV newscaster Ruth Ashton Taylor will contribute their talents to "An Evening with Scripps College" tonight at 7 at the Grand Hall of the Pavilion at the Los Angeles Music Center.

The evening marks the opening of the college's Golden Anniversary Endowment Campaign, according to Franklin Stockbridge, chairman of the Scripps board of trustees.

Anne Havens Fuller, dean of the faculty at Scripps College, will speak on "Scripps, Spirit of '76."

Scripps President Mark H. Curtis will announce the first Ellen Browning Scripps Award to a person reflecting the ideals of the founder of the college.

Apt. unit guard hit by sniper

An 18-year-old security guard was ambushed in Pomona Tuesday night by someone who wounded him in the legs, arms and chest with a blast from a shotgun.

The victim, Danny R. Eller, West Covina, was shot while he was standing at the corner of Orchid Lane and Angela Street shortly after 9:30. He was taken to Pomona Valley Community hospital where his condition today was termed satisfactory.

Eller later told police that after being hit, he managed to fire four or five rounds from his .38-caliber revolver after his assailant as the figure fled in the darkness. It was not determined if any of Eller's shots hit the person.

Eller was working in the area as a guard for Continental Security Guards Inc. of Industry. He was patrolling an apartment complex in the neighborhood.

Eller told police that he has had continuing problems with youths living in the area and that he has been attacked before. He had a confrontation with two youths a few minutes before being shot, he said.

Police said that Eller's assailant apparently shot him from behind bushes near the intersection.

Two Upland men, suspected of burglarizing several mobile homes in a mobile home park at 1350 San Bernardino Road in UPLAND were arrested Tuesday.

Richard Pasqualetio, 28, a resident of the park, and Louis Albert Estrada, 23, of 945 N. Campus Ave. were arrested by Upland detectives following a month-long investigation.

Pasqualetio was booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of burglary, possession of stolen property, possession of heroin, and forgery in lieu of $2,000 bail. Estrada was booked in the jail on suspicion of burglary, possession of stolen property, and possession of heroin.

Detectives said they recovered a color television set, stereo and stereo tapes, and other items at Pasqualetio's home after entering to search for a checkbook with the suspect's consent.

Detectives said in the last few months several burglaries had been reported in the park and the investigation began.

New Garey principal chosen in quarrelsome board session

After a lengthy and sometimes heated discussion on the process of hiring administrators in Pomona's public schools, George H. Block Tuesday night was hired as 1975-76 principal of Garey High School on a 3-2 vote by the school board.

This is the same man the school board rejected by a 2-2 vote two weeks ago when board president Don Donnelly was out of town. In the second vote Tuesday night, Donnelly joined board members Ken Pine and C. Allen Braswell in accepting the administration's recommendation to hire Bloch.

The two board members who voted no two weeks ago, Mary Montes and Gene Whitlock, repeated their no votes.

Between the time Pine made the motion to accept Block (the motion was seconded by Braswell) and Donnelly called for the vote, seven persons spoke.

Nancy Lopez asked that changes be made in hiring procedures to allow parental and student representation. Garey teacher Aura Kruger said, "We need someone who knows our community" to be principal at Garey.

Clarence Robbins, representing the Fifth One Per Cent Coalition, asked that there be community representation in the selection process. "The person is not the question, the selection process is," Robbins stressed.

At that point, Donnelly explained that the board already had directed the administration to revamp the process of selecting administrators and a recommendation was due in a week.

"This new configuration is to include community representation," said Donnelly.

Robbins objected to having teachers "select their boss" (five Garey teachers served on the screening committee which selected Block) and asked that the administration make the candidate available to Garey parents.

Jean McKenzie, representing Concerned Parents of Garey High School, protested the board action of two weeks ago explaining that such "public humiliation is unforgiveable. No decision should be made when one board member is absent," she said. "We feel this man (Bloch) should be received with a unanimous vote."

Garey teacher Velma Pomeroy, said she was quite certain that all but two Garey teachers were behind the choice of the selection committee 100 per cent.

Mrs. Montes, recounting that she previously had tried to suspend the selection process in picking the Garey principal until a committee could be formed to include community people, said she hoped a "new model" could be implemented soon to avoid such situations.

The discussion heated up when Delbert A. Pfeifer, executive director of Associated Pomona Teachers (APT) took exception to Whitlock's remarks that he was glad to see the Garey teachers "here in support of their candidate" and that "this selection process is very important to our community. These are public schools. We ask you teachers and lobbyists to work with us in trying to improve all Pomona schools."

Over the gaveling of Donnelly, who ruled him out of order, Pfeifer shouted, "We won't take that. There are 600 teachers working their butts off on the RLE (revenue limit election or May 27 tax override election.)

"I've heard enough of that," said Roy Day, chairman of the committee working in support of the override.

As Donnelly regained control of the meeting, Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz advised the board, "Let us not be so naive as to think there is agreement in the community on how the selection process should work."

"Let us not so naive as to think the selection process cannot be improved," said Pine.

Then Pine added, "I think the Garey staff has done a decent job the last two years under trying circumstances." He did not elaborate.

Donnelly called a 5-minute recess.

Blokh, 33, is assistant principal at Indio High School. He will report here July 1. Garey's present principal, T. A. Tynes, has resigned the end of the school year.

A HAIR'S DIFFERENCE

For those who couldn't tell Thomas Duchen, right, from his twin brother, Robert, it will be easier now. Robert grew a mustache. Here they try on caps and gowns they'll wear for graduation at Tulane University in New Orleans Sunday. The twins majored in history, received identical grades and are both members of Phi Beta Kappa. They plan to attend Tulane's law school in the fall.

Chino barrio center idea gets cool response—costly

By JON NORRIS
PB Staff Writer

A request for $45,000 to establish a recreation center in the Chino barrio did not meet with great enthusiasm from the City Council Tuesday night.

Mayor Bob McLeod said he did not question the need for the center, proposed by the Chino Community Action Council, but added, "I can't conceive the city financing the program at this point."

"To be honest and blunt, I can't see us generating $50,000 this year," he declared.

The council, after a suggestion from McLeod, did refer the matter to city staff members for budget consideration. However, the mayor said federal revenue sharing or recreation funds would be the only two sources available.

McLeod suggested a six-member committee be formed to study the proposal, composed of two council members, two school board members and two from the recreation commission.

Councilmen Leonard Frketich and Angel Martinez volunteered, and were appointed to serve on the committee.

About 50 members of the Community Action Council attended the meeting to hear the proposal presented by CAC chairman Martin Salgado.

Several CAC members were angry after the council discussed the issue. "It's disgusting," said one woman. "Nothing was done."

"The barrio is always overlooked," added Nick Medina. "They think we're second-class citizens."

The recreation center plan, which has been aired at CAC meetings since April 1, is aimed at keeping barrio youths off the street in the wake of recent gang warfare.

The CAC has been seeking methods of eliminating gang violence and bloodshed in the barrio. The group is composed of Mexican-American parents and youths who have been attending meetings en masse.

Salgado, who said he's lived in Chino for 48 years, told councilmen gang warfare has simmered down, and youths have been "responding beautifully" to CAC efforts.

The $45,900 proposal to operate the vacant GI Cafe at Fifth and D streets as a recreation center for a year was spelled out by The Rev. Manuel Guillen, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church.

Most of the money ($42,000) would be used to pay five full-time staff members at the center. They would include a director, assistant director, recreation supervisor, arts and crafts supervisor and a secretary.

Renting the old cafe would cost $250 a month, plus $75 for utilities. Excluding fringe benefits for employes and equipment costs, the total cost would be $45,900 for a year. CAC members hope when the new civic center is built next year, the old city hall will be converted into a permanent recreation center for youths.

Indoor and outdoor programs would be conducted at the GI Cafe. There would be tables for pool, ping pong, and cards; arts and crafts; a juke box; horseshoe pits, handball courts, basketball courts, and footballs, soccer balls, baseballs and bats available.

A toy loan and toy repair shop also would be established, and a proposed tutorial program would include a reading corner.

Father Guillen said he was hopeful that equipment would be supplied "as promised" by the Chino Recreation Department.

The recreation center would be open seven days a week from 1 to 9 p.m.

Venezuela gives Gulf deadline

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela has given the Gulf Oil Corp. until Thursday to declare whether $4 million in alleged bribes was paid to Venezuelan officials or discontinue its business in this oil-rich nation.

PSH patient dies

A 38-year-old patient at Pacific State Hospital choked to death on a piece of hot dog late Tuesday afternoon, Pomona police reported. The victim, Robert Ford, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital but was dead on arrival. The body was taken to Rose Hills Memorial Park Whittier.

Chino bicyclist struck, injured in road mishap

A Chino boy was injured Tuesday when his bike and a car collided on Phillips Boulevard west of Central Avenue in Chino.

Douglas Cuevas, 11, of 5206 E. Phillips Blvd., was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital for treatment.

Gerry Estel of 11456 Yorba Ave., Chino, was driver of the car involved. He was traveling west on Phillips and was in the process of passing the bike rider when Cuevas made an abrupt left turn into the path of the car, said highway patrolmen.

Estel hit his brakes and skidded into the bike, knocking the rider onto the car's hood and then into the roadway, they added.

Opening lead — 4 ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The "C" in ARCH stands for Count your winners and losers. Sometimes the total doesn't come to 13. Thus you can count 11 winners after the spade opening. Two in spades and three in each other suit. The three in clubs come from the "R" for Review the bidding which marks East with the queen of that suit as part of his opening bid.

When you count losers you are looking at two aces and three spades for a total of five losers. This makes a total of 16 tricks. A further study shows that if you win the first trick with your ace of spades over East's king you will knock out one of East's aces. He will lead back a spade. West will let you win that trick. Then when you knock out the other ace, the three spade tricks will be taken against you before you can score your own tricks.

Now you come to the "H" or How can I make this hand?

The answer is you can make it by changing your count of both winners and losers. Obviously, when you Analyze the lead you assume that West has led fourth best of a five-card suit headed by the king or queen. Your Review of the bidding marks East with both aces. Thus, you let East hold the first spade and West the second one. Now the defense has two spade tricks, but can't get a third. You have time to knock out both aces and make your contract.

WED. MAY 7

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, May 7, the 127th day of 1975. There are 238 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, at the end of World War II in Europe, the Germans signed unconditional surrender terms at General Dwight Eisenhower's temporary headquarters at Rheims, France.

On this date —

In 1789, the first presidential inaugural ball was held in New York in honor of President and Mrs. George Washington.

In 1833, the German composer, Johannes Brahms, was born.

In 1915, the British liner, "Lusitania," was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off Ireland, with a loss of more than 1,100 lives.

In 1939, the military and political alliance known as the Rome-Berlin Axis was announced by Germany and Italy.

In 1943, Allied forces in World War II won a major victory in North Africa as Tunis and Bizerte were liberated.

In 1960, Moscow announced that an American pilot shot down over the Soviet Union, Francis Gary Powers, would be put on trial as a spy.

Ten years ago: Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato said the United States had given Japan a pledge to refrain from bombing Hanoi or occupying North Vietnam.

Five years ago: Nearly 100 colleges across the U.S. were closed because of antiwar activities.

One year ago: West Germany's Chancellor Willy Brandt was succeeded as goverment chief by Finanace Minister Helmut Schmidt after a spy scandal.

Today's birthdays: Poet Archibald MacLeish is 83. Actress Anne Baxter is 52. Thought for today: Many people get to the top of the ladder, then find out it has been leaning against the wrong wall — anonymous.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that news of the outbreak of the American Revolution at Lexington and Concord reached North Carolina.

Pickles put drivers in traffic jam

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rush hour motorists got into a pickle of a traffic jam on the San Bernardino Freeway this morning.

Some 800 cases of pickles were strewn across the busy artery when a heavily laden truck overturned on a curve of the Temple City on ramp near downtown, the highway patrol said.

Investigators said the rig was driven by Jack Evans of La Mirada who escaped injury in the mishap. He was hauling some 1,700 cases of pickles.

Sour-faced motorists were diverted around the spill for several hours.

Increases in food stamp benefits effective July 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increases in the benefits available to users of food stamps will go into effect July 1, according to the Agriculture department.

The announcement came Monday, at the same time President Ford asked Congress for an extra $885 million to keep the food stamp program operating through June 30 because of an inexpectedly large number of participants.

Agriculture officials said food stamp users will receive a cost of living increase in benefits with the start of the new fiscal year. There will also be an increase in the amount of money they will be allowed to earn while remaining eligible for stamps.

Under the food stamp program a family buys a fixed amount of stamps and then — depending on income and family size — receives additional stamps as a bonus. The stamps can be spent like cash for food.

For example, a four-member family with an adjusted net income of $150 a month now pays $41 for stamps worth $154 in food. Beginning July 1, the same family will get $162 worth of stamps for $41.

Income standards apply only to persons who are not receiving welfare payments. Persons getting public assistance are automatically qualified for stamps.

Beginning July 1 when a four-member family income reaches $450 a month, the cost of $162 worth of food stamps will climb to $131 from the previous level of $130. At an income of $480 a month the price will rise to $138 and will remain at that level to the top eligible income of $540 a month.

Some families in the higher incomes will not benefit from the increases in the stamps they can buy.

Obituaries

Frances B. Strain

Mrs. Frances Bruce Strain of 900 E. Harrison Ave., Pomona, died Tuesday in Mt. San Antonio Gardens Medical Unit.

Mrs. Strain was born Oct. 12, 1876 in Milwaukee, Wis. She came to Pasadena from Evanston, Ill., in 1948 and moved to Pomona from Pasadena in 1961.

Mrs. Strain was a pioneer in marriage and family counseling and in sex education and was best known for her many books, of which "Being Born" was issued in its third edition in 1970. Mrs. Strain was in great demand throughout the country for her lectures to parents, teachers, college seminars and young people.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, she taught at many institutions, including USC, UC Berkeley and the University of Colorado Psychopathic Hospital. Her first book, "New Patterns in Sex Teaching," was written on a $50,000 Rockefeller Foundation grant through the University of Minnesota.

A Fellow of the American Association of Marriage and Family Counselors, she was instrumental in forming the nucleus of the new farflung Southern California Association of Marriage and Family Counselors. Both organizations awarded plaques to Mrs. Strain for her "distinguished service and pioneering contribution to the growth of an emerging profession."

Mrs. Strain was the widow of the Rev. Horace L. Strain, a Congregational clergyman.

She is survived by a son, Bruce of Cincinnati, Ohio; a daughter, Mrs. Margery Ross of La Jolla; six grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Services will be Friday at 11 a.m. in Oak Park Cemetery, Claremont. Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Ruth Breazeale

Mrs. Ruth M. Breazeale of 811 W. Nutmeg St., San Diego, died Friday in an airplane accident near Leadville, Colo.

Mrs. Breazeale was born Jan. 18, 1923 in Greenville, S. C. She came to California in 1942 from Greenville and had lived in Visalia, Manhattan Beach and San Pedro prior to moving to Upland in 1960. In 1968 she moved to West Covina and two years ago moved to San Diego where she was a civilian employee of the U.S. Navy at the Naval Supply Center.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lynnette Schroeder of Pomona; a son, B. Tom Breazeale of Thailand; her mother, Mrs. Janie Corn of Greenville, S. C.; and two grandchildren, Tanya and Steven Breazeale.

Arrangements are pending with Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona in charge.

Funeral

Mildred Stanback

Funeral services for Miss Mildred Cynthia Stanback of 1230 Cromwell St., Pomona, will be held Friday at 11:30 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Dorsey Allen, pastor of the Trinity United Methodist Church, Pomona, will officiate. Burial will be made in Pomona Cemetery.

Level of poverty goes up

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you live in the city and belong to a family of four earning less than $5,050 a year, then the government considers you to be officially poor.

The Labor Department issued new definitions of poverty Tuesday and raised the maximum income for the poverty level by $500 from $4,550 to $5,050. The department said the increase reflects boosts in consumer prices.

But if your family of four lives in a rural area, you are considered poor if the family's income is $4,300 or less. The previous cutoff was $3,870.

The poverty level for an individual living in a metropolitan area was raised from $2,330 to $2,590. Individuals living in rural areas are considered poor if their annual income is under $2,200, up $220 from a year ago.

The definitions are used by federal, state and local officials in administering manpower programs under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act which provides jobs and training opportunities for persons classified as economically disadvantaged, unemployed or employed.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. George Garcia and Family wish they could personally thank everybody for their sympathy, kindness and prayers in memory of our son Vince Garcia. But since it's impossible we can only say Thank you! and God Bless! you all!

Plan for open campus

San Dimas and Bonita high school students are going to have to come up with some answers to some questions in the next two weeks to satisfy the Bonita school board about open campus procedures at noontime.

After a long discussion Tuesday night with student leaders, board member Vera Mae Gephart said to the students:

"Come back in two weeks, on May 20, with a plan which will be so good that we can't turn down."

The students were commended for the extensive work already done on their proposal and for their manner of approaching their request, by Supt. James Johnson and board members.

Some of the problems which must be solved include a resolution of how to deal with parental approval or disapproval. Both groups agreed that parents have the right to say whether their child may leave the campus at noon.

The students must work out a statement which parents must sign as agreement to allowing their child to leave the campus. The enforcing of that decision will be the key problem, from the board's viewpoint.

It discussed with Principals Louis Rosen of Bonita and Edward Weber of San Dimas how many checkpoints would be needed to check passes, and how much school personnel would be required to handle the situation. At Bonita there are at least eight points of egress and at San Dimas four.

In the student's proposal, the number of check points could be lessened and they would be willing to act as co-checkers with teachers or school counselors.

Yet to be worked out also by the students are exact agreements for the students to sign about off-campus behavior, and a statement for parents to sign which will be legally binding.

In other business the initial economic proposals of the Bonita Unified School District Teachers Association was tabled until the May 20 board meeting. Johnson commented that by law consideration of the proposal must come after a seven day waiting period from the time the board has the printed proposal.

Result of zooming malpractice insurance rates

Doctors warn of 40% hike in fees

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Northern California doctors hit by skyrocketing malpractice insurance rates are warning of fee hikes up to 40 per cent as a partial boycott of practice goes into its sixth day.

Some hospitals are considering the possibility of shutting down.

Many physicians, faced with premium boosts of up to 375 per cent, quit practice rather than pay the insurance. Some signed up after two or three days and plan to absorb the cost by raising their office visit fees 10 to 12 per cent.

An operation may cost an additional 40 per cent. Anesthesiologists — the hardest hit by rate hikes — said Monday they intend to charge $75 more per case.

The impending new fees were confirmed by Dr. Bruce Anderson, president of the Alameda-Contra Costa Medical Association, second largest medical group in California.

Dr. A. H. White, president of the Marin County Medical Society, said all doctors intend to pass the insurance hikes on to their patients.

"What possible chance have they got?" he asked. "Doctors are totally dependent for their livelihood on patient fees. That's the whole issue in a nutshell."

John Ogden of the Hospital Council of Northern California said the patient load of private hospitals in San Francisco has dropped about 30 per cent since May 1. Only emergency surgery has been performed in member hospitals in San Francisco, Marin, Contra Costa and Alameda counties since last Thursday when Argonaut Insurance malpractice coverage expired for nearly 4,000 doctors in eight Northern California counties.

"The longer it lasts the economic impact is going to be very difficult for hospitals and could even force some to close if it went on long enough," Ogden said in an interview.

But anesthesiologists, faced with some of the highest premiums, stopped work as a group except for a pool to help in emergencies.

Ogden said that French Hospital reported losses of about $25,000 to $30,000 and had laid off 125 employes and closed three nursing units. Pacific Medical Center said it was losing $19,000 a day and had put its staff on a three-four day work week. St. Francis and St. Luke's Hospital closed two full floors and Children's Hospital closed its obstetrical unit and another surgical unit.

The malpractice crisis was generated by Argonaut's decision to drop its malpractice insurance in some 30 states because of malpractice settlements which have topped $1 million in recent years. The Menlo Park, Calif., company agreed to renew its coverage for Northern California physicians on a three-month basis for up to one year.

Motorist does striptease with police in hot pursuit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tearing off his clothes piece by piece as he sped down a freeway at more than 100 miles an hour, a Huntington Beach man led patrol cars on a 94-mile chase early Tuesday, authorities reported.

Robert Case, 21, who was wearing only blue boxer shorts and tennis shoes when captured was booked for investigation of reckless driving and assault with a deadly weapon

The chase began outside a luxury restaurant in the Fashion Island shopping center at Newport Beach where, police said, Case was driving his German sports car around a circular driveway at 80 m.p.h.

Pursuers who gave chase said Case traveled at speeds up to 110 m.p.h., tossing items of clothing out the window.

At one time seven patrol cars from various police departments, the sheriff's department and the highway patrol were chasing Case.

The pursuit ended after Case left the San Diego Freeway and crashed through a chain link fence in Chatsworth in the San Fernando Valley north of Los Angeles. He was not injured.

The booking for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon was made because Case tried to ram highway patrol cars, authorities said.

Refugee finds mate married

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — A 24-year-old Vietnamese refugee who found her long-separated American husband married to another woman plans to remain here in his home city, Dist. Atty. David Cox said Monday.

"We're looking for a place for her to live and work," said Cox.

Vu Thi Lan, arrived in Maine over the weekend with her 5year-old daughter, Lisa Marie, and a nephew, David, 3.

She said she had no idea, until the Saturday night airport meeting in Bangor, that Michael Green, 27, the GI she had married in Da Nang on Oct. 8, 1969 had subsequently remarried.

She added that when she met Green and his American wife, he just shook his head and said he was sorry.

In a copyright article, the Bangor Daily News quotd Vu Thi Lan as saying she became angry when her husband suggested that she return to California and he would contact her in a couple of days.

"I tell him no way I go back to California," she was quoted as saying. "I tell him I not stupid. I not 17 anymore. I 24 now and I know things."

Cox said Green, a former cook with the 199th Light Infantry Brigade, married again in 1970. The prosecutor said any legal action in the case would be delayed until the Vietnamese family finds a place to live.

Green declined comment on the situation, and when contacted by telephone at their home in Bangor, his American wife said: "He has no comment and I have no comment. As far as I'm concerned, he's my husband."

Record sales for car imports

DETROIT (AP) — One out of five new car buyers picked a foreign model in April, giving imports a record share of the U.S. market while domestic sales remained at a 14-year low.

The imports, offering fuel mileage unmatched by most U.S. cars, had sales of 141,120, a 25 per cent gain over 112,700 in April 1974.

Nine imports achieved record sales for the month — Fiat, Volvo, Honda, Audi, Mercedes-Benz, BMW, Subaru, Peugeot and Alfa-Romeo. Another seven reported gains. Only five reported sales drops.

U.S. firms reported domestic sales of 517,637 in April, down 26 per cent from the energy-crisis depressed levels of 702,338 in April 1974, the four major American auto makers reported Monday.

Import gains, combined with the poor showing of U.S. makers, gave the foreign firms an April record 21 per cent share of the market. A year ago, imports accounted for only 14 per cent of U.S. sales.

The results were a setback for U.S. auto executives, who have stepped up car production in hopes that a spring upturn would lift the industry out of its worst slump since World War II.

Instead, sales remained at their lowest pace since 1961 and fell 1 per cent from weak March levels.

Meanwhile, General Motors cut its quarterly dividend to 60 cents a share from 85 cents in the second quarter of 1974. The first-quarter dividend also was cut to 60 cents, the first cut by GM since 1946.

"Gasoline is the main reason for our stronger sales. People are aware that the price of gas is going up and that the supply is finite. It's that simple," said a spokesman for Volkswagen, the No. 1 importer, which posted a 21 per cent sales gain.

U.S. makers are attempting to counteract the imports by building models with better fuel economy and importing small cars from overseas under U.S. nameplates.

General Motors will introduce this fall a new car smaller than anything Detroit has offered in modern times, and Chrysler is importing another car from Japan for its Plymouth dealers in January.

Financial analysts say imports have stolen an estimated 100,000 unit sales, $350 million in dollar sales and $50 million in potential profits from the U.S. makers so far this year.

Chrysler Corp. posted the sharpest decline for April, down 43 per cent to 64,140, compared with 112,683 in April 1974. Ford Motor Co. was off 29 per cent, from 210,394 to 150,453. GM dropped 21 per cent, from 345,481 to 273,003. And American Motors declined 11 per cent, from 33,780 to 30,041.

For the first four months of 2,039,426 compared with 1974 levels of 2,473,691. Chrysler was off 31 per cent, AMC down 26 per cent, Ford down 21 per cent and GM off 9 per cent.

Import sales gains in April included No. 3 Datsun, up 47 per cent over April 1974; No. 4 Fiat, up 42 per cent; Mazda, up 64 per cent; Honda, up 88 per cent; British Leyland, up 67 per cent; Volvo, up 52 per cent; Audi, up 15 per cent; and Mercedes Benz, up 38 per cent.

Toyota, the No. 2 importer, and Capri, the German-built car imported by Ford, were the only major imports to register sales declines. Toyota was down 3 per cent and Capri fell 58 per cent.

For the year-to-date, import sales of 548,721 were up 15 per cent from 479,000 a year ago.

Not kosher for kosher

NEW YORK (AP) —Two Jewish Defense League members have lost their federal court fight for the right to have kosher food while they are serving prison terms for a contempt conviction.

Judge Thomas Griesa ruled Monday in Manhattan Federal Court that the Federal Bureau of Prisons was "entirely correct in refusing to purchase special food for one group of prisoners which is distinctive in quality and far more expensive than food issued to prisoners in general."

The prisoners, Jeffrey Simlow, 20, of Brooklyn, and Richard Huss, 19, of Staten Island, had argued that they had the constitutional right under the First Amendment to be served kosher food in prison.

Convicted of contempt for refusing to testify about the 1972 fatal firebombing of a midtown office building, both have been ordered to serve a one year term at the Federal Youth Center in Ashland, Ky.

Special tax on gas guzzlers asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Auto manufacturers would be required under a pending energy bill to pay a special tax on gasoline-guzzling autos unless the average mileage of all their new cars meets certain standards.

The fuel-saving provision was approved by the House Ways and Means Committee Monday as part of an over-all energy bill. The panel hopes to complete work on the bill this week and get it on the House floor before Congress begins its scheduled Memorial Day vacation May 22.

The tax provision would require that the average mileage of all new cars be at least 18 miles per gallon in the 1978 model year, 19 miles per gallon in the 1979 model year and 20 miles per gallon thereafter.

A tax would be applied on the manufacturer for all cars that failed to meet the gas consumption standard.

On 1978 cars, the tax would begin at 2 per cent of the wholesale price on cars getting 17 miles per gallon or less, and would rise to 5 per cent on cars getting less than 15 miles a gallon.

In 1979, the tax would range from 2 to 6 per cent and would apply to cars getting 18 miles to the gallon or less. By 1980 it would be 2 to 7 per cent for autos getting 19 miles or less to the gallon. The highest rate each year would apply to cars getting less than 15 miles to the gallon.

Rep. Joe D. Waggonner Jr., D-La., sponsor of the provision, said his proposed mileage standards are ones the auto industry indicated it probably will meet. The auto industry's current mileage average is about 16 miles a gallon.

Some committee members said the gas mileage requirement was too weak and that they will try to make it tougher during House debate.

Waggoner said his provision would save 80,000 barrels of gasoline a day in 1978, rising to 340,000 by 1985, by gradually substituting more efficient automobiles for those with poor mileage.

At the same time, he said the plan would not unduly burden the auto industry, which had objected to some of the alternatives discussed earlier.

The committee also voted to drop from the bill a proposed tax on auto air conditioning equipment. This would have started at $20 in 1976 and risen eventually to $100.

Another vote seen by some as a victory for the oil industry affected the energy trust fund into which some of the proposed taxes would be channeled. The committee deleted exploratory drilling by the government from the list of purposes for which the fund could be used.

Michigan State and Notre Dame have football dates running through 1994.

America the Violent

Experts critical of TV prime time crime shows

By RICHARD STARNES

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — On the TV screen the street is filled with emergency vehicles — police cars, ambulances, fire apparatus. Reporters, photographers, TV cameramen swarm. Flashing red lights etch a vision of doomsday on the walls of a warehouse.

Inside the building, an agonizingly deliberate bomb disposal expert hunches over an armed and ticking machine. The suspense is almost unbearable as the technician tries to disassemble the device before it can explode.

The suspense ends in a tremendous roar. Flame bursts through a wall. The warehouse collapses with a great rumbling crash.

Well, you win some, you lose some.

Television drama has lost a bomb disposal expert but it may have won a fractional advantage in the bitter struggle for primacy in the ratings.

Last year, 1,965 real bombs and incendiary devices were planted throughout the United States. About 80 per cent exploded, killing 18 and maiming 150.

"Any bright kid who watched that TV show," said one security agency expert concerned with bombs and bombing, "came away with a pretty fair idea of the basic techniques used in building a sophisticated, timed-trigger explosive device."

Perhaps a typical bright kid would be unlikely to use the information. But the unstable youngster, the ghetto youth who can't discriminate between the real world and the plastic world of TV violence, might.

One authority on the torrent of murder, mayhem and tasteless brutality that saturates television has estimated the average American child will witness 1,300 video murders per year between ages 5 and 15. That's nearly four killings a day, or perhaps enough to persuade suggestible children that murder is a commonplace and acceptable adult method of resolving differences.

Although many behaviorists are convinced that children learn aggressive behavior from TV, and to a lesser extent from movies, there has been remarkably little research calculated to prove it.

One study in upstate New York undertook to follow 875 children from third grade through high school in an effort to find the sources of aggressive behavior. The research project ran into problems (the local American Legion Post accused researchers of using "mental health . . . . to promote conformity to the Marxist ideology"), but eventually it found that "preference for a violent television diet in the third grade leads to aggressive behavior at that time and also in late adolescence."

Other research projects have tended to reinforce this finding, but no truly massive study to prove or disprove the proposition once and for all has ever been undertaken.

Although TV violence has been the focus of controversy almost as old as the medium itself, the industry and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) have been slow to respond to the steadily increasing tempo of complaints from parents and consumer groups.

Nearly 60 per cent of prime time programming is currently devoted to violence-oriented shows. Two dozen top programs are heavily dependent upon violence, and toward violent solutions of problems.

The days when Marshal Dillon routinely gunned down bewhiskered villains seem tame by comparison with some contemporary shows. Mass rape, bombing and a savagely explicit account of Lizzie Borden's exploits as an ax murderer are some of this season's TV triumphs.

But there are growing indications that this chronic affront to good taste may have run its course. After a generation of waffling, even by bureaucratic standards, the FCC finally has taken steps that could lead to a reduction in video gore. Last month the FCC proposed legislation that would give it authority to end violence and explicit sex in TV programming.

In proposing the legislation, the FCC noted that complaints from alarmed parents and others had grown from 2,000 a year in 1972 to more than 25,000 last year. The agency also "commended" the networks for voluntarily acting to set aside the prime 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. hour for programs appropriate for "family viewing," and to label programs that might contain offensive material.

Some observers are openly skeptical that the new-found religion of the networks and the FCC will bring lasting righteousness, however.

"When the commission took the networks to task on the violence issue, the networks produced figures showing they had already voluntarily reduced violent programming by 40 per cent," he said recently. "But it was only temporary — violence quickly came back once the heat was off, and now there's twice as much as there ever was."

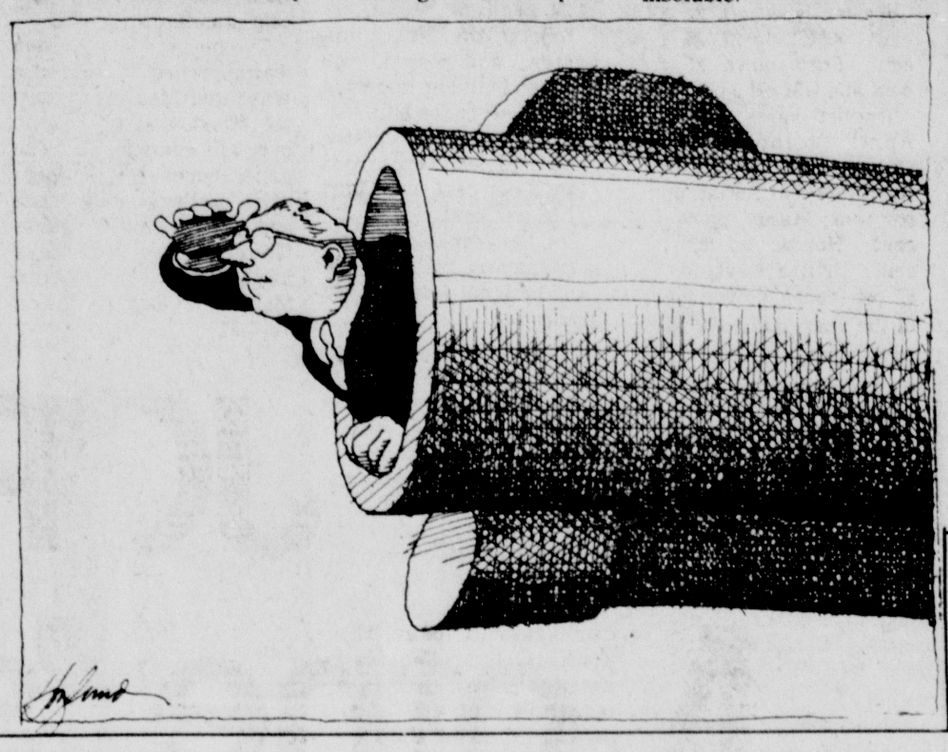
The FCC, the networks, and many thoughful viewers agree that government censorship of TV content might be worse than the disease, and might, moreover, be unconstitutional. Violence, moreover, has occurred in classical literature down through the ages, including the holy scriptures, in almost all the works of Shakespeare, and in many of the worlds' most beloved operas.

Can television put an end to eye-gouging such as occurs in "Bogard," an x-rated classic of street fighting, without also ending it in "Oedipus Rex," a notably gory example of classical Greek violence?

In any event, the networks' voluntary approach will have ample opportunity to prove itself. Even if Congress can overcome constitutional problems, there is very little possibility the new FCC proposal can become law this session.

Media violence does not end with television entertainment and the savage brutality of many current motion pictures. News media has also come in for its share of criticism. Writing in TV Guide earlier this month, FBI Director Clarence Kelley said wide coverage of real-life violence often causes "trendy, voguish or chain-reaction" crimes. Kelley recites numerous examples of chain-reaction crimes that follow widely publicized trend setters, but stops short of advocating censorship to dampen the reporting of violence.

"I would not presume to advise the news media," he writes, "But I would suggest that the problem is worthy of the news media's serious attention. The problem is not simple. It is quite complicated, perhaps insoluble."



Palme sees 2nd chance for U.S.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme said that the U.S. setback in Indochina gives America a chance to win back the credibility he claimed it lost while fighting the long war.

The long-time critic of U.S. involvement in Vietnam told a congress of the Austrian Socialist party that the war "should never have started" and labeled the conflict "terrible, useless and immoral."

However, Palme added: "The Americans had lost their credibility in the war. Now they have a chance to win it back if they stop backing governments which in turn are not backed by their people."

Supermarkets— growing in size— turn to coupons

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Bigger stores, more coupons and electronic gadgets at every turn.

That's what consumers can expect to find at the supermarket in coming months, according to experts at an industry convention here.

The annual report of the Super Market Institute, presented Monday and based on a survey of 11,000 stores with annual sales of some $35 billion, indicated:

—There were about 2 per cent fewer supermarkets at the end of 1974 than there were a year earlier, but there was about 3 million more square feet of floor space, indicating a trend toward bigger stores. The statistics on store closings did not reflect the recent decision by A & P, the nation's second largest chain in terms of sale, to close more than one-third of its 3,600 outlets.

—Coupons and other discount operations are gaining ground, but trading stamps are losing. Fifty-two per cent of the stores surveyed by the institute said they were putting more emphasis on coupons; 48 per cent described themselves as discount operations; and only 17 per cent were offering trading stamps, a decline from the previous year.

—The average customer spent $8.23 on each trip to the supermarket last year. That was 10.2 per cent more than the previous year, but inflation ate up the increase. When spending was measured in real dollars, the amount of the average transaction declined more than 18 per cent.

—Supermarket profits were at their highest level since 1971, representing 4.1 per cent of total assets, compared with 2.5 per cent in 1973, 4 per cent in 1972 and 5.3 per cent in 1971.

—The supermarkets' net profit before taxes last year was equal to 1.8 per cent of sales, the highest in five years. After tax figures were not available. Almost 10 cents of every dollar spent at the supermarket went for labor costs and fringe benefits — about the same as a year earlier.

—Retail sales rose 16.4 per cent in 1974. After adjustment for inflation, the increase was about 1.5 per cent.

—Energy costs added to the grocery bill and are likely to add still more, offsetting recent declines in the prices paid to farmers. The supermarket operators surveyed said electricity bills went up 24 per cent in 1974; heating bills went up 20 per cent; and transportation costs rose 19 per cent. The retailers said they expected electric bills to go up another 17 per cent this year and predicted heating and transportation costs would jump 15 per cent.

Some 12,000 persons are on hand for the convention and many of the retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers ate, drank or stared their way through more than 600 exhibits Monday afternoon, seeking ways to boost profits and cut costs with new products.

About half of the exhibits featured nonfood supermarket items — everything from cat litter to sauna baths — or equipment.

Interest centered on automatic checkout facilities, with 14 different companies offering computerized scanners to "read" special codes on products, register the amount and automatically provide a total and printout of the customer's bill.

Consumer groups have complained that the products lack individual package prices, making it more difficult for shoppers to figure out they are spending, but the industry appears determined to go ahead with the plans.

Other offerings included automatic wrapping machines for produce, meat cutting machines designed to standardize portions and even a bottle crusher.

For those who missed the convention luncheon, there were cheeses from France and Denmark, sherries from Spain, hot dogs, pizza, soft drinks, fruits, vegetables, fish and hamburgers mixed with vegetable protein.

The word "solar" comes from the Latin word sol, which means "sun." The sun and all traveling bodies around it make up the solar system.

Minorities cite need

Pomona mulls police commission

Negotiations between representatives of the minority community and Pomona city officials has resulted in an agreement to consider the need for a police commission.

Negotiations, headed by federal mediator Angel Alderete, were the result of charges brought by a group of residents in January that the Police Department was unresponsive to the needs of the minority community and had violated the rights of minority residents in some cases.

The charges were made by a group called the Minority Coalition for Equal Justice, composed primarily of Mexican-American residents but also including representatives from the black community.

The group had originally called for an investigation of the police, but dropped that demand when the City Council agreed to call in Alderete from the Community Relations Service of the U. S. Department of Justice.

In addition to agreeing to study the need for a police commission in Pomona, beginning next week, the negotiations have also resulted in a number of other agreements between the minorities and the city, including the hiring of bilingual-bicultural employes for desk duty at the Police Department.

It is expected that a number of persons will be hired for the purpose under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) and will be on duty at peak demand hours beginning within 30 days.

Police Chief F. P. Wallich, who took part in the negotiations, also agreed to seek the recruitment of more minority officers and would attempt to assign officers to geographic areas for a full year.

It was also agreed that a monthly report of helicopter surveilance activities would be provided to the leaders of the group, apparently in response to the charge that the police helicopter overly patrols minority neighborhoods.

Other city officials, in addition to Wallich, who took part in the negotiations are City Administrator Jerrold Gonce, City Atty. Patrick Sampson and City Councilman Benjamin Ochoa.

Representatives from the Minority Coalition were David M. Burriel, Rafael Estupinian, John Owsley, Robert L. Smith, Irv Clark, Rudy Gutierrez and Eddie Garcia.

While the bulk of the agreement deals directly with the Police Department, one isolated point deals with the Progress Bulletin.

It reads, "The city administrator shall initiate a meeting between appropriate management personnel of the Progress Bulletin and a group of key members of the minority community to develop means for positive news coverage of the minority community."

The concept of a police commission, or any police review body, has long been a point of controversy in Pomona, with previous city councils adamantly opposing such a commission.

In fact, in 1972 the council adopted an ordinance forbidding the city's Community Life Commission from even hearing police related complaints from citizens.

That policy is now being studied for possible revision.

Minority residents have argued that complaints lodged against police officers should not be solely investigated by other police officers, but should also be reviewed by officials independent of the department.

While the study to determine the need for a police commission is sure to spark heated debate, there has apparently been a quiet agreement reached between city officials and minority residents that that controversy will be addressed separately from the remainder of the agreement already negotiated.

Other points in the agreement that were not settled and will be considered at a later time are the possibility of developing a rumor control center; minority community involvement in the Police Awareness Program; restructuring of the Police Community Relations Committee; the police firearms policy and police manual being made public; and a citizens crime prevention program.

The agreement, although already signed by all the participants in the negotiations, must still be considered by the Pomona City Council for implementation.

ENTRANCE CLEARED Students from the Claremont Colleges clear entrance to Pendleton business building in Claremont after being warned of suspension if they continued to block building during sit-in on Tuesday to protest cutbacks in BSC and CSC programs. The building was locked from inside.

Yield to court order

Collegians quit sit-in

The seizure of Pendleton business building at the Claremont Colleges Tuesday morning by 15 students ended quietly 15 hours later late that night as the group vacated the center after being served with a court order.

The group had refused to vacate the building which it took over as a protest against cutbacks in the Black Studies Center and the Chicano Studies Center program even though school administrators announced in the afternoon that all students involved were to be suspended.

At about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, a group of students entered the business building and announced they were "taking over."

Outside the building, a well organized group of students and faculty gathered, blocking the doors and chanting "Equal rights" "Join us" and "Give it up." Posters supporting the Black Studies Center and Chicano Studies Center were carried by the protestors and mounted on the building.

Statements explaining the purpose of the sit-in were distributed and a press conference called.

The student protestors also object to the elimination of the Pre-freshman program from the budget by the council of presidents.

Paul Clark and Rijala Akida, both students at Pitzer College, were joined by Dave Sena, Yemi Toure, and Rick Quiterrez, faculty members from the CSC and BSC programs, at the press conference in McAlister Center, Claremont.

All participants read prepared statements stressing that the sit-in at the business office was a peaceful movement.

The crowd around the building had grown to several hundred by 11:30 a.m. when a security guard from the colleges read a statement signed by Mark Curtis, chairman of the Council of Presidents, telling the group to disband their unlawful assembly or face disciplinary action by the colleges.

At noon, Curtis appeared and announced that the group was unlawfully assembled and was blocking access to the building. The students then cleared the front of the building which remained locked from the inside.

The 15 students who remained inside of the building until 10:30 p.m. Tuesday have been suspended. Those students who continued to obstruct college operations outside the building are also suspended, but the men and women who cleared the pathway to the door may face only disciplinary action by the school officials.

Less pollution, more production

Kaiser: a $150 million expansion

The Kaiser Steel Corp. plans a $150 million program at its Fontana plant provided it can secure $100 million in financing commitments and obtain necessary permits from regulatory agencies.

The three-year program calls for a new basic oxygen steelmaking shop to replace the open hearth shop which began operations in 1943.

The major capital spending program is needed to preserve the company's established position as the major domestic steel supplier in the seven Western states, said William R. Roesch, Kaiser's vice chairman and chief executive officer.

"This will provide our employes with modern and efficient facilities to make steel. This will equip them with a plant that will make them more competitive with the rest of the steelmakers in the world," he added.

George A. Jedenoff, Kaiser president, added that the new basic oxygen furnaces will be designed with the most modern and efficient emission control facilities available.

The program would also provide an increase in the plant's annual capacity of about 200,000 tons, bringing the total ingot capacity to 3.6 million tons.

"The plan represents our best solution to reduce emissions substantially, to lower operating costs and to make us more competitive," he added. "Our Fontana plant, already one of the cleanest in the nation from an environmental standpoint, will be made even cleaner through the improved technology available in modern steelmaking equipment."

The new basic oxygen steelmaking shop is planned to contain two 200-ton vessels with a capacity of 2.3 million ingot tons annually. The present basic oxygen steelmaking shop will be operated at a lower rate of production to utilize the new low cost oxygen shop to capacity, said Jedenoff.

Present plans are to continue to operate one or two open hearth furnaces to balance scrap usage. Ingot capacity will be limited by the availability of hot metal from the blast furnaces and the rolling capacity of the finishing facilities.

Jedenoff said the $150 million program also includes modifying new materials handling and storage facilities and external hot metal desulphurization and additional soaking pits, plus the necessary utilities, equipment and support services.

Inmate dies of hanging injuries

A 51-year-old inmate at the California Institution for Men in Chino died Tuesday night at the prison hospital of injuries suffered in an attempt to hang himself from his cell door last week.

Inmate Parcy Mack of Los Angeles was being held at the prison for 90-day diagnostic examinations after being convicted of second degree burglary in Los Angeles.

According to prison authorities, Mack attempted to hang himself with bedsheets. Guards cut him down and managed to revive him and transport him to the prison hospital for treatment. Doctors said Mack had suffered severe brain damage as a result of the hanging.

Firemen will explain their jobs to public

In observance of Fire Service Recognition Day, residents are invited to tour Pomona's six fire stations Saturday.

Conducted tours will be offered from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Firemen will be present to talk with visitors and explain the equipment.

Addresses of the stations in the community are:

—Station 1, headquarters, 590 S. Park Ave.

—Station 2, 1059 N. White Ave.

—Station 3, 708 N. San Antonio Ave.

—Station 4, 1980 W. Orange Grove Ave.

—Station 6, 280 E. Bonita Ave.

Pomona Fire Chief John M. Fowlkes said Fire Service Recognition Day is designed to focus attention on the varied and technical services rendered by the fire department.

Today's fire fighter is a skilled, competent professional, Fowlkes said. "His training has fitted him to meet every kind of emergency swiftly and surely. He brings his abilities and his specialized equipment into play with the same readiness, whatever the situation. He faces hazards, atomic radiation for example, that were unknown not many years ago."

Danger is the constant companion of the firemen, Fowlkes continued, and concern for the safety of his community is his principal interest.

"Whenever disaster threatens, the professional fire fighter is on the scene fast to safeguard life and property. Fire, explosion, tornado, flood, hurricane or earthquake, all test the skills of the firefighter."

Those skills are many, according to Fowlkes.

"The fire fighter must have the skill of an engineer so he can analyze the layout of a burning building and check the spread of the fire," Fowlkes said. "He must be versed in electrical wiring, electrical currents and wire capacity for preventing and controlling fires.

"He must have the skills of an hydraulic engineer and plumber to operate pumps and observe water pressures and hose connections and be familiar with sprinkler systems and complicated hydraulic equipment.

"He must have the agility of a steeplejack or circus aerialist since he must climb high ladders through dense smoke and enter burning buildings without hesitation.

"The fire fighter is trained to render first aid with skilled gentleness to the sick and injured and often is called to assist at auto wrecks, accident scenes and drownings.

"He must have the stamina of a laborer to work long hours in extremes of heat, smoke or bitter cold.

"With the dedication of a school teacher, he educates children, householders and business people to the need for fire prevention. He inspects schools, homes, factories and stores warning against hazards.

"No one knows better than the fire fighter the value or prevention or the terrible toll of fire tragedy."

Progress Bulletin Opinion

Tyranny in the schools

It reads like something out of "The Blackboard Jungle":

— According to the International Association of School Security Directors, robberies in the nation's schools jumped by 113 per cent from 1970-73; assault and battery was up 58 per cent; sex offenses 62 per cent; drug-related problems 81 per cent.

— The National Education Assn. reports that 64,000 teachers were physically attacked by students during the first half of the 197374 school year. Last year, about 244,000 teachers experienced malicious damage of their personal property by students, a 56 per cent increase over the previous year.

— More than 23 per cent of teachers polled in 1974 said that sudent violence against other students was a problem in their schools. This covered assaults and intimidation, stealing, damaging or destroying other students' personal property and riots.

— A recent estimate put the annual cost of school vandalism nationwide a high as $500 million.

Why? What is happening to — and in — our schools, which are supposedly preparing a new generation for decent and useful lives in society?

Much of it may be because the schools are mirrors of that very society, suggests James A. Harris, president of the National Education Assn. He cites factors that may be responsible for the alarming increase in school violence and vandalism:

1. The loosening of close-knit community and family bonds through population growth, urbanization, mobility and advances in technology.

2. Increased alienation of youth as a result of the nations current economic difficulties and disillusionment arising from such national tragedies as Watergate and Vietnam.

3. Alienation of students by inflexible and outmoded disciplinary and educational practices, inadequate and unrealistic learning materials and practices, and institutional inflexibility in meeting individual student needs.

4. A state of flux in the schools as a byproduct of efforts to eliminate discrimination and segregation.

5. And finally, students' observation that "violence is a fundamental way of life in our society."

No doubt there is much truth in all of these. There are, however, at least three other truths, and they are that 1) the more we have come to appreciate the role of environment in shaping the individual, the worse the problems of delinquency and crime have become, 2) that in any given school, whether in a rich district or a poor one, only a small fraction of children become involved in trouble and 3) the bully will always take advantage of the natural timidity of the law-abiding.

In one Midwestern school, for example, a mere 5 per cent of the student body had gradually rendered the school's smoke-filled lavatories off limits to all other students until administrators clamped down with a "potty patrol."

It may be time that we stopped beating our breasts over the faults and failures of society and frankly admitted that for all our psychological and sociological enlightenment we simply do not know what causes delinquent behavior, whether in children or adults, that we simply do not possess perfect wisdom and compassion — but that we do know that unless energetic steps are taken we may witness the disintegration of both our schools and our societies.

Perhaps it is time we accepted the fact that the risk of "alienating" or infringing the "rights" of 5 per cent of the school population is far outweighed by the rights and needs of the other 95 per cent.

Certainly, any society that merely wrings its hands while permitting itself to be tyrannized by its children, especially a tiny minority of its children, would seem to stand in some sort of real peril.

Time to stop

At a time of world-wide food shortages when the nation has embarked on a major effort to increase agricultural production, it seems ironic that doctrinaire land reformers seem bent on destroying the unprecedented efficiency of American farming.

California's crop productivity in particular stems largely from the mechanized farming of huge tracts by substantial agri-business firms. It is a productivity hypoed by irrigation water from a multibillion dollar network of federal and state water projects.

The governing federal statutes on water use — which were passed in 1902 — limit farmers who receive U.S. project water to ownership of 160 acres and require residence on the land or nearby but the requirements haven't been enforced for decades. Now land reform militants have sued to enforce these antiquated restrictions and the matter is before the federal appellate court.

Whatever the ultimate ruling of the court, it is high time that Congress review the reclamation laws and recognize that the pattern of farm production has changed dramatically in 78 years. A farmer with a horse and plow on a quarter-section of land may still be able to feed his family, but there's no way that he is going to feed the world.

A new life in America

It seems that there has been a lot of criticism of the situation in Vietnam. With all the criticism, however, no one has come up with any workable or reasonable solutions.

The main gripe is that so many Vietnamese people are being brought into our country, where the unemployment rate is already so high. Very few, if any, of these people speak English, so it would be next to impossible for them to get any kind of job. If they don't work, welfare would probably be their only solution. Welfare for that many people would mean skyrocketing taxes and skyrocketing tempers.

I propose that we lease (not give) these Vietnamese refugees a section of land somewhere in the mid-west where there is a lot of good, unused farm land owned by the government. There they can farm and keep their own tradition, heritage and customs. They can adjust to a new life in America at their own pace, and do what they've been doing in their own country all their lives. Not only would this be cheaper than putting them all on welfare, but it would mean production of crops that we need anyway, letting the Vietnamese help themselves.

I believe that most of the vietnamese refugees would be happier and more comfortable among their own people, and in twenty one years they wouldn't claim that the Americans stripped them of their heritage by bringing them over to the United States and scattering them from coast to coast. Many of the Vietnamese have openly stated that the only reason they came to America is because they were promised a better life here, but they would rather stayed in Vietnam. If they prefer to return to Vietnam at a later date, they can save the money they've earned while working in their own community. I think it's worth a try, and I think it will work. It will keep the taxpayers happy, and keep the Vietnamese together and happy. — Francine May, Pomona.

JACK ANDERSON

Bushwhacking the Sioux

WASHINGTON — A federal grand jury has been taking secret testimony in South Dakota about violence on the Oglala Sioux reservation.

The story began at Wounded Knee, S.D., in late February, 1973. A motley band of Indians seized the town to dramatize their unnumerable and timeless grievances.

The federal government eventually broke the siege and began a series of court battles against the protesters. But the battles weren't confined to the courthouse; there was also a return to the ways of the Old West.

Lawyers for the Wounded Knee demonstrators, for example, were bushwhacked on the reservation. The secret testimony alleges that their assailants were led by no less than the government-supported chairman of the Oglala Sioux, Richard Wilson.

At least four witness have sworn that they heard Wilson urge his followers to "stomp" the defense attorneys or their companions. On this command, according to the testimony, some of the lawyers were badly beaten and stomped in the stomach by burly, booted men. One attorney came close to being scalped.

The injured lawyers were Roger Finzel of Sioux Falls, S.D., and William Rossmoore of Stamford, Conn. Other legal workers in their group, including women, were also mobbed. A client, Bernard Escamilla, was hospitalized for two days.

The grand jury testimony attests that Rossmoore piloted some members of the legal team to Pine Ridge to investigate charges against the protesters.

After they had finished their investigation, they returned to the plane and found it riddled with bullet holes. Fearing the plane was unsafe, the testimony shows, they started to drive to Rapid City, S.D., in a convertible. But at the highway exit, they were blocked by a dozen automobiles.

A mob of 30 husky Indians poured out of the cars. "We rolled up our windows and locked our doors," swore one of the attorneys, Martha Copleman of East Orange, N.J., in an affidavit. "A man got out of the car which blocked us in front and pointed a gun, presumably a shotgun, at us through the windshield.

"People started trying to get the car doors open, and others were climbing on the hood and trunk of the car." The bushwhackers then kicked in the windshield, ripped off the top and began beating and pulling the occupants, it is alleged.

During the melee, one of the attackers slashed at Finzel's head with a knife. But a petitte legal worker, Eda Gordon, yanked his head out of the knife's path, according to the testimony.

The blade sliced across her fingers, and Finzel lost a clump of hair matted with blood. Meanwhile, the 57-year-old Rossmore was chased into a ditch and beaten. beaten.

The assailants finally left their bleeding and bruised victims with a threat to kill them if they ever returned to Pine Ridge. Ignoring the threat, they took their story to the FBI, which gave Finzel and Ms. Gordon polygraph tests. These indicated the pair had told the truth.

The grand jury responded, nevertheless, by indicting not Wilson and his mob but four of Wilson's enemies. Not until five days after we began asking embarrassing questions did the grand jury hastily indict seven of the alleged assailants, including Wilson. He told us they will all plead not guilty.

A Justice Department spokesman told us the government had moved against the Wounded Knee demonstrators first because their cases were less complicated.

TOM TIEDE

Deception lingers on

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When the final defeat of American policy in Southeast Asia became absolutely apparent last month, a newsman tried without success to solicit comments from the architects of that policy.

McGeorge Bundy was "occupied"; Robert McNamara did "not wish to talk about it"; Melvin Laird was out of the country; Dean Rusk would not return phone calls; William Westmoreland made himself "unavailable to reporters."

Since then, some of the men have by force of events and persistence of inquiry surrendered to public questions — but only to kick and complain. General Westmoreland says a U.S. victory was stolen by "uninformed" domestic peace elements. Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk insists the collapse of South Vietnam was the consequence of a withdrawal of support by the American people. None have admitted personal error, none have so much as raised small doubts of judgments long ago. To the end and beyond, the people who designed the war are either silent or hostile. Instead of self criticism they continue with self deception.

It is perhaps too much to expect public men to confess great errors. Clark Clifford, one-time defense secretary under Lyndon Johnson, and one of the few elevated Vietnam planners to renounce the affair, says his unrepentant former colleagues would rather spite than switch, miraculous vindication being the last hope of such foolishness. This, he adds, is what kept the war raging in the first place: The unwillingness of high political and military officials to first admit, then learn from their mistakes.

For his part, Clifford, now a Washington attorney, began realizing the emptiness of the U.S. cause in Vietnam at about the same time many private Americans were arriving at the same conclusion — late 1967, early 1968. "Before then, the conventional wisdom was that Vietnam presented the United States with the threat of monolithic communism spreading from Hanoi to Saigon, throughout Southeast Asia, and perhaps down to Australia and even to California. Most Americans believed this. You'll recall the Tonkin Gulf resolution passed 504 to 2 in congress — 504 to 2."

But though popular opinion changed, government opinion did not. Clifford says Johnson gave up the subterfuge in his speech of March 1968, announcing in effect a military victory over the Communists was not possible. Yet his successor, Richard Nixon, refused to believe it. "I hoped desperately that Nixon would profit from the past, I even thought for awhile he would But he didn't. Not a bit. And even until just recently, when it became obvious everything was over in Southeast Asia, government officers continued to hope for miracles and for that vindication."

And so this perhaps is the most far reaching and ominous of all the Vietnam era sadnesses, the inability of recent leaderships to confront or admit reality. It is only an error in judgment to make mistakes, as author Christian Bovee wrote last century, but it shows infirmity of character to adhere to it when discovered. This infirmity of character on high cost the nation beyond measure during Vietnam, and now, given the continued recalcitrance of Vietnam mongers, it may go on costing long after.

The mongers, to be sure, will pay anything. The elite always saves itself from itself. After sending 2.5 million American men to fight and sacrifice for nothing in Asia, McGeorge Bundy has been made president of the Ford Foundation, Bob McNamara has become head of the World Bank, Dean Rusk is now a distinguished college professor. As they profit, though, the nation they deceived continues to be weakened by the worry that others like them may even now be guiding America into muck just as deep.

Sen. Tom McIntyre (D-N.H.) said the other day that the people "deserve the Establishment's admission it was wrong" concerning Vietnam. More than this, the people need and must have that admission Else suspicion and resentment and division will grow as the public sees, after all, there is only more darkness at the end of this tunnel.

Just in jest

Never sell American knowhow short! At long last one of this country's inventive geniuses has made the kitty litter box as obsolete as the old 3-holer outhouse. After countless hours of research and experimentation, he has perfected a flush toilet for felines — a toilet that cats can actually operate themselves. —And there you have a perfect example of man's never-ending inhumanity to dumb animals . . . an invention that is a definite candidate for S.P.C.A. investigation. What could be a more classic example of cruelty to animals than to force a cat to flush a toilet instead of letting it fastidiously cover up after its morning's morning?

RAY CROMLEY

North mav rue victory

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Paradoxically, in defeat South Vietnam could give Hanoi stomach cramps.

By conventional standards, with their demonstrated organizing ability, their persistence, their psychological control techniques and ruthless methods, the Northerners should have no trouble digesting the South. They will have a powerful weapon in quickly organized street associations in which families are required to spy on each other and in other extensive informer systems they will expand in the South.

But I wonder all the same.

Witness the Soviet Empire. Militarily a super power. Economically a giant. The worlds's third largest population, after China and India. Yet a series of Kremlin dictators, including Khrushchev and Brezhnev have had to move in strongly with Soviet troops to put down revolts in East Germany, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Whole populations had to be moved out of Lativia, Lithuania and Estonia, and loyal Russians transferred in to achieve stability in these tiny lands. The Ukraine is so unsteady under the surface that its political commissar told his bosses in the Kremlin the Czech unrest must be settled immediately or it would certainly spread to his territory.

Giant China was able to sanitize the tiny Tibetan population only by ordering all residents out of troubled areas, section by section, shooting anything left that moved, then sending in Chinese settlers.

Communists worldwide have a poor track record in taking over successfully and for long countries whose people have had a taste of freedom, however limited. Russia under the czar was totalitarian, the short intermediate Kerensky period was not felt by most. China was a collection of warlords. In North Vietnam, Ho succeeded the French, who almost a century before had suppressed all local freedom. The Communist government did not last long in Chile. The problem in East Europe have been described above.

Despite the corruptness of the Theiu government, the South Vietnamese these past two decades have known more freedom than they'd had for 100 years. Despite a capricous censorship, they have had a far greater chance to speak and write what they chose, to do the work they preferred, to travel where they wished and to associate with whom they pleased than their cousins in the rigidly structured and regimented society of North Vietnam.

The Viet Cong may be in for a ruder awakening than ordinary citizenry. They have had consider - able latitude in guerrilla operations and political operation. Orders came from Hanoi. But Hanoi was far away; now it is next door.

The North, which is poor, will inevitably drain the rice-rich South, creating more hatred.

Hanoi is hort of skilled political cadre, so short in fact that it has been having trouble of late in handling dissent in its own areas. There has been no danger to the government. But complaints have been stronger than Hanoi normally accepts with good grace. The way has been a heavy drain on the young, needed to back up its programs.

Remember that the Northerners for a thousand years have been better organized, more ambitious and energetic than the Southern Vietnamese. Historically, they have regularly won in battle. In recorded history, however, they have never been able to hold on to sizable amounts of the South for long.

For there is no love lost between the peoples Even the southern Viet Cong mistrust Hanoi's regular troops. Saigon politicians mistrust even those in their midst who fled Hanoi's Communist rule. The French found it necessary to divide the land and rule the two areas virtually as separate countries.

Reader baffled by find: what is it?

Can you help me identify an object which appears to me to be a branding iron or a tool of some kind?

It's rusty, heavy like iron and the handle looks to be hand forged. The handle appears shorter than pictures of branding irons I've seen.

It appears very old.

Maybe some of your older readers will know what it is. — Mrs. M. G., Diamond Bar.

You sent us a picture of the article you want identified.

At the bottom, on the part which would make the brand if the object were a branding iron, is the designation "X-32."

Since the picture reached us, something new has been added. It is a stamp reading "Received United California Bank — Student Loan Office."

The addition came after we sent your picture to Tom Westing in Cal Poly's Animal Science Department. His reply somehow jumped a fence and strayed into the wrong office, where it was opened by mistake.

Westing, an associate professor in his department, thinks the object is some kind of carpentry or craft tool.

Like you, he thinks the handle is too short for a branding iron. Also, the handle appears to have threads on it. A branding iron handle would not have these.

We will welcome help from readers who combine a flair for nostalgia and a knowledge of carpentry and craftsmanship.

Several months ago I was in the process of selling my home. I was arranging to buy a condominium provided I got my home sold in time.

I ordered carpet from a valley furniture store, explaining my situation.

The firm asked for a $200 deposit to hold the carpet. Never at any time was it explained my money would not be refundable if the real estate transaction fell through.

It did fall through and now I can't get my money back.

The people at the furniture store tell me they had to pay for the carpet being cut and delivered and then sent back.

Not at any time did they show me receipts verifying this.

I also intended buying drapes through the store but told the store to hold off because we didn't know if we could get our home sold on time so I feel they were fully aware of our situation. — R. G., Montclair.

The operator of the store presents a different set of facts.

He said it was explained to you that the carpet could not be ordered without a deposit.

Generally, he said a quarter of the total cost is required as a deposit but since you had purchased merchandise from the store previously, approximately 10 per cent is required.

A "hold" was placed at the mill on the 148 yards you needed until a certain date. On that date, according to the operator, you were called to let you know the store would have to either permit the "hold" to expire or to order the carpet.

He said you authorized the order and the next day made the deposit.

He sent us copies of invoices showing that the store had paid the freight bill for delivery of the carpet to the store and also a $172.94 restocking charge. The carpet was taken back to the mill in the store's own truck.

The store does not stock carpet because of lack of space but sells only from carpet samples.

The store operator expressed regret that you changed your plans but said "we feel we have been more than fair."

ANN LANDERS

Don't let it bother you

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for nearly two years. He is four years my junior but no one would know it unless somebody told. I have a good figure and keep myself in shape. This is a second marriage for both of us.

The problem is that Jack is extremely handsome and has a way of attracting every female in the place — no matter where we are. It's amazing how brazen some women can be. Time after time I have stood at his side (or within hearing distance) and listened to women gush over Jack and tell him how good looking he is, how charming, how sexy — etc. You wouldn't believe some of the dumb things that come out of their mouths. (Most of these women are married.)

What should I say to them? — At A Loss For Words

Dear Loss: Nothing. They aren't talking to you.

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently you plead for compassion for the lonely people in the world. I realize you are trying to generate sympathy and understanding, Ann, but there's a reason for everything. I wonder if you will have the courage to print this letter, which may do a lot more good than our sympathy.

Although this man has had a wife for 30 years (me) and three fine children, he is the loneliest person in town. He is sour, sullen and makes no effort whatever to extend himself. When someone reaches out to him, he's a million miles away. Everything bounces off.

I have yet to hear him give a compliment. He's always the first one with the bad news. Of course he is infallible. He never made a mistake in his entire life. His only pleasure seems to be pointing out the mistakes of others. If he gets into an argument he will turn the library upside down to prove he is right. Of course he doesn't have a friend in the world. His children tolerate him but there is no love. As for me, I'm stuck.

So when people tell you how lonely they are, just remember, there's a reason for everything. Sign Me — No Mystery Here

Dear No: Too bad you two didn't get some counseling years ago. Your marriage sounds like a disaster, your home an armed camp, and I feel very sorry for all of you.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the woman who thinks she has a problem because her husband doesn't put down the toilet seat. If this is the worst thing the poor girl has to contend with in her life, she should consider herself lucky.

I am 33, hitched for the second time, and couldn't be happier. When Lee and I married I became the instant mother of his three sons. Not one of the four puts down the toilet seat and I couldn't care less.

The reason there are so many ulcer patients, migraine headache sufferers and just plain misery in the world is that people don't know what's important enough to get upset over. I learned and found — Peace

Dear Peace: Isn't it beautiful?

CONFIDENTIAL to Money Talks: Sorry, I don't buy your approach. If money talks, it should be apologizing for being in short supply at a time when most people need it so desperately.

What kind of wedding goes with today's new life styles? Does anything go? Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" tells what's right for today's weddings. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

ERMA BOMBECK

Read tabloids for the news

A woman behind me in the supermarket checkout line last week touched my sleeve and said, "Pardon me, dearie, would you mind sucking in your stomach, you're covering part of the headline."

I inhaled so she could read "National Inquisition . . . the tabloid that dared tell the truth."

"I knew it," she mumbled. "KARL MALDEN LOSES AMERICAN EXPRESS CARD IN TOLEDO."

"I beg your pardon," I said.

"Turn that page, dearie," she said, "I want to read about ANN-MARGRET WEARS SUPP-HOSE."

"Surely you don't believe all that gossip," I said.

"Gossip! What reason would a magazine have to lie about Richard Burton pressing his trousers crooked to hide his bowlegged walk?"

"Well, I . . . "

And I suppose you don't believe that your household toaster can cause learning disabilities among children."

"Oh c'mon . . . how could a toaster . . ."

"Why, I was the first one on my block to know that the United States is phasing out commodes. They buried that story right next to an article about, "IS YOUR SON MAKING NERVE GAS AT CAMP?"

"That's absurd," I laughed.

"You won't think it's absurd when you put a dime in a slot and the door opens to a missile storage room. I don't know why the press keeps all these thing from us." She leaned against me and whispered, "Did you know that a woman in Guatamala gave birth to sextuplets for a publicity stunt? Her husband owned a furniture store."

"A PUBLICITY STUNT!"

"I knew you'd be shocked," she smiled. "I come here for all my news. Why a week without news of the Kennedys is like a day without Anita Bryant."

"I personally feel they should leave those poor people alone."

"I should feel sorry for them," she shrugged, "I can't even get recognized by a butcher when I'm holding a low number."

While the girl was ringing up my order, a headline caught my eye. It said, "A SECURITY GUARD AT LA GUARDIA WHO X-RAYED JACKIE'S PURSE TELLS ALL."

I slipped a copy off the news-stand and as soon as I was in the car began to read. The security guard x-rayed Jackie Schwartz's purse . . . a dental assistant from Pennsylvania.

I knew I'd be punished.

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Pregnancy after surgery

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 24-year-old woman with two children. A month ago I had cancer in my right breast but no spread to the lymph nodes or anywhere else. I had a radical mastectomy anyway and recovered very fast. So, to be on the safe side the doctor did a simple mastectomy on the other breast, but there was no sign of cancer. Do they call this cured or what? And what are my chances if I become pregnant? And the child's?

DEAR READER — If there were no cancer cells at all in the lymph nodes and you had a radical mastectomy plus removal of the other breast, I would think the chances that you will have any further problems are quite small indeed.

You should ask your doctor about this as he has had the opportunity to study the slides and knows exactly the status of the removed cancer.

Assuming your interpretation is correct, and if there are no complications over the next year, I see no reason why you couldn't have a normal pregnancy without risk to either yourself or the baby.

This might be a different situation in women with more severe problems, or who required a great deal of postoperative therapy. Every case has to be considered individually.

You are quite young to have such a problem, but your case emphasizes the importance of even young women being certain to check themselves regularly and see their doctor at least for an annual evaluation.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Whoever sent in that letter about Hoosiers not ever having to walk to school is WRONG. I walked more than two miles in all kinds of weather to a one-room schoolhouse for the first part of my second grade. This was a few years later than 1912, too. The town was Jacksonville, Indiana, and we dearly loved that school.

DEAR READER — Thank you for coming to my defense. I have heard from other fellow Hoosiers who tell me that they also walked to a one-room school house. One reader said the lady must not know anything about southern Indiana. So, I guess I am properly vindicated for saying that Adelle Davis had a reason for her diet philosophy because of her farm background in Indiana before World War II. I haven't heard anything more from the lady who thought I was a provincial New Yorker who knew nothing about the farm. Of course, she had no way of knowing that I was born and raised on a Kansas farm.

My point remains that the diet advice that was sound and important in the days before World War II is not what we need to do today. Much more of our population was rural in those days, and there was less food and more physical activity. Our softer life means we must change our living habits.

The reduction in fat and cholesterol in the diet, along with other measures seems to be doing something. Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, of Northwestern University, points out that the rate of deaths from heart attacks in men between 35 and 64 has fallen 8.7 per cent between 1968 and 1972. So, I am going to keep on pushing for sensible eating for 1970 not 1930.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For information on diet to prevent heart disease send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to the same address and ask for The Health Letter on Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis (number 1-3).

Mature women hide legs

An advertising photographer who mostly takes pictures of beautiful women says the pantsuit gets its largest support from middle-aged ladies, not from young girls. Mature women are not so inclined to show off their legs, that's why, he says.

THE MEDICAL STUDENTS who plan to become surgeons tend to be the most stubborn, impatient and irritable of all medical students. Or so some scholars at the University of Illinois said after they sprang personality tests on a sizable batch of future doctors.

WRESTLERS

Don't suppose anybody pays attention to it, but the law in Los Angeles prohibits a wrestler from making faces during a match.

ITEM 4614A in our Love and War man's file on "Pretty Women" is a quotation from J. B. Priestley: "She was not pretty, but she might have been handsome, if somebody had kept telling her she was pretty."

Q. "HOW LONG does it take a chicken-plucking machine to remove all the feathers of the chicken?"

A. About 14 seconds, I'm told.

EXAMINE an ostrich feather, if one comes to hand. Its vanes are of equal length on both sides of the quill. If that's a characteristic of any other bird's feathers, I don't know what bird. At any rate, because of this, the ancient Egyptians used the ostrich feather as a symbol of justice about the same way we use the blindfolded lady with the scales.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, May 8

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're going to have to try a different approach to a problem facing you. A temporary solution is better than marking time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You will be a very slow starter today. To get off dead center, you'll need motivation. Think about those obligations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your movements today could be restricted because you lack resources. Use ingenuity. You'll find ways to get out of the box.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If your approach is too obvious concerning your ambitions, you're going to create resentment. Be subtle to succeed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't hesitate to ask advice on how to solve a complicated problem today. No one will think less of you. They'll be pleased you asked.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll run into a stone wall in negotiations today. An alternate plan you'll devise will break the deadlock.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An intensive selling job will be necessary to get your point across to one whose help is vital. Don't hold back details.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A project you were hoping to complete today must be shelved. You don't have the proper tools so turn to something else.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're not as lucky in your dealings today as yesterday. Don't take chances on anything sight-unseen and don't gamble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your mate will not be in accord with your ideas on a family matter. You may have to take the initiative to realize what's good for all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Being overbearing with subordinates today will only serve to defeat you. You'll get nowhere by goading them. Charm works wonders.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Before buying anything today, comparison-shop. It may take extra time, but a healthier purse will result.

Your Birthday May 8, 1975

You will be given greater responsibility this year where your work or career is concerned.

What people say

"The hatred of Israel is a neurosis. But the Arabs have all the oil, and Israel has nothing but outstretched hands. Things looks bad there. But in our history, things look bad all the time, and we have outlived scores of nations. — Yiddish author Issac Bashevis Singer.

"Voters seem to have written off the presidency . . . and say that if anybody's going to get us out of this mess, it's Congress. They're looking to Congress in a way they've never looked before."
—Staffmember to Sen. Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island stating that constituents' letters to Pell indicate no confidence in President Ford.

"Remember that this president is not afraid of running against the tide of public opinion — if he is convinced that he is right. Don't forget his pardon of Richard Nixon."
—Anonymous presidential aide saying Ford may accelerate military aid to Saigon regardless of public opinion.

U.S. network of world bases to contain Communism shrinking

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A worldwide network of U.S. military bases, built up in the 1960s to contain the Soviet Union and Communist China, appears to be crumbling slowly under the pressures of political change.

The process may be speeded by failure of the U.S. effort to preserve non-Communist governments in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger conceded last week that "a consequence of the events in Southeast Asia has been to shake the confidence of many countries in American power and particularly in American steadfastness."

Thailand, which was the launching pad for the U.S. bombing campaign against North Vietnam, has ordered U.S. forces to leave within the coming year. The Thais have been allies of the United States in the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization for 21 years, but are now trying to get on a live-and-let-live footing with their Communist neighbors.

President Ferdinand Marcos, who sent Filipino soliers in Vietnam in the lat 1960s, is reported to hav ordered a study of the nee for U.S. bases in the Philippines. Marcos shows othr signs of disengaging fro longtime ties with the United States and sliding toward nonalignment.

Australia and New Zealnd, close friends of the United States since World War II, have joined other nations in the region to oppose construction of a major U.S. naval base at Diego Garcia in the Indian Ocean.

In the crisis-prone Eastern Mediterranean, a new leftist Greek government has ousted the U.S. Air Force from a base near Athens and stopped the U.S. Navy from "homeporting" six destroyers at a port, also near Athens. Other U.S. bases in Greece may go later.

The new Greek leaders blame the United States for Turkey's conquest of much of Cyprus and for supporting the rightist military junta ousted last year. Greece, once dependent on U.S. gifts of weapons, now is buying arms from the French.

Meanwhile, neighboring Turkey is threatening to turn the Americans out of bases there. The Turks are angry because U.S. military aid to them has been cut off on orders of Congress.

It was Turkey's invasion of Cyprus last summer that brought this about. Nearly eight years ago, the Turks stopped short of invading Cyprus after a strong warning from the United States. This time, Turkey defied the United States and landed troops on the contested island.

Portugal not too long ago was one of this country's unswerving allies. But the overthrow of a rightist dictatorship has resulted in a widening estrangement between Portugal and the United States.

Recently, Portuguese Prime Minister Vasco Goncalves said publicly that his government would not permit the United States to use the Azores Islands base to support any future emergency airlift to Israel.

In the 1973 Mideast war, Portugal was the only country which allowed its territory to be used by the United States for that purpose, and it made the U.S. airlift operation easier and less costly.

The United State is in the midst of negotiations for the renwal of base rights in the Azores. The outcome is uertain, but U.S. officials expect an extended lease, though without the freedom to operate air and naval units from the Azores as in the past.

Base renewal talks with Spain also are unsolved, and there have been hints that the Spanish might like the United States to give up at least one air base there. There is uncertainty about what kind of a government will follow the expected retirement of Generalissimo Francisco Franco and whether that government will be as friendly to the United States.

U.S. officials attribute this country's difficulties with old allies and friends to what one official called a "growing wave of nationalism," as well as to the after-effects of the U.S. setback in Indochina.

"We can live with this," said one senior defense official, who noted that technological advances and changes in weaponry have made the United States less dependent on forward military bases than it was a quarter of a century ago.

Officials cited the longer reach of transport planes, the ability to refuel in midair, and the development of satellites for reconnaissance and communications as advances which have reduced the significance of overseas bases.

The advent of intercontinental ballistic missiles and other missiles fired from submarines in the world's oceans has changed the character of the U.S. nuclear striking force and removed its dependence on forward bases.

Some of the bases which the United States established in the 1950s were designed for B47 nuclear bombers which were a mainstay of the U.S. striking force in those days

Energy use drop misinterpreted?

WASHINGTON (AP) — When U.S. energy use dropped last year, delighted government officials hoped it was the start of a new trend.

But statistics indicate that the economic recession was more responsible than anything else for the decline. Thus, energy use is expected to start climbing again when the economy finally rebounds.

The Department of the Interior announced last month that U.S. energy consumption fell 2.2 per cent during 1974. Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said he was "delighted — and frankly gratified — at this drop. I hope we are seeing the start of a new trend."

Energy use, however, historically has been linked to Gross National Product — the value of goods and services produced by the economy.

And for 1974, the GNP was down from 1973 by the same 2.2 per cent that energy use fell, after eliminating changes attributable to the shrinking value of the dollar.

Roger Sant, the Federal Energy Administration's assistant administrator for conservation and environment, said in an interview he takes last year's energy consumption figures "neither with encouragement nor discouragement."

Sant contends, however, that one year is too short a period in which to expect conclusive results.

"The long run will look better than the short run," he said, while acknowledging that "we are a long way from getting what we should be getting."

When 1974 energy-use figures were announced, Morton cited five causes for the decline in usage: Arab oil embargo, higher prices, economic slowdown, successful conservation efforts and favorable weather.

No government experts could be located, however, who had calculated just how much of the decrease was attributable to each cause.

For future savings, the Ford administration and Democratic congressional leaders are pushing a policy that depends in significant part on curbing use through higher prices. Elements of that plan, now being studied in Congress, include deregulation of certain gas and oil prices, higher fees on imported oil, higher gasoline taxes and excise taxes on gas-guzzling autos.

Sant acknowledged that his office has trimmed some of its earlier estimates on how much price rises would cut consumption of energy, but he still maintains: "The price has to have some effect. There is no way to intuitively say that it doesn't."

The relationship of demand to price is called price elasticity. Sant's experts now figure that, for every 10 per cent rise in price, a one per cent saving in energy will result over a one-year period.

If, for example, you now spend 60 cents a gallon for gasoline and use 50 gallons a month, these elasticity predictions say that, if the price rose to 66 cents per gallon, you'd trim your usage to 49.5 gallons a month. That might be the equivalent of one less trip to the supermarket.

Sant said energy figures for 1974 reflect hardly any conservation in industry but instead simply show curtailment of energy.

"But equipment is getting in place and changes are under way now, so that conservation will replace curtailment," he said.

He hopes that when the economy turns around, the historic energy-Gross National Product relationship will change. "If GNP is up 3 per cent, we'd like to hold energy to a 1½ per cent increase," he said.

A 1968 Interior Department study observed that, from 1940 until the 1960s, energy use had increased at slightly more than 80 per cent of the rate of increase of GNP.

But a 1969 study done for the President's Office of Science and Technology reported that "the trend appears to be changing. In the future it is possible that a constant or even increasing amount of energy per unit of GNP may be required if present policies of encouraging energy use are continued."

That 1969 prediction was borne out. From 1968 through 1974, real Gross National Product increased 16.2 per cent while energy was up 18.4 per cent.

Curiously, energy used per unit of GNP declined somewhat from 1972 to 1973, but held virtually even from 1973 to 1974, although the Arab oil boycott increased energy awareness.

But, even then, the energy consumption rate in terms of GNP was higher in 1974 than it had been back in 1968, when no one was much concerned about energy conservation.

Ironically, a longer recession would help from an energy conservation standpoint not only becau it would curtail energuse, but because it wouldllow for more long-term ficiency measures to be plemented.

For ther reasons, of course he administration would ather have the econo reverse itself right now. But, if it did, the energy use pattern would likely be closer to the historic trends.

Sant says the Arab oil embargo "changed the economy so much that people see they have to unhook energy growth from GNP growth." But he added that "it takes a while to finally get the message, and this is just starting to take place in energy."

To measure just how much industry is starting to conserve rather than just curtail its energy use, Sant's office is establishing an elaborate statistical index system measuring developments in 10 energy-intensive industries.

When the figures start coming in this year, they may signal just how realistic it will be to count on true energy conservation.

Last fling

WISBECH, England (AP) — James Chapman was a happy man when he died recently at age 103, according to his housekeeper. At age 100, he decided to put some excitement in his life and spent his last three years riding gliders, helicopters, baloons, training planes and racing cars. His last ride was in a submarine.

Unemployed create new jobs in novel Canadian program

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Canada has a project that is designed to help the unemployed create new jobs on their own.

It is called LIP, which stands for the Local Initiatives Program. Four members of the United States Congress came here this spring to study the government - sponsored program.

The program was started in late 1971 when unemployment jumped to 6.5 per cent. Cam Mackie, an official in the Department of Manpower and Immigration, says: "The idea was to get the cats to the sparrows without going through the horse."

In his view, the horse was the federal bureaucracy. Mackie maintains bureaucracy had become inadequate to meet changing social needs.

In theory, LIP reduces "bureaucratic overlay" to a minimum as the unemployed think up job-making projects and apply for funds each fall to make them go.

Those approved can begin early in the year, when unemployment is highest in Canada, and they run until late spring. One problem is that many prove so valuable to the community that there is an uproar when funds run out.

Some provinces and municipalities refinance the most valuable projects. LIP, after a four-year experience, requires that applicants submit a source of future financing, unless their projects are going to die natural deaths.

The kinds of projects that have grown out of LIP most frequently include day-care centers or programs to spruce up old public buildings and municipal parks.

The limit now for each project is $75,000 — but in the past a $500,000 grant was used to build a hockey arena in northern Quebec.

A formula channels $262 for each unemployed person into areas where the unemployment rate is in excess of 4 per cent. This helps assure that real needs are met.

"The program can allocate money to areas of highest need," says Mackie. "This is less inflationary than normal public works money, which tends to go into construction in areas that are economically strong anyway."

LIP touches hundreds of thousands in various ways. In Halifax, a Meals-on-Wheels project delivers hot food and warm company to pensioners isolated by winter. LIP projects frequently fill the gaps that orthodox social agencies overlook.

"Instead of distant bureaucrats making decisions about what's good for a community, the people in the community make the decisions," says Mackie.

Constituency advisory groups have been set up to ensure broad community participation and to overcome allegations of political patronage. Members of Parliament quickly learned how much LIP grants meant to their constituents and they fight for funds.

LIP's supporters include Alvin Toffler, author of the book "Future Shock," and Oxford Labor Economist Santosh Mukherjee. Toffler, in his best-seller, said that LIP is "based on sound super-industrial principles" and is "a vast improvement over the old, depression-style job making programs . . ."

Mukherjee, in a study the British Manpower Services Commission, said LIP is praiseworthy because it finances jobs in service and community activities instead of goods-producing private industries such as shipbuilding.

He said 70 to 90 per cent of the projects would never have been undertaken without LIP money. Furthermore, about 35 per cent have continued after LIP money ran out, indicating their community value, he added.

Some provinces have set up LIP models of their own. Others have complained that LIP distorts their priorities by forcing funds away from other projects.

"The provinces in many cases are as distant from priorities as anyone else," comments Mackie.

LIP has financed birth control clinics, counseling for young homosexuals, and similar projects that sometimes stir controversy, usually short-lived once the need is demonstrated.

Last year, a West Coast madame was turned down when she applied for funds to set up a traveling bordello for isolated lumberjacks.

Only 64 of the more than 19,000 LIP projects have had to be investigated and of these, seven court convictions have resulted.

The Canadian government put $190 million into LIP in its first year, creating 92,000 jobs that lasted an average four months. There were applications for nearly $500 million.

The next year $215 million was put into creating 86,000 jobs that lasted an average six months.

Unemployment had dropped to 5.6 per cent by 1975 and the budget was trimmed to $82.6 million and 30,000 jobs. This year $90 million went in for 29,000 jobs.

Until unemployment began rising sharply, Ottawa was talking about doing away with LIP. But the latest forecasts are that unemployment will continue above 7 per cent this year and LIP will return.

"It will be back in one form or another," says Manpower Minister Robert Andras.

Mackie says "a community employment strategy" is emerging that will enable federal and provincial governments "to put together all the tools in a concerted effort to deal with blocks to employment."

Mackie says LIP's lessons, gleaned from people who have been jobless and on welfare for years, are these:

"First, regardless of the nature of the job — it can be a lousy, rotten job — if the community sees it as beneficial, that's a strong motivation to the worker.

"The other important thing is that the individual must have some say in the decisions that affect him. People want to work, but not just at anything, or under any conditions."

Angry British farmers smash French eggs

LONDON (AP) — Angry British poultry farmers hijacked a truckload of French eggs Monday night and smashed 18,000 of them to protest cheap imports they claim are ruining them.

They warned that they will smash any other consignments they can get their hands on, Egg Producers' Association Secretary Keith Pulman said.

The ambush near the southwest port of Plymouth came after militant farmers beseiged the docks at Southampton and Plymouth to stop shipments.

At Southampton, 70 farmers defied police orders and drove trucks onto the docks. Scuffles broke out, but no arrests were reported.

The farmers claim that 54 million cheap French eggs were imported through Southampton last month in trucks landed from English Channel ferries.

The only truckload to get past the farmers' cordons was the one later ambushed. Police said about 30 men chased the truck in cars, overtook it when it broke down on a country road, dragged driver Jean-Yves Tanguy, 29, from his cab and smashed 50 crates with crowbars when he refused to return to France.

Pulman said: "We sympathize with the egg producers, but we cannot condone violence. However, the militant elements feel peaceful demonstrations are not achieving anything."

Auxiliary show set

Forest Home Women's Auxiliary has planned its annual luncheon and fashion show on May 15 at the Los Angeles Room of Century Plaza Hotel.

Jill Briscoe, author of the Christian musical, "Sitting on the Fence," will be the speaker.

The local chapter of the auxiliary meets on the fourth Monday of each month at Foothill Terrace Mobile Home Park Clubhouse, 4095 Fruit St., La Verne. Mrs. William Kinney of La Verne is president of the local unit.

Charts meeting

Job's Daughters of Bethel 47 or Pomona, Bethel 191 of Chino, and Bethel 114 of Ontario have scheduled a joint meeting for the grand guardian's official visit.

The group will honor Mrs. Jennie Amundson, grand guardian, and John Tolbert, associate grand guarding at 7:30 p.m. at the Chino Masonic Temple on a Thursday. A reception will follow the meeting.

Luncheon charted Saturday

Mrs. Diane Nelson of Pomona, San Gabriel District Assembly chairman of the Pacific Southwest Lutheran Church Women, has announced plans for a Tri-Lutheran Prayer at Pentecost luncheon to be held at Griswold's Indian Hill Inn at noon, Saturday.

Mrs. Voya Giesy of Huntington Beach, PSW vice president, will be the speaker. Theme for the day is "Spiritiual Treasure in Clay Pots."

Tickets for the luncheon may be secured by contacting Trinity Lutheran Church, 787 S. Hamilton Blvd., Pomona.

Breakfast set by Amaranth

The annual Mother's Day breakfast of Della Robbia Court, Order of the Amaranth is scheduled from 8 a.m. through 1 p.m., Sunday at 611 N. 3rd Ave., Upland.

Spring banquet slated Saturday

Theme for the annual spring banquet to be sponsored by the Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church of Pomona is "Gingham Girls."

The dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m., Friday in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. Mrs. Garnet Ilgen and Mrs. Marya K. Munson are in charge of the decorations.

Speaker will be Mrs. Mabel Ross. She and her husband, Dr. John Ross, were missionaries in Africa from 1950 t0 1972.

After retiring in 1972, Mrs. Ross began collecting and taping folk tales. She will soon publish a book about these African stories.

Other women taking part in the program are Mmes. Macella Thonn, Sally Newberry, Claudine Goodell, Judy White, Miss Susan Newberry and Miss Mary Ellen White.

MRS. MABEL ROSS

Mitchell-Williamson vows are repeated

At a ceremony read in the bride's home, marriage vows were exchanged Saturday between Miss Linda Kay Williamson of La Verne and Steven Gary Mitchell of Pomona.

The Rev. Morgan Sly read the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Nadine Williamson of La Verne and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mitchell of Pomona.

Miss Judy M. Williamson was matron of honor and the best man was Larry R. Mitchell.

Women's Day meeting is set

"The Many Faces of Woman" will be the theme of the second annual Chaffey College Women's Day Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the campus in Alta Loma.

Starting with a general assembly in the little theater on the campus, the program will include a panel and a number of workshops.

The day-long event is sponsored by the Women's Center in cooperation with the Chaffey College Office of Community Education. Women wishing more information may call Mary Wooster, 987-1737 or 822-4484, extension 371.

Given award

Claremont Branch of American Association of University Women has awarded a $400 scholarship to Mrs. Colleen Lawrence, who is working part time at Scripps College as a continuing education student. In addition to attending Scripps, Mrs. Lawrence works as receptionist for the psychology department at Claremont Graduate School.

The surest way to discourage ants and roaches is to clamp down on the free meals.

Nuptials read at night rites

Miss Cathleen Louise Gerwing and Don C. Wolfe were married in an evening ceremony read by the Rev. Anton Sommers in Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church in Montclair.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Gerwing of Montclair and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Wolfe of Upland.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of brocade satin with cottom lace on the cuffs and bodice. The skirt was hemmed with a ruffle.

She wore a shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations and blue daisies.

Miss Sharon Gerwing was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kris Stansbury, Mrs. Nadine Robinson and Mrs. Marcia Wolfe.

Angela Walker was flower girl and Joseph Gianni was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Duane Wolfe while Sam Robinson, Robert Wolfe and John Rypkema were the ushers.

A dinner reception at the Diamond Bar Country Club followed the rites.

After a two-week honeymoon in the Hawaiian Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe will reside in Montclair.

MRS. DON C. WOLFE

MSAC to do 'The Visit'

Mt. San Antonio College will present Friedrich Duerrenmatt's "The Visit" in the Little Theater at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and May 16 and 17.

The drama tells the story of a woman who offers her native village a billion marks for the life of the man who betrayed her.

Shari Crocker plays Claire Zachanassian, the richest woman in the world, and John Rigo portrays Anton Schill, the man who wronged her. The latter is also assistant director.

Other leads in the cast are Gilbert Arevalo, Prof. Muller; Bill Firman, Burgomaster; Bob Macias, Dr. Nusslin; Steve Bellante, Police Chief Schultz, and Gail Mitschek, Mathilde Schill.

Others in the cast are Lynette Blanchard, Noreen Dumka, Brant Johnson, Pam Mazy, Rick Thurnell, Steve Hartley, Donna Ondatje, Peter Trinceri, Mario Vasquez, Jim Turnbough, Tim Gudz, Steve Spencer, Jacquelyn Stewart, April Vahle, Bonnie Wuebben, Antonio Davis, Deedee Rodriguez, Marcia Sickles, Connie Lewis, Pamela Check, Jackie Polizzi, Neil Letham, William Pelt and Steve Gatton.

Carter Doran directs, and Gary Davis is technical director.

Tickets are on sale at the box office and at the MSAC drama department.

VCTeens schedule auditions

The VCTeens, youth wing of Valley Community Theater, will hold auditions for a summer production of "The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd" from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. The tryouts will be held at the theater at 132 E. Third St., Pomona.

The Anthony Newley-Leslie Bricusse musical has parts for some 20 young men and women who can sing, dance and act. The auditions are open to the public.

"Greasepaint" will open a four-week engagement July 10. It will be directed by Andy Caddes of Claremont, vice chairman of the VCT board of directors He holds a B.A. from USC and a master's degree from UCLA. He has directed "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," "Luv" and "Lovers and Other Strangers" for VCT.

STILL CHAMPS — The three major television networks are currently juggling their fall lineups in a competitive struggle for sponsors, but nothing on the new schedules seems likely to dethrone CBS' All in the Family, starring Jean Stapleton and Carroll O'Connor. The consistently top-rated comedy will move in September from Saturday night to Monday night, opposite the NBC series, Ellery Queen.

Community chorus sets festival

The Pomona Community Chorus, directed by Ray Woods, will hold its first Southland Invitational Choral Festival in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 7 p.m. May 18.

Taking part will be the Lincoln Chorale of Claremont, the Riverside Community Chorus, the Orange County Master Chorale, the New Sounds of Hawthorne and others.

Each chorus will sing several selections, then mass together as a 300-voice chorus under the baton of Roger Waner, conductor of the Los Angeles Master Chorale and the Roger Wagner Chorale.

The huge chorus will sing a wide variety of music ranging from the Israeli folksong, "Hava Neytsey B'Machol" to "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho."

Tickets to the festival are $2.50, senior citizens free. Tickets can be obtained at the personnel office of the Pomona Unified School District and at the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department in the City Hall.

Information on group rates and membership in the Pomona Community Chorus can be obtained at 983-5265 or 623-5251, Ext. 205.

SARAH LOPEZ

Instructor to present vocal recital

Sarah Lopez, voice instructor at Citrus College and USC, will present a vocal recital in the choral room at Citrus College at 1 p.m. Friday.

The program will be repeated as her senior recital (a requirement for graduation from USC,) in Hancock Auditorium at USC Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Miss Lopez will sing selections composed by Handel, Wolf, Strauss, Dubussy, Nin, Obradors and Montsalvatge.

Miss Lopez plans to continue for an M.A. degree in opera and concert singing. The 22-year-old resident of West Los Angeles was born in Ontario, and attended schools in Claremont. She was a member of Chamber Singers at Claremont High School and at Citrus College from 1970-72. She participated in the Citrus Chamber Singers tour of Europe. A student at USC since 1972, she will graduate in June with a B.A. in music, voice performance and opera workshop.

She is the daughter of Julio Lopez of Montclair and Mrs. Lillian Lopez of Claremont.

Larry Wong will accompany Miss Lopez. Wong received his B.A. in mathematics and music from Claremont Men's College, where he graduated cum laude in 1970. He is currently pursuing a master's in music degree in accompanying, under tutelage of Gwendolyn Koldofsky.

Both recitals are open to the public. Admission is free.

Profits rise

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Consolidated Natural Gas Co. says profits rose to $45.6 million or $2.30 a share for the first quarter of 1975, despite a decline 3.5 per cent in gas sales.

Net income was $35.7 or $1.80 a share million during the same period last year, the company said Monday.

Chevrolet announces a new small car.

Monza Towne Coupe

HOW'S THIS FOR ECONOMY: 28 MILES PER GALLON. Equipped with its available 2.3-litre 2-barrel engine, the new Monza Towne Coupe has been rated by the EPA for California as follows: 18 mpg in the city test, 28 mpg in the highway test.

A NEW CHEVY THAT'S SMALL AND DRESSY. There have always been dressy big Chevrolets. This is a dressy small one—the new Monza Towne Coupe. It's fun to drive. It's quiet and comfortable inside. It comes with a very sensible price.

STANDARD: DELCO'S NEW FREEDOM BATTERY. The Towne Coupe is the first Chevrolet to have it. Needs no refill. A visible battery condition indicator on top makes checking easy. Sealed side terminals help fight corrosion.

A WIDE SELECTION OF OPTIONS IS AVAILABLE. Genuine leather upholstery, forged aluminum wheels, air conditioning, an adjustable driver's seat back, white lettered GM-Specification steel-belted radial tires, AM/FM stereo radio — they're all available. And up to you.

A SMALL CAR THAT'S A NICE PLACE TO BE. The instruments are easy to read and trimmed with simulated bird's-eye maple. The front bucket seats are deep and contoured to hold. The Towne Coupe's roof, sides, cowling and flooring are thoughtfully insulated with a special sound insulation package for interior quietness.

TWO ENGINES, THREE TRANSMISSIONS TO CHOOSE FROM. Available engines for the Towne Coupe include a 2.3-litre double-barrel Four and a 5.7-litre V8 that measures 350 cu. in. The standard transmission with the 2.3-litre engine is a 3-speed manual. Depending on engine selection, a 4-speed manual or Turbo Hydra-matic is available.

THE FORMAL VINYL ROOF IS STANDARD. You can have it in your pick of nine colors—Firethorn, Mahogany, Red, White, Black, Medium Green, Dark Blue, Silver Metallic or Buckskin. The lower body comes in your choice of thirteen colors.

A CHOICE OF RICH-LOOKING INTERIORS. Either vinyl or luxurious pattern cloth upholstery is standard. The Towne Coupe's doors have handy map pockets. Door lock buttons are conveniently found in specially designed armrests. The carpeting is cut-pile, thick and complete.

IT'S A GOOD RIDING LITTLE CAR. A torque-arm rear suspension and coil springs all around help give the new Monza Towne Coupe a smoothness of ride you'll appreciate. A front stabilizer bar is standard, too.

THE NEW MONZA TOWNE COUPE IS AT YOUR CHEVROLET DEALER'S MAY 8. See it soon. It's a little car that's a lot to see. We think you'll find it's both a very sensibly priced car to start with, and a very sensible little car to stay with.

Jazz group to meet in Riverside

The Society for the Preservation of Dixieland Jazz-East will have its first meeting at the Moose Lodge, 5797 Picker St., Riverside, at 2 p.m. Sunday. Subsequent meetings will be held there at the same time on the second Sunday of each month.

SPDJ-East is a branch of the parent club, the Society for the Preservation of Dixieland Jazz, which was organized in Pomona 14 years ago. The parent club meets at the Arcadia Elks Lodge on the fourth Sunday of each month.

The feature band at the Riverside meeting will appear at 4 p.m., fronted by clarinetist Willie Martinez. Martinez has been a professional musician for many years and is well known in the Southern California area. His first staff job was with KHJ playing with Alvino Rey and the King Sisters for several years. He then joined Frank Trambauer at the Biltmore Hotel and at times played with bands such as Stan Kenton, Harry James and Ray McKinley.

Shirley Pettis takes the oath

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shirley N. Pettis was sworn in Tuesday as a member of Congress.

Mrs. Pettis, 50, won a seat in the House in an election last week in which she defeated 12 opponents.

YOUNG SOLOISTS — Carol Mitchell, left, Mimi Hwang and Christoph Franzgrote will be soloists in a concert by the San Gabriel Valley Junior Symphony Orchestra in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8 p.m. Saturday. Donald Ambroson of Pomona is the conductor.

Youth orchestra to give concert

The San Gabriel Valley Junior Symphony Orchestra will present a concert in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

Violin and cello concertos played by soloists from the orchestra are featured on the program. Christoph Franzgrote of Pasadena and Carol Mitchell of South Pasadena, both 13, will perform the Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor by Bach. The duo was coached by Barbara Don who majored in music at Pomona College and now teaches violin in Sierra Madre. Mimi Hwang, 14, of San Gabriel, will play Concerto No. 1 in A Minor for Cello and Orchestra by Saint-Saens. She has already been a soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. She is a student of Eleonore Schoenfeld of Pasadena.

Donald Ambroson of Pomona is now in his second year as conductor of the youth orchestra. He has been associated with the Claremont Music Festival since its inception and conducted the Pomona College Orchestra during the fall of 1974. He is working toward his doctor of musical arts degree at USC.

The program will be repeated at Pasadena High School Sunday at 3 p.m.

Soviet ships enter Da Nang

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet ships have put into Da Nang, South Vietnam, with food and fuel for the city and adjoining areas, Tass reported today.

The Oina Sagaidak arrived Sunday with about 4,008 tons of rice, flur and other food, Tass said, adding it was the first foreign cargo ship to visit the port since its "liberation."

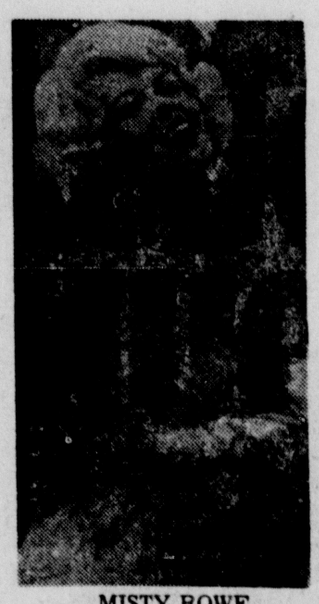
Duo-piano recital

William Sherwood, pianist, composer and teacher, and his student, Edwina Chin, will present a Mother's Day duo-piano recital in Founders Hall, La Verne College, at 3 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

The program will include music by Ravel, Mozart, Schubert, Debussy and Sherwood.

Since 1951 Sherwood has taught piano, harpsichord, theory and composition in the valley area. He previously was a music critic on the staff of Music News, a Chicago publication. His own publications include a monograph, "Essay on Music Criticism," and a handbook, "Original Music for One Piano, Four Hands." He has composed more than 80 works, many of which have been performed in Southern California and used by teachers of music

Miss Chin has studied piano since the age of 6. She is a sophomore music major at Chaffey College where she is piano soloist with the band and accompanist for singers and instrumentalists in student recitals. Miss Chin has won several awards and scholarships for her work as a pianist and a vocalist.



MISTY ROWE

Talent search finds blonde on Hee-Haw

By DICK KLEINER

One of the biggest casting searches in years is over and a girl named Misty Rowe will play the Marilyn Monroe part in MM's film biography, "Goodbye, Norma Jean."

Miss Rowe as you might expect, is a sexy-looking blonde with a tiny voice. She ordered a Shirley Temple (the waiter thought she must be kidding) and said how she is a natural blonde and a natural Misty.

"That is my real name," she said. "My mother wanted to name me Mistalina but my father protested."

She's a Southern Californian who grew up wanting to dance — her mother took in ironing to pay for her dance lessons. Her father wanted her to go to college but she ran away to Hollywood instead, working as a waitress, telephone operator and receptionist while she studied.

Her professional experience consists of 78 shots on Hee-Haw and nine on Good Times, all as a Marilyn Monroe type. She says she's read everything ever written about Marilyn and she's glad she wasn't really her.

"I wouldn't want to have been her," Misty says.

At 19, with her big opportunity before her, she's excited but she's taking it all slowly. She lives in a small house, she shares with a girl friend — "I wouldn't want to live alone because I get scared and hear noises in the night" — and a parrot who hates men.

Moving Company to play at Citrus

The Moving Company, Altadena-based dance troupe, will perform in the Citrus College auditorium at 8 p.m. May 15, the final program on the Evenings at Eight Series.

Tickets are $3 general, $2 for students, senior citizens and children.

The company will present the Southern California premire of "Zyzzyz Road" and "Where the Sky Seems To Meet the Earth." The former work, choreographed by Pat Finot, is financed by the National Endowment for the Arts. It is a multimedia piece for dancers, lights and polyethelene sets. The score was composed by Cara Brandbury-Marcus for trumpet, drums, steel drums and tape effects.

"Where the Sky Seems To Meet the Earth" was choreographed by Christina Botiller-Feliz and Nannette Pistole, company members, inspired by the Indian country of Arizona and New Mexico. Linda Wells composed the score.

Other works to be presented are "Heavenly Bodies in Concrete Form," "Moving In, Moving On" and "Grauman's Chinese."

MSAC to give spring concert

MARY M. MOORE

The Mt. San Antonio College Choir and Concert Singers will present their annual Spring Festival Concert at the Pilgrim Congregational Church, Pomona, at 4 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1.

Hayden Blanchard, music director, will conduct the singers in Maurice Durufle's "Requiem Mass" and four of his motets based on Gregorian chants.

Gary Toops, MSAC music instructor, will play the organ, and Mary Maude Moore, also a MSAC instructor, will be soloist. Barbara Varellas will be accompanist.

Miss Moore joined the music department staff in 1966 after several years as director of small mixed ensembles that toured the Far East entertaining U. S. troops. During this same period she was assistant professor of music at Kansas State College. She has directed the U. S. Air Force Male Chorus on a tour of the Far East.

In addition to her music education duties at the college, which include the direction of the Women's Glee Club, Miss Moore performs occasionally as soloist with the Roger Wagner Chorale and with the choirs of the University of Redlands and Cal State Los Angeles.

A graduate of Oklahoma State University and the University of Oklahoma, she has studied voice with Dame Eva Turner, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera in New York.

Also an occasional soloist with the Roger Wagner Chorale, Blanchard has sung opera and lieder throughout the Southern California area: Last fall he was named principal tenor in the Clarion Music Society's (New York) revival of Francesco Cavalli's "The Great Vesper Service."

Toops, who joined the MSAC music faculty in 1969, has performed in both the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas for many years. He is the founder-director of Theater 5, a Little Theater group in the San Francisco East Bay area which annually presents several musicals. He has also directed the college's summer musical production for the past four years. This summer's presentation is "The King and I".

Donations for the Spring Festival Concert will go to the Paul Weston Music Scholarship Fund, to be awarded MSAC music students.

Children's show set at Chaffey

The Chaffey College Children's Theater will present "Through the Magic Book" in the campus free speech area at noon and 2 p.m. Saturday. Petr Kowalksi directs.

"The Magic Book" is made up of skits combined with song, dance and pantomime with the emphasis on audience involvement and improvisation.

Kowalski said that the purpose of the show is to stimulate a child's imagination and provide the participant with a total theatrical experience.

Admission will be $1. Persons interested in group reservations should call the box office here at 987-1745.

The Arawak Museum in White Marl, Jamaica, houses the main collection of Arawak artifacts in Jamaica. It is constructed on the largest known village site occupied by the Arawak Indians, one of the earliest and possibly first inhabitants of the island

Home canning

Forsee no shortages this year

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Millions of Americans planting vegetable gardens to save money are also preparing for home canning later in the year, prompting new concern about shortages of materials and safety of procedures.

The two major manufacturers of canning jars and lids, the Kerr Glass Co. of Los Angeles and the Ball Corp. of Muncie, Ind., are working on 24-hour-a-day, seven - day - a - week schedules to try to avert a repeat of last year when tight supplies of tinplate and soda ash, combined with an increased demand, caused a severe shortage.

Supplies remain tight, but Virginia Knauer, presidential assistant on consumer affairs, said there will be enough jars and lids if people don't get greedy. "Don't hoard and don't panic," she warned. "Buy only what you need. Leave some for the next gardener."

Mrs. Knauer said an estimated 400 million new canning jars — with lids — will be produced this year. The main buyers of this equipment are first-time canners.

Seed and garden experts are predicting 6 million new home gardeners this year. Mrs. Knauer said a maximum of 3 million of them are expected to try their hand at canning. If each person put up 100 jars of produce, the 3 million first-time canners would use 300 million jars and lids, below the estimated production.

Last year, some faulty lids were produced when Kerr modified its sealing compound. Testing showed the first modifications produced inconsistent results and the plans were changed, but some of the faulty lids were shipped and sold to consumers.

Manufacturers say there should be no problem with faulty lids this year, but they repeatedly warn consumers to follow instructions and note that not all canning equipment operates the same way.

Kerr, for example, amended its instructions to recommend that women tighten lids a second time after processing to eliminate trouble.

Ball, however, said its lids react differently and warned that lids closed too tightly could buckle and unseal the jar of food.

Improper sealing can cause food to spoil and the Department of Agriculture has launched a canning safety campaign. The department said there were 20 outbreaks of botulism food poisoning last year involving 30 persons. Seven persons died, five of them from foods that were home canned.

Proper temperature is a key to successful home canning. The USDA provides the following temperature guide (all temperatures are in degrees fahrenheit):

—From 0 to 32: Freezing temperatures stop growth of bacteria, but may allow bacteria to survive. Do not store food above 10 degrees for more than a few weeks.

—From 32 to 40: Cold temperatures permit growth of some bacteria that cause spoilage.

—From 40 to 60: Some growth of food poisoning bacteria may occur.

—From 60 to 125: Danger zone. Food held more than two hours in this zone are subject to rapid growth of bacteria and the production of toxins by some bacteria.

—From 125 to 140: Some bacteria growth may occur. Many bacteria survive.

—From 140 to 165: Warming temperatures prevent growth, but allow survival of some bacteria.

—From 165 to 212: Cooking temperatures destroy most bacteria. Time required to kill bacteria is decreased as temperature is increased.

—From 212 to 240: Canning temperatures for fruits, tomatoes and pickles in waterbath canner.

—From 240 to 250: Canning temperatures for low-acid vegetables, meat and poulty in pressure canner.

The Agriculture Department is holding a series of regional conferences on canning safety. The first conference was Friday in Los Angeles; other meetings are scheduled for Dallas, Atlanta, Philadelphia, Chicago, Denver, Minneapolis, Seattle and Detroit.

Further information is available from Nancy Harvey Steorts, special assistant to the secretary of agriculture for consumer affairs, Department of Agriculture, Office of the Secretary, Washington, D.C., 20250. Consumers also can obtain a pamphlet, Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables, by sending 35 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

Bag cooking is a time saver

Home parties for teenagers give the young hostess a fun way to learn by doing. It takes practice to learn to plan and prepare ahead for successful entertaining even for casual affairs.

Serving party refreshments hot can be unique on the teen party table. This is easy to do with oven cooking bags. One delicious offering is Frank Medley, a new hot appetizer using the teen-ager's favorite, frankfurters. The hostess puts this mixture of sliced franks and onion, pineapple and green pepper cubes in a tangy soy sauce into an oven bag to hold refrigerated until the party.

At serving time, the bagged food is ready to go straight to the oven, then on to the party table. Several bags, prepared ahead and cooked as needed, keep the party going with continuous hot servings. Frank Medley is easy on the party food budget, too.

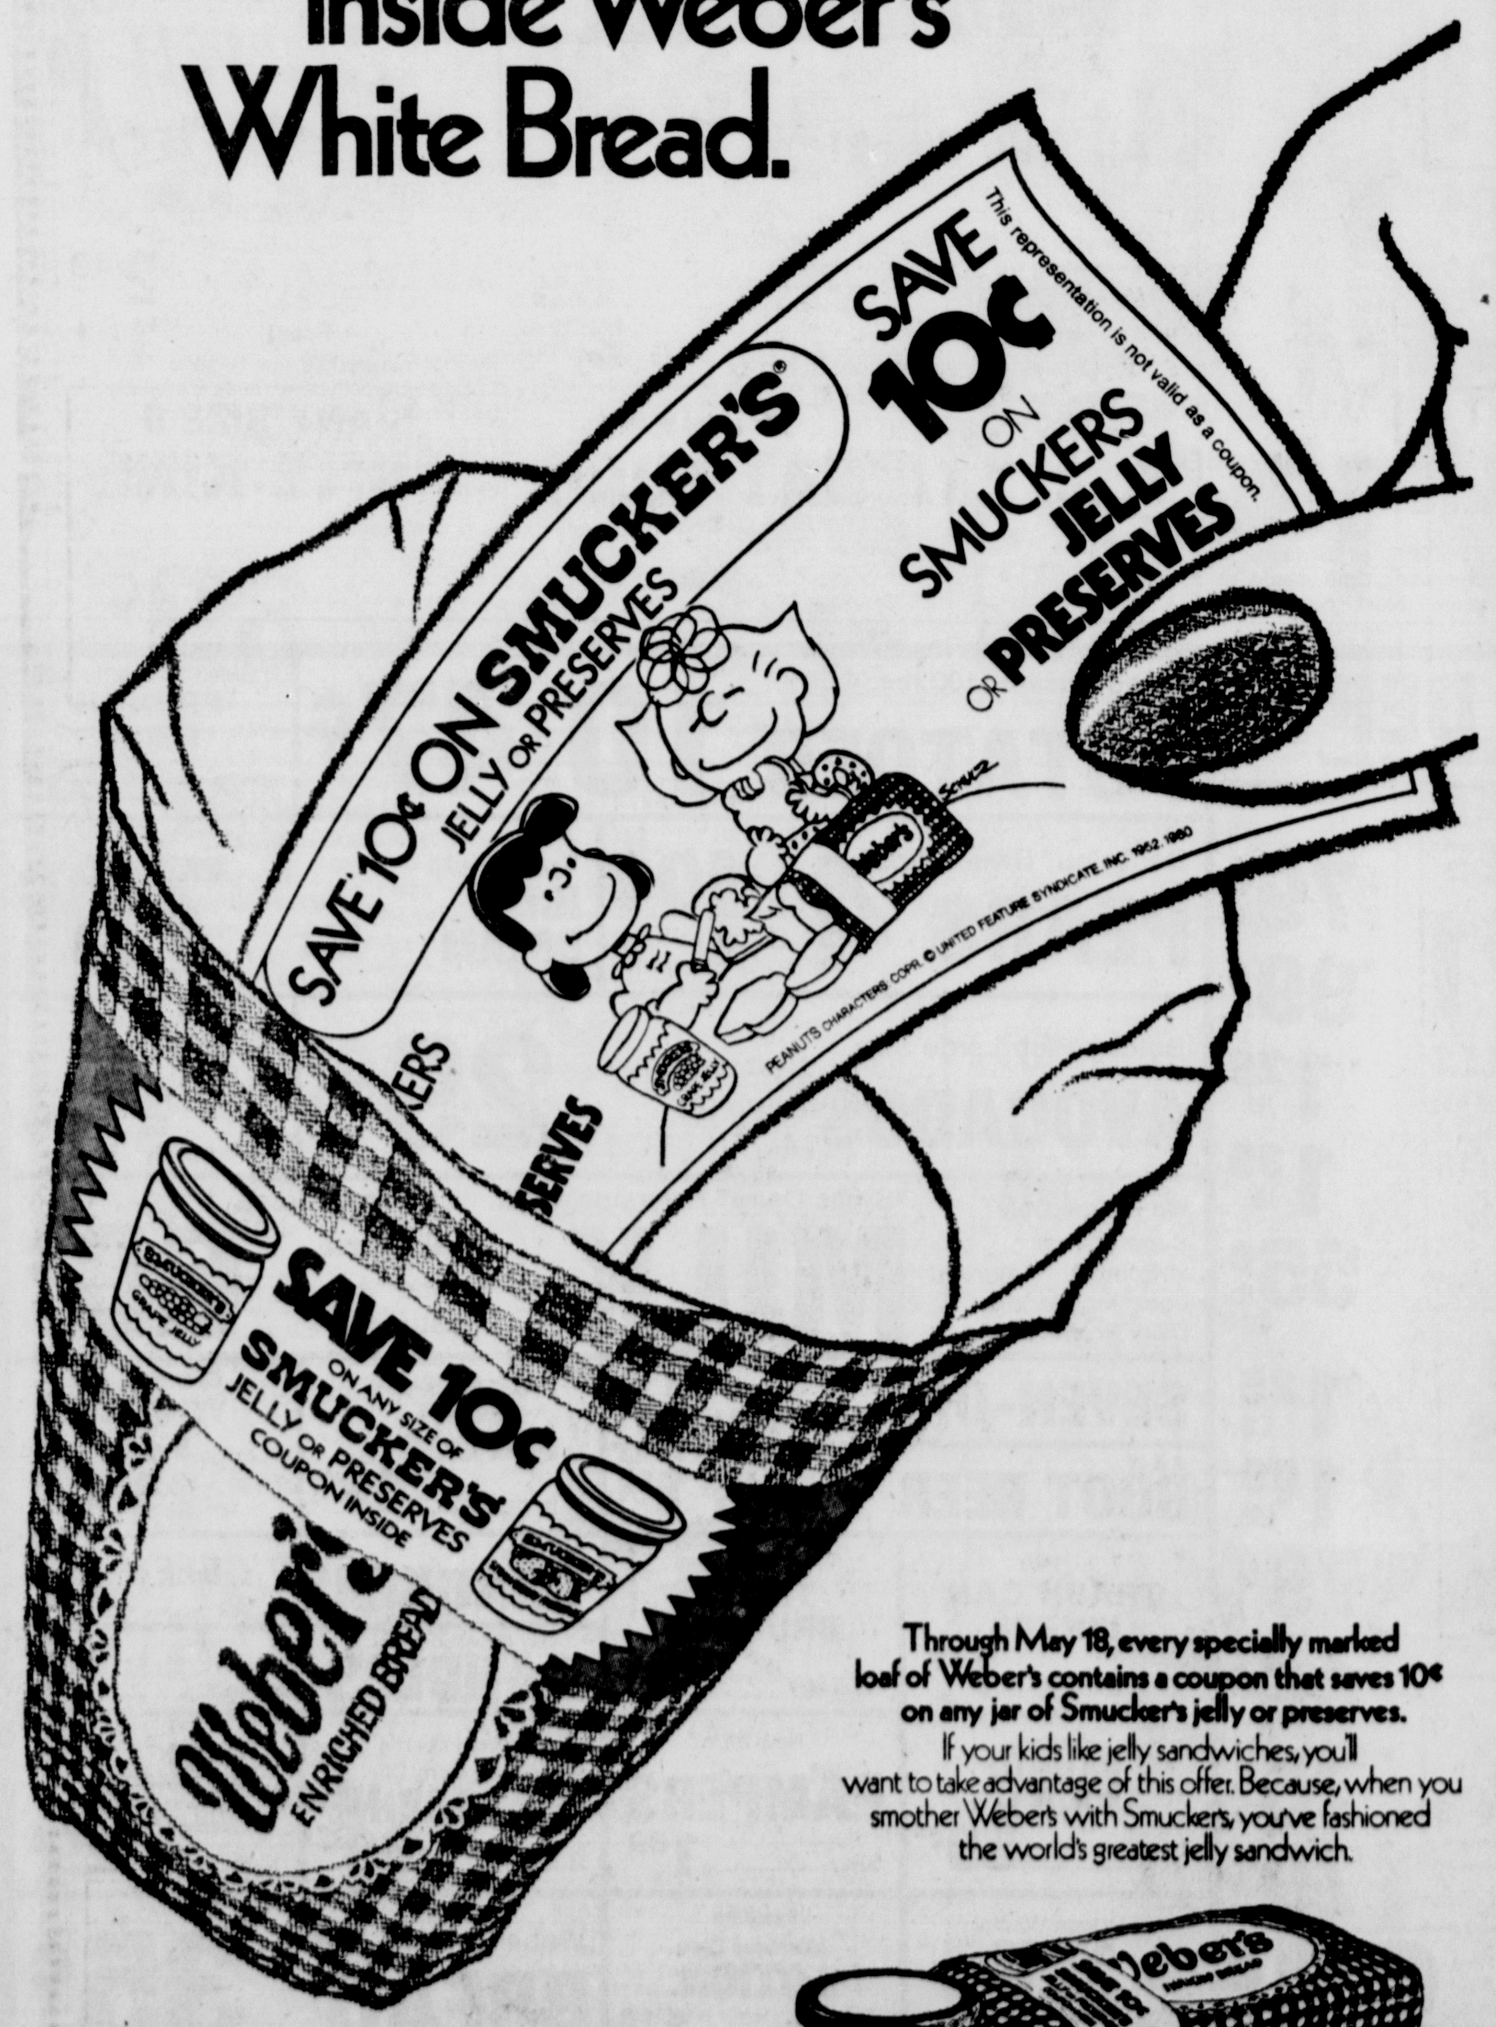
FRANK MEDLEY

- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 pound frankfurters, cut in 1-inch pieces
- 1 can (16 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 green pepper, cut in 1-inch pieces
- 1 jar (2½ oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- ¼ cup soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- ¼ teaspoon oregano

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Shake 1 tablespoon flour in small size (10" x 16") oven bag and place in two-inch deep roasting pan. Add frankfurter pieces, pineapple chunks, sliced onion, green pepper pieces and sliced mushrooms to bag. Mix soy sauce, vinegar and oregano; pour over mixture in bag. Close bag with twist tie; make six half-inch slits in top. Cook 40 minutes. Makes: 8 servings.

QUICK TO FIX — This favorite appetizer for the teen-age crowd was done by bag cooking. Best advantage of all is the lack of clean up mess after meal is prepared.

Look what's waiting for you inside Weber's White Bread.



Through May 18, every specially marked loaf of Weber's contains a coupon that saves 10¢ on any jar of Smucker's jelly or preserves.

If your kids like jelly sandwiches, you'll want to take advantage of this offer. Because, when you smother Weber's with Smucker's, you've fashioned the world's greatest jelly sandwich.

Four basic types of home style pickling

Joys of pickling are many.

To the contemporary culinarian, pickling is an exciting and tasty outlet. For the nostalgic, aromas of vinegar laced with herbs and spices conjures up fond memories of grandma's busy kitchen. To the economy-minded, pickling lets one capture the goodnes of in-season produce for out-of-season eating enjoyment.

For whatever reason, more people are returning to all forms of home canning. And pickling — food preserved by the combination of vinegar and heat — is one of the most popular canning techniques.

Within the pickling category, there are four basic kinds of pickles:

• quick process pickles . . . vegetables are prepared, simmered in spiced vinegar liquid, packed and processed.

• brined pickles . . . vegetables are prepared, soaked for several hours or overnight in a brine; then either packed, covered with boiling spiced vinegar and processed; or, simmered in the spiced vinegar, packed and processed.

• fruit pickles . . . such as watermelon rind, cantaloupe, pumpkin and pears are simmered in a spicy sweet-sour liquid, packed and processed.

• relishes . . a variety of vegetables that are chopped or coarsely ground, simmered in a spiced vinegar liquid then packed and processed.

To help ensure that foods are properly and safely packed, home economists offer these precautionary tips for home pickling:

• Select standard canning jars, caps or lids.

• Do not use jars and lids from commercially-packed foods; they are not suitable for home preserving.

• Be sure jars and closures are free from nicks, chips or cracks, dents or rust. Defects such as these will prevent air-tight seals.

• Never re-use canning lids.

• Canning jars may be re-used. Be sure to re-check jars for defects such as nicks, chips, cracks, dents or rust. Wash jars in hot soapy water. Rinse well in hot water. Keep jars in hot water until ready to pack with food.

• Use large stoneware, glass, pottery or unchipped enamelware containers for recipes that remain in a vinegar or brine solution for any length of time.

• Do not use copper, brass, iron or galvanized utensils. These metals may react with the acid and salt in the pickling liquid and cause undesirable color changes or form hazardous compounds.

• Use the varieties of cucumbers grown especially for pickling.

• Be sure to remove blossoms from the cucumbers. They can be the source of enzymes responsible for soft pickles.

• Select slightly underripe fruits since they retain their shape and texture after being pickled.

• Avoid soaking produce. This causes a loss of flavor and nutrients.

• Use only fresh spices, either whole or ground. Old spices impart a musty taste to preserve foods.

• Use pure granulated pickling salt or uniodized table salt. Iodized table salt causes pickles to darken.

• Use distilled white or apple cider vinegar with a consistent acidity to ensure proper preservation of foods.

• Use soft water since minerals in hard water may interfere with the pickling process or cause pickles to darken. If soft water is unavailable, boil water; then let it cool and remove scum.

• The use of alum and lime is not necessary for crisp pickles when good quality ingredients and standardized recipes and procedures are used.

• Follow recipe directions exactly; make small batches; never increase the recipe by doubling, tripling, etc.

Most recipes are designed for altitudes less than 1,000 feet above sea leve. For altitudes above 1,000 feet, adjustments in processing time should be made. Most comprehensive canning books and booklets contain information on altitude adjustment.

Survey shows DAs favor pot, sex liberalization

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A survey of 650 members of the California District Attorneys Association shows a majority favors liberalization of marijuana possession laws and the legalization of all sex acts between consenting adults.

The association issued a third resolution recommending that charitable lotteries, such as church-sponsored raffles and bingo, be legalized.

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Joseph Busch said that the individual district attorneys in the state's 58 counties retained the right to disagree with the majority recommendations.

Busch said his association stand on marijuana possession would reduce the offense "to no greater than a misdemeanor."

California law allows prosecutors the option of filing felony or misdemeanor complaints against persons accused of marijuana possession for personal use. Possession of marijuana for sale is a felony.

Once mistaken for traitor

Daniel Boone: frontier patriot

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

During the American Revolution Daniel Boone was captured by Indians and took to camp life so enthusiastically that fellow prisoners began to question his loyalty.

There was nothing wrong with Daniel Boone's patriotism — he was just having a good time. Boone dearly loved the wild life of the American frontier.

The wilderness was cruel to Boone at times. Indians tortured one of his sons to death. They cut off his brother's head while Daniel was running for his own life a few yards away. Another son died of an Indian bullet in the last battle of the Revolution.

But it was good to him, too. It provided a living. A good hunter could bring in several hundred deerskin in a season, with the market price sometimes as high as $5 dollars a skin.

And a man could breathe in the wilderness. Life close to nature was the next thing to heaven for Daniel Boone.

Once a band of hunters heard the most outrageous sound coming from the deep woods. Thinking they had discovered a new species of beast, they crept up to find Boone sprawled on the ground and singing at the top of his voice for sheer joy.

Two hundred years ago, as the American Revolution began, Boone was building Boonesborough, Ky., after cutting the Wilderness Road which opened the great American interior to settlement.

Boone was the complete founding father. He explored the land, blazed the trail, led in settlers, was elected to the provisional legislature that initially governed the new territory, and introduced one of the first laws enacted in Kentucky, a bill to protect the wildlife.

Then he did something which made him different from most explorers, the thing which made English America different. He went back and got his family. The frontier would be home.

Despite his reputation, Boone didn't enjoy fighting Indians. He liked them. But when it came to fighting, he could outshoot, outrun or outsmart just about anyone on the frontier.

Boone was a great soldier in one of the little known but dirtiest theaters of the Revolution, the western front where British officers and renegades led Indians against settlers.

While hunting food for a saltmaking party, Boone was captured in 1778 by Shawnees heading for Boonesborough. Knowing the outpost was unprepared and could not survive the attack, Boone talked the Indians into settling for the salt party instead and then talked his companions into surrendering to save the settlement.

The brave pioneers so impressed their captors that the Indians adopted them. Boone became the son of Chief Blackfish.

Boone feigned cooperation and at the same time told the Indians such tall tales of the invincibility of Boonesborough that they would not attack for all the prodding of their English mentors.

When the Indians finally returned to the warpath, Boone escaped and raced 160 miles in four days through the wilds to warn Boonesborough.

Forewarned, the settlement was able to survive the longest siege of the frontier war. Boone's own family had returned already to North Carolina, but he stayed to help with the fighting.

Boone had done such a good job of beguiling the Indians that some of the white captives believed his act. He was court-martialed but cleared by the grateful settlers he had saved.

As a militia officer, Boone remained active throughout the war. He was captured at Charlottesville, Va., while a delegate to the state legislature, but was released on parole.

In August 1782, 10 months after Yorktown, Boone joined a force chasing British-led raiders near present-day Lexington, Ky. Despite his warning that the Indian trail was a little too obvious, the frontiersmen rushed into an ambush and 70 of them were killed, including Boone's son Israel.

Born Nov. 2, 1734 near Reading, Pa., son of a Quaker immigrant from Exeter, England, Boone learned farming, weaving and blacksmithing from his father but developed a special interest in hunting and trapping.

When he was 16, the family moved to North Carolina. Five years later he joined Gen. Edward Braddock's expedition to Ft. Duquesne in the French and Indian War. Like the young George Washington, he was one of the few who survived.

For the rest of his life Boone spent as much time as he could in the back country across the Appalachians. Like most frontiersmen, he engaged in land speculation but had terrible luck with deeds and lost most of his holdings.

Boone was a civic minded sort despite his wanderlust. He reached the rank of lieutenant colonel in the militia, represented several districts in the Virginia Legislature and served as magistrate in Missouri where he settled late in life.

Daniel Boone lived to be almost 86, but he never grew too old for the forest. When he was 82, he wandered into Ft. Osage one day and an officer recorded:

"We have been honored by a visit from Col. Boone ... The colonel cannot live without being in the woods. He goes a hunting twice a year to the remotest wilderness he can reach; and hires a man to go with him, whom he binds in written articles to take care of him, and bring him home, dead or alive."

Our Bicentennial

Bicentennial bonds now on sale to public

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the same time it is sending tax rebate checks to American taxpayers, the Ford administration will be trying to sell new Bicentennial Savings Bonds.

If it looks like the government is offering to take back as savings the tax rebates it has encouraged taxpayers to spend on consumer items, that's exactly what it is doing, officials say privately.

But they said there is no calculated connection between the two actions.

"It's a Catch-22; we're damned if we do, and damned if we don't," said one official. He said the administration needs to support its Savings Bond program in addition to distributing money to stimulate the economy.

Governors of the 50 states are also being urged to buy $200 bonds as part of the sales promotion. But officials said it was only a coincidence that $200 happens to also be the maximum rebate under the government's $23-billion, tax-cut program.

One source said the Bicentennial Bond will be virtually the same as a regular U.S. Savings Bond, except that it will carry a special bicentennial design, such as George Washington crossing the Delaware River. Savings Bonds, which are issued in minimum denominations of $25, carry 6 per cent interest if held for five years.

One official said the Bicentennial Bonds are being issued to commemorate the nation's 200th anniversary and that it was not known there would be tax rebates when the bonds were originally proposed.

He said it was unlikely the bond sales would absorb a significant portion of the money being put into the economy through the tax rebates.

"Most of the people who buy the bonds will be buying bonds, or putting their money into savings accounts anyway," he said. "People who want to spend their rebates will go ahead and spend their rebates."

The U.S. government has about $64 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds outstanding. In 1974 the total increased only about $33 million after the amount in bond redemptions was subtracted from that of bond sales.

An official said money to finance the federal debt, which is partially caused by the tax cut, has to be raised by federal borrowing, which includes Savings Bonds as well as other forms of government securities.

Ford buys first bond

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford bought the first of a new series of bicentennial savings bonds last week and said the beneficiary was his wife, Betty, because "she expects to live a lot longer than I do."

Ford apparently was prompted to make the remark about the First Lady, who underwent breast cancer surgery last fall, because of recurrent speculation he would not seek election next year on account of her health.

In buying the $200 bond, which is like any series E savings bond except for its bicentennial name, Ford in effect was urging Americans to save with Uncle Sam at the same time the government is distributing income tax rebates aimed at promoting anti-recession spending.

The President told Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who played bond salesman for the occasion, that he plans to buy a $200 bicentennial bond each month. He called this a "very visible and sound way" to do something to help the country.

Noting that President Franklin D. Roosevelt bought the first series E bond 34 years ago Wednesday, Ford said:

Government officials said privately there was no calculated connection between Ford's purchase and the imminent mailing of rebate checks to taxpayers.

12 things to do with cottage cheese besides put it on a peach.

1. Cottage-Tamale Skillet.
Heat 2 tbsp. butter in large skillet with cover. Lightly brown 1 lb. ground beef and 1 chopped onion. Add 1 (16 oz.) can stewed tomatoes, 1 (17 oz.) can undrained whole kernel corn, 2 c. cottage cheese, 1 c. corn meal, 1 (4½ oz.) can chopped ripe olives, 2 tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. chili powder and ½ tsp. cumin. Mix. Top with 8 oz. sliced or diced mozzarella cheese. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

2. Strawberry Dessert Soufflé.
Dissolve 2 envelopes plain gelatin in 1 c. hot water. Cool. Beat in 1 c. small curd cottage cheese with 1 c. sugar until smooth. Beat in 2 tbsp. lemon juice, 2 (10 oz.) pkgs. frozen sliced strawberries. Chill until mixture begins to set. Fold in 1 c. whipping cream, whipped. Turn into 1 qt. soufflé dish with buttered foil collar. Chill until firm. Makes 6 servings.

3. Tuna Fromage.
Melt 2 tbsp. butter in skillet. Brown ½ c. rice and 1 c. chopped onion. Sauté until golden brown. Stir in 1 (6½ oz.) can tuna, 1 (10¾ oz.) can cream of mushroom soup, ¾ c. milk, 1 c. small curd cottage cheese and ½ tsp. each thyme and salt. Turn into 6 c. baking dish. Top with buttered crumbs. (2 tbsp. melted butter mixed with 1 c. soft bread crumbs.) Bake in 400° oven 30 minutes.

4. Heavenly Pancakes.
Separate 4 eggs. Beat whites until stiff. Set aside. Beat yolks until creamy; add 1 c. each sour cream and small curd cottage cheese. Sift ¾ c. pre-sifted flour with ¾ tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. sugar and add to cottage cheese mixture. Gently fold in egg whites. Drop batter by spoonfuls on heated and buttered griddle. Cook until bubbly; turn and brown other side. Makes twenty 4-in. pancakes.

5. Baked Potato Topping.
Beat 2 c. cottage cheese, 3 tsp. chopped onion, 1 tsp. seasoned salt and 1 c. shredded cheddar cheese until smooth. Serve on baked potatoes.

6. Zucchini Cheese Puff.
Cut 6 medium zucchini in large chunks. Simmer 5 minutes in salted water. Drain. Turn into shallow 1½ qt. casserole. Top with mixture of 1 c. cottage cheese, 1 c. shredded monterey jack cheese, 2 beaten eggs, ¾ tsp. each dill weed and salt. Bake uncovered in 350° oven for 15 minutes. Sprinkle with ½ c. soft bread crumbs tossed with 1 tbsp. melted butter. Bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

7. Corn Oysters.
Mix 1 (16½ oz.) can drained whole kernel corn, 1 c. small curd cottage cheese, 1 beaten egg, 1 c. biscuit mix, ¼ c. milk, ½ tsp. seasoned salt and 2 tbsp. chopped chives. Drop by spoonfuls into hot buttered skillet. Brown on each side. Makes about 12 large "oysters."

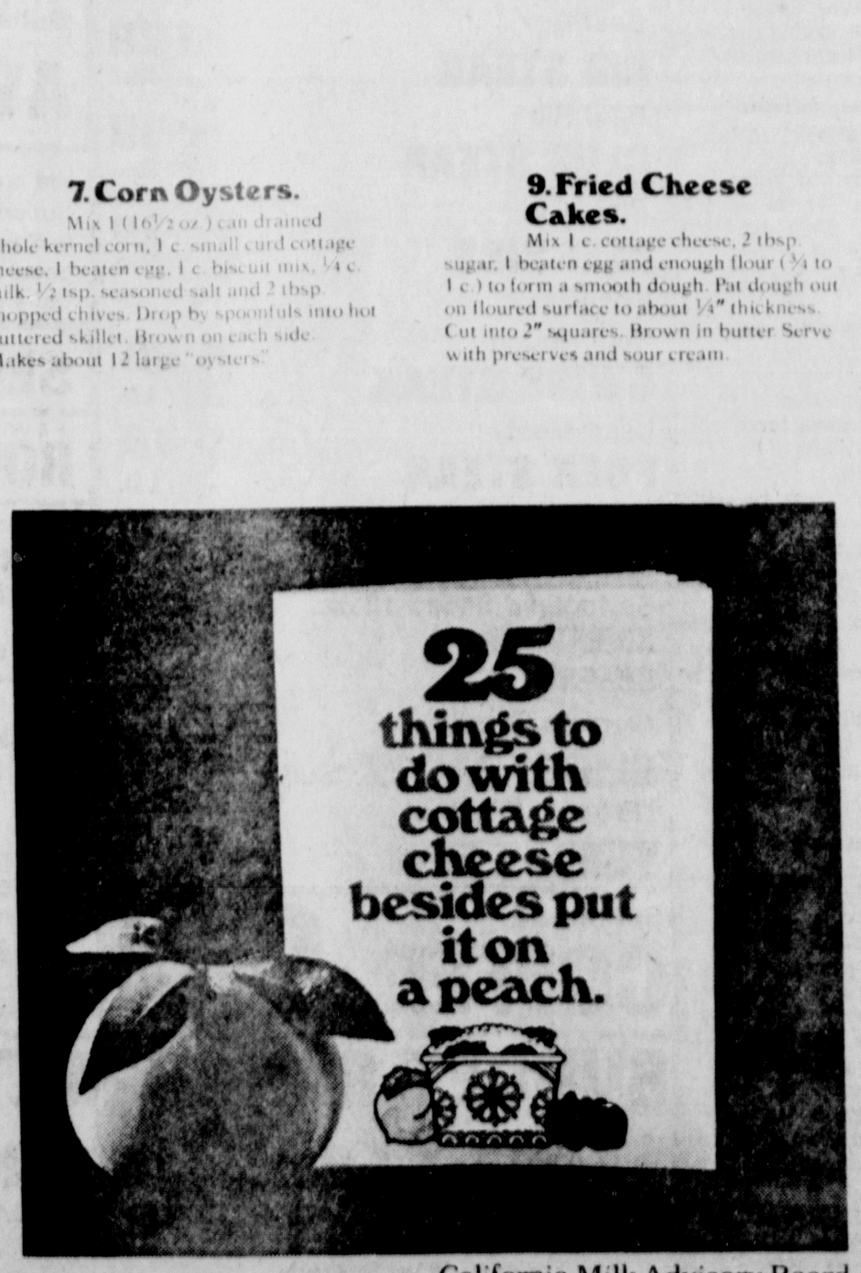
8. Cottage Cheese Crescents.
Blend ¾ c. softened butter, 2 c. small curd cottage cheese and ⅛ tsp. salt. Beat in 2 c. flour and continue beating about 1 minute until smooth and elastic. Divide dough into 4 parts. Roll to 9 in. rounds. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese. Cut rounds into 8 wedges. Roll each wedge, starting from wide end and curve into crescents. Bake on baking sheet in 400° oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 32 crescents.

9. Fried Cheese Cakes.
Mix 1 c. cottage cheese, 2 tbsp. sugar, 1 beaten egg and enough flour (¾ to 1 c.) to form a smooth dough. Pat dough out on floured surface to about ¼" thickness. Cut into 2" squares. Brown in butter. Serve with preserves and sour cream.

10. Cottage-Melon Salad.
Halve 2 cantaloupes and discard seeds. Partially scoop out pulp with melon ball cutter. Fill shells with 2 c. cottage cheese. Arrange melon balls around cottage cheese. Top with a mixture of 1 c. sour cream and ⅔ c. sliced strawberries. Makes 4 servings.

11. Cottage Noodle Bake.
Cook and drain 8 oz. medium noodles. Add 1 (6½ oz.) can drained tuna, 2 c. cottage cheese, 2 tbsp. each chopped parsley and green onion and 1 (10¾ oz.) can cream of shrimp soup. Top with buttered crumbs. Bake in 2 qt. casserole at 350° for about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

12. Quick Cottage Corn Chowder.
Mix 1 can (10¾ oz.) cream of chicken soup, 1 can (16½ oz.) cream style corn, 1 c. cottage cheese, 1 can (8 oz.) stewed tomatoes, ¾ c. milk, ¼ tsp. seasoned salt, 1 tbsp. chopped chives, 2 chicken bouillon cubes and dash of garlic powder. Heat gently. Makes about 5 cups chowder.



And that's only half the story. For more budget-stretching, protein-happy ideas look for our booklet "25 Things To Do With Cottage Cheese Besides Put It On A Peach" at the dairy case of participating grocers, now. Get it. You'll love it.

Consumer poll shows very little optimism

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans say they are managing to cope with inflation and recession, but they are pessimistic about the future and believe they do not have control over their economic well-being, according to a new survey of consumer attitudes.

The survey, released recently, was conducted by Yankelovich, Skelly and White, Inc., for General Mills Inc., and covered a sample of 1,247 families. The pollsters conducted 2,194 interviews in the last two months of 1974 and the first week of 1975.

Their findings showed Americans are trying to cut back — particularly in the area of electricity use — and, in some cases, are changing their definitions of necessities and luxuries.

Among the highlights of the report, released Tuesday:

—Eighty-three per cent of those interviewed said their families were doing very or fairly well personally.

—Sixty-two per cent said they had the same or a better standard of living than a year ago.

—Fifty-four per cent said they argued about money.

—Fifty-six per cent said they were insecure about their long-range economic future and 52 per cent reported they believe the country is heading for a depression.

—Sixty-five per cent said inflation was having a very or fairly serious impact on their families.

The pollsters said their survey showed that the economic crunch is having the most serious effect on families who ordinarily would be burdened with financial problems, including those who are at either extreme of the age scale; have incomes under $10,000 annually; or have children under 18 living at home.

People generally are more optimistic about their own family status than they are about that of the nation. While only 17 per cent of those interviewed reported that their families were doing badly, 79 per cent said the country was doing badly.

Forty-six per cent of those surveyed said they thought they could work out their own economic problems; 45 per cent said their well-being was interdependent with that of the nation; 9 per cent said they were not sure about what would happen.

The lack of self-sufficiency was more severe among those who said their standard of living is worse than it was a year ago. Fifty-eight per cent of this group reported their future was independent with that of the country.

The survey showed that Americans may be abandoning the idea of an automatic yearly increase in their standard of living. Forty-five per cent were described as resigned to the fact that next year may not be better financially.

The pollsters said the resigned group included mainly "those individuals who have had to face the realites of a declining standard of living, low income, racial barriers and old age."

The 55 per cent described as hopeful are generally parents of young children.

The most serious problem for many people, according to the survey, is the loss of value in investments and savings due to inflation. Thirty-five per cent cited loss of value in investments and savings as their main problem. Thirty-two per cent said their main problem was that they were not as well off financially as they expected. Twenty-eight per cent were worried about health problems and the same number expressed concern about unemployment. Only 10 per cent said their problem was not knowing how to handle money wisely.

The figures add up to more than 100 per cent because many people cited more than one problem.

Where is the money going?

More than half of those surveyed said that despite their efforts to cut costs, they are spending more on utility bills than they were a year ago. Thirty-six per cent said they were spending more on telephone bills; 36 per cent said gasoline cost them more. Among the items people are spending less on are hobbies, entertaining at home, gifts, dining out, cookies and candies and movies and theater.

Are lifestyles changing?

The pollsters reported that some items families have come to take for granted now are being considered as luxuries.

The continuing antiperspirant battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal ban on the sale of aerosols antiperspirants containing zirconium has been recommended by a Food and Drug Administration advisory panel because of the possibility they might cause serious and permanent lung damage.

The panel, acting recently, said zirconium-based sprays are only slightly more effective in stopping underarm wetness and not enough to warrant the health risk. Laboratory tests to establish whether the sprays are safe would take years, the panel of seven medical and scientific experts said.

But the group has studied for several months the safety and effectiveness of all antiperspirant compounds sold without a prescription. On that basis, it said:

"Because conclusive testing to establish the safety of zirconium-containing aerosol antiperspirants might take years to accomplish and because in that time millions of consumers would be unnecessarily subjected to risk, the commission should take immediate steps outside the normal over-the-counter drug process to stop movement of these agents in interstate commerce until safety testing has been done adequate to secure approval of a new drug application."

FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt took the panel's report under consideration.

The best selling zirconium sprays are Procter & Gamble's Sure and Secret brands. Carter-Wallace also has begun marketing Arrid XX, which also contains zirconium.

Procter & Gable said of the report: "There is no evidence of any health hazard resulting from the use of our products and any suggestion to the contrary by the advisory panel is pure speculation not supported by scientific data."

Carter-Wallace said its product "has been subjected to the most sophisticated and comprehensive testing program in the history of antiperspirants" which confirm the safety of Arrid XX.

Dido, according to Greek mythology, was founder and queen of Carthage and stabbed herself when deserted by Aeneas.

Tomatoes remain a popular favorite

INFLATION FIGHTER'S VICTORY GARDEN

By ALLAN A. SWENSON
(Eighth in a series)

America's most popular home garden crop, tomatoes are constantly being improved. Now you have a wide selection, whether you buy seeds to start your own transplants or shop for plants in garden stores. Because new hybrids have greater disease resistance and productivity built into their genes, they perform better in general.

If you wish to be different, you can also grow pink or orange tomatoes, or choose sizes from tiny cherry through larger plum to giant 3-pound scalebreakers.

You can usually buy the better varieties as transplants in starter pots or cubes. That way you plant pot and all, avoiding damage to roots and the resultant setback shocks.

Plant seeds 6 to 8 weeks earlier than you wish to transplant into your plot. During the final two weeks before planting, harden the tomato seedlings in cooler, 50-to-60 degree areas—even down to 50—so they'll be ready for those cool nights outdoors.

Light, sandy-loam soil is best for starting seeds. Any type of container can be used. We prefer the special peat pots so roots can grow through; then we just plunge pot and plant into the ground. Planting sideways has advantages for leggy seedlings. You tilt the plant over and bend the stalk gently up, then cover with soil. That way, roots also begin rapidly from the lower stalk, giving the plant a faster, stronger start. It sounds peculiar, but it works. Try a few that way.

Plant tomatoes in rows that are 3 to 4 feet apart if you plan to let them ramble. If not, stakes or wire hoops save space and keep fruit off the ground. If you stake or train tomatoes up, up, and away, they'll surprise you. With adequate fertilizer, they'll go 6 to 8 feet tall, depending on varieties, of course. Space trained tomatoes 18 to 24 inches apart.

For a copy of my new book, send name address and check or money order for $1.50 (plus 25 cents postage) to "Inflation Fighter's Victory Garden," c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Allow three weeks for delivery.

Remember, when you close the distance between plants to conserve precious ground area, you must compensate with more fertilizer and water. You're expecting more from that limited square foot of soil, so make sure it gets fed enough to feed your plants properly.

Pick the disease-resistant types to avoid fusarium wilt and other problems. Insects are easily controlled by sprays of dusts. But make sure those sprays you use are safe. Tomatoes are tempting, and both you and youngsters will tend to pluck a few and devour them on the spot. Wash the fruit to be extra certain no residues remain.

For top productivity, each spring till down balanced fertilizer. Apply more a few days after transplanting, and again when plants begin to bloom. Proper nutrition pays off in bigger, juicier tastier crops.

Recommended: Among early-maturing tomatoes, Spring Giant, an All America winner, is disease resistant yielding pound-and-a half fruit in 65 days.

Among the tiny tomaties, bit-size Basket Pak is perfect for salads or eating whole.

New Zealand cuts troops in Singapore

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — New Zealand today announced that it will pull most of its 1,000 troops out of Singapore.

Acting Prime Minister Robert J. Tizard told a news conference details of the withdrawal had yet to be drawn up, but the troops would be brought home over a period.

The move follows decisions by Britain and Australia to withdraw from the five-power defense arrangement with Singapore and Malaysia and comes three weeks after New Zealand Prime Minister William Rowling's visit to Singapore for talks with his counterpart, Lee Kuan Yew.

What does term 'grass fed beef' mean?

The term "grass fed beef" is popularly used to describe meat from cattle that have been fed only on range or pasture or have received a limited ration of grain before being marketed.

It is not an official government designation. These animals include steers and heifers that have not gone through feedlots and cows and bulls culled from the nation's breeding herd.

Younger "grass fed" animals are marketed at 12 to 15 months of age and weigh 600 to 800 pounds. These animals usually qualify for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Good grade.

Heavier animals — between 800 nd 1,000 pounds — are marketed at 15 to 25 months of age and normally grade USDA Good or Standard.

Cows and bulls usually are 6 or 7 years old when marketed. Beef from these animals is used in processed meats such as hamburgers or sausage products.

Baby beef — sometimes called calf — comes from very young cattle. Calves are marketed at weights between 350 and 550 pounds and have been fed mostly milk and grass. These animals are older and heaver than veal calves.

Baby beef is graded according to USDA calf grading standards. It usually qualifies for the Good grade, but some may receive the Choice designation.

Grass fed beef may be advertised and sold by store brands or by USDA grade. In some stores, baby beef (or calf) may be displayed separately from regular grain fed beef.

Usually it is cheaper per pound than grain fed beef. Some stores have offered certain cuts of "grass fed" beef at 50 cents per pound less than Choice grade beef.

Ices from Pleasure Faire

Roman emperors sent footrunners to the Alps to bring back snow for fruit-flavored ices. By the Elizabethan times, however, matters had improved greatly. The local pond yielded ice in the winter which was packed away in sawdust in ice houses to be used throughout the year.

But even in Elizabethan England, ices were a luxury and only noble families, landed gentry could afford them. In the truly liberal spirit of the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, however, merchants, minstrels, shepherds, clergy and even mere peasants may partake of these festive confections weekends through May 25 at the Old Paramount Ranch in Agoura.

Amidst the sights and sounds of the Faire's Elizabethan marketplace, one finds Jon Cooksey, purveyor of fyne frute ices. Belying his sixteen years, Jon is an expert on the making of these sunny weather specialties. And when the temperature climbs to eighty degrees at the Faire, the crowds gravitate toward Jon's wares . . . strawberry, orange, lemon and occasionally coconut-flavored ices.

Recreating the full flavor and quality of European fruit ices is a challenge. "Many times homemade ices are more like a sno-cone slosh," Jon says, "when they should be smooth, almost like ice cream."

Any basic fruit ice recipe takes a certain finesse, Jon points out. There has to be a balance between the fruit flavor and the sugar or else it is apt to turn to a sticky mess.

His advice for making fruit ices at home is to put the fruit through a juicer. "Grapefruit and lemon are the best thirst quenchers, but my customers at the Faire seem to prefer orange and the strawberry."

To get the smooth consistency that Jon's ices are noted for are not easy. The secret is mixing the ingredients while they are still frozen and the best way to achieve this is with an ice cream maker. Elizabethan ices were most often the result of a great deal of hard work by servants. An ice cream maker produces nearly the very same results-particularly useful if the household servants are otherwise occupied.

Following are basic recipes for two such warm weather desserts. Once you have mastered the art of making "English Frute Ices" you may experiment with other flavors as is your wont. Although Master Cooksey is not giving away all his secrets, you can taste them yourselves in fyne style at the Renaissance Pleasure Faire.

ORANGE ICE

Put in a bowl ½ cup sugar and ½ cup boiling water. Stir until dissolved. Cool. Add three cups orange juice; ¼ cup lemon juice and 2 tsps. grated orange peel (add more sugar water in aboved proportions if you wish it sweeter).

Freeze in a crank freezer or in a refrigerator tray — stirring often. Makes three pints.

LEMON ICE

Put in a bowl 2 cups of sugar and 4 cups of boiling water. Stir until dissolved. Cool. Add ¾ cup fresh lemon juice and 2 tsps. grated lemon rind.

Freeze in a crank freezer or in a refrigerator tray — stirring often. Makes three

Try substitutes for high priced sugar

There are ways to think of sugar other than for its sweetness.

Consider its higher price today, its supercalories and its effect on the body's health. Perhaps it is time to consider alternate sources of sweetness.

The dramatic increase in the price of sugar actually frightens many shoppers. Yet world demand, product shortage and energy costs are expected to keep prices up during 1975.

Even though prices are down slightly from $3.60 for a five-pound bag in 1974 (according to the New York City Department of Consumer Affairs) it is still a drastically high priced item at $2.86.

Therefore, some supermarkets use it as a "loss leader." They sell a five-pound bag below wholesale costs to attract customers at certain times. The trick is to watch for these sugar specials.

Also, always buy it in five-pound bags. It costs less than in one pound lots.

Per capita consumption of sugar in the United States is about 100 pounds. But only about one third of those 100 pounds are sold in the retail trade.

According to United States Department of Agriculture reports, 45 per cent is used in processed foods. These include canned and frozen fruits, baby foods, sugar-rich cereals, bread and cereals, cakes, pies and cookies and other foods.

The most startling figure is that 22 pounds per person are consumed each year in the form of soft drinks. Which may explain in part why the price of cola has jumped from 18 cents per 12-ounces a year ago to 30 cents today. The overconsumption of cola and its galloping costs rate serious adjustment, say leading nutritionists. Soft drinks supply the body only with flavor and calories.

Unfortunately certain sugar alternates such as honey and corn syrup are more expensive than sugar.

Corn on the cob favorite

Fresh fruits and vegetables in season are one of the best buys in the supermarket today. Now is the time when fresh golden corn is in excellent supply.

There are a few things to know about fresh corn to eat it at its best. One is how to determine the best quality and the other is how to cook corn when you get it home. These two things can make a day and night difference in your enjoyment of fresh corn.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association has good cues for buying corn. In good quality corn, the husk, or outer part, is a fresh green color while the kernels are tender, milky and well filled. They should be plump yet yielding when slight pressure is applied. Corn ears generally should be filled to the tip, with no rows of missing kernels.

If you see cobs with kernels that are very soft and very small, you can be quite sure that the corn is too immature.

Having applied these tests to fresh corn at market and found the best, the next thing is to cook it well. Many people overcook corn by as much as ten minutes. Corn should be cooked only until the milk in the kernels is set. It takes as little as 3 to 6 minutes.

If you're lucky, you'll have some ears of corn left over for the next day. An excellent way to use them is to cut the kernels from the cob and include them in an old-fashioned Corn Scramble made with eggs. It makes a fine, thrifty meal in these high-priced times.

Fresh corn requires very little cooking, and it is very important to cook it only until the milk in the kernels is set. Most vegetables become softer with longer cooking but corn does not; it becomes firmer or tough when overcooked.

Cook only 1 ear of corn per person at a time. Half fill a large kettle with water, add 1 teaspoon salt per quart of water, and bring to a boil. Add corn and boil, covered, just until milk in kernels is set, 3 to 6 minutes. Remove ears with tongs and serve immediately with butter or favorite sauce. Then begin to cook second batch.

Since the cooking time will vary with the size and even sometimes with the variety of corn, it can be helpful to cook a "test ear" to determine the exact cooking time needed, and then to time the cooking time very carefully for the rest of the ears. If it is necessary to cook corn ahead of the serving time, turn off the heat when the corn is added to the boiling water, then cover and let stand until ready to serve.

CORN SCRAMBLE

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup chopped fresh onion
- ¼ cup chopped fresh green pepper
- 2 cups cooked fresh corn cut from cob
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 8 eggs
- ¼ cup water

In large skillet melt butter. Add onion and green pepper; cook 5 minutes, or until tender. Add corn, salt, pepper and thyme. In medium bowl beat together eggs and water; add all at once to skillet. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until eggs are set. Serve immediately with sausage and grilled tomatoes. Makes: 4 servings.

Plain Talk ... about GROUND BEEF

Lucky ground beef is carefully prepared to give excellent quality in each of the two types offered.

Type	Fat Content Objective
Ground Beef	Approximately 25%
Extra Lean Ground Beef	Approximately 16%

Even with the most modern equipment and technology now available it is not possible to guarantee that every package will be at the fat content objective. Despite our best efforts, variances of up to five percentage points may well occur.

Our objective is that a pound of Ground Beef contain approximately 12.0 ounces of lean meat, and that a pound of Extra Lean Ground Beef contain approximately 13.4 ounces of lean meat. Tastes differ respecting the desired degree of leanness, and taste may well determine which type you select. The cost-conscious shopper should remember that the cost per ounce of lean meat is lower in Ground Beef than in Extra Lean Ground Beef.

Lucky ground beef ... like all meat at Lucky ... carries Lucky's Bond. Lucky Bonded means guaranteed customer satisfaction. If you are not fully satisfied, we will refund your money promptly.

Quick snacks for those unexpected guests

On those occasions when you offer refreshments to expected or unexpected company—be it a meeting at your house or just friends dropping in—the tendency is to think in terms of sweet accompaniments to beverages.

Coffeecake, cookies or pastries usually come to mind.

There is an alternative which is apt to be more appreciated by guests and has the advantage of being equally appropriate whether the beverage is coffee, tea, soft drinks or beer. That is to serve miniature sandwiches with a selection of tangy relishes.

All this can be accomplished with a minimum of trouble by utilizing Parkerhouse rolls for the diminutive sandwiches and keeping an assortment of interesting cold condiments stores in the refrigerator. Then, depending on the situation, you can prepare the simple cold cut sandwiches in the kitchen or place the fillings on a tray and let guests make their own. The prepared relishes are merely passed.

For peak flavor (definitely required if frozen), heat the Parkerhouse rolls gently in a low oven. Since these rolls have a delicate flavor, it's wise to subdue the pungency of mustard or catsup by blending beforehand with butter.

The suggested vegetable relishes go especially well with cold cuts but are great to add piquancy to many a dinner menu.

PARKERHOUSE SANDWICH TIDBITS

Partially separate warm Parkerhouse rolls and spread with mustard butter or catsup butter. Insert desired cold cuts (salami, ham, olive loaf, bologna) or spread with other sandwich fillings. Pass assortment of tangy relishes or condiments.

Mustard Butter

½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine and stir until well blended; chill until ready to use.

Catsup Butter

½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine and stir until well blended; chill until ready to use.

Easy Corn Relish

1 small onion, chopped
1 jar (14 ounces) pimiento, drained and chopped
1 can (12 ounces) kernel corn, drained
2 dill pickles, chopped

Italian salad dressing

Mix all ingredients together, using just enough salad dressing to coat all particles. Chill until ready to serve. Yield: about 2 cups.

Pineapple Cole Slaw

4 cups shredded green cabbage
2 carrots, shredded
1 green pepper, chopped
1 cup well-drained crushed pineapple mayonnaise

Combine all ingredients with enough mayonnaise to coat. Chill. Yield: 1 quart.

Pickled Chinese Cucumbers

1 cauliflower, broken into small flowerets
2 cucumbers, unpeeled, cored and diced
½ head green cabbage, cored and diced
6 green peppers, seeded and diced
1 carrot, diced
2 cups white vinegar
¼ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Cover cauliflowerets with water and simmer 5 minutes. Drain and add remaining ingredients. Simmer uncovered for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and let stand at room temperature for 5 hours. Pack into jars and store in refrigerator until needed. Yield: about 2 quarts.

Gouging on candy price hit

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to prevent movie theaters from "price gouging" on candy sales has cleared its first committee test.

The Assembly Criminal Justice Committee sent the measure, by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, to the Ways and Means Committee on a 5-0 vote.

The committee altered the bill to define "gouging" as any markup above 50 per cent of the wholesale price.

Cullen said he decided to act after "I found a theater charging 85 cents for a three-ounce candy bar that sold wholesale for 35 cents. A kid's whole allowance could go on one candy bar."

Oil profits may never exceed 1974

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Oil companies ran up profits last year that apparently will not be repeated this year and may never again be available, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The Tulsa-based magazine said in this week's issue that a study of 28 large companies showed a 40.6 per cent increase in profits in 1974 over 1973. But 25 of those companies reported a 29.3 per cent profit decline during the first quarter of this year, the Journal said.

Profits of the 28 companies totaled $13.6 billion, spurred mainly by energy prices that hit all-time highs, the Journal said.

"However, one company executive says such profits may never again be recorded," the Journal said. "He cites increased federal regulations and taxes, growing price control by oil producing countries, and soaring costs as reducing earnings of the large U.S.-based international companies."

The Journal reported gross operating revenues for the 28 companies rose nearly 75 per cent to $196.8 billion in 1974 and that stockholders' return on equity and on total assets increased 17.4 per cent and 8.8 per cent respectively.

Sutton is baseball's top winner

Cey, Garvey lead attack

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Sutton had just become the winningest pitcher in the major leagues with his 3-1 victory over the Houston Astros, his sixth win in seven decisions.

But the Los Angeles righthander wanted to talk more Tuesday night about hitting — his own — than his pitching.

"Our whole staff is a goodhitting pitching staff," said Sutton who barely missed pitching his second straight shutout when the Astros' Bob Watson homered with two out in the ninth inning.

"We don't embarrass ourselves, either. Walt (manager Walter Alston) even lets us hit-and-run."

Sutton scored what proved to be the decisive run when he singled in the fifth inning and was on base when Steve Garvey drilled a two-run single. It was Garvey's 22nd and 23rd runs batted in, tops in the majors.

Earlier, Ron Cey socked his seventh home run — most in the majors — off loser Doug Konieczny.

The victory was the Dodgers' 10th in their last 12 starts and maintained their 2½-game advantage over second place Cincinnati in the National League West.

The Dodgers will attempt to sweep the three-game series tonight when they send Andy Messersmith, 4-0, after his ninth straight victory over two seasons against Houston's Tom Griffin, 0-4.

Sutton, fanned eight Astros to run his National League-leading strikeout total to 60.

"I've said it before, Bob Watson is the toughest out in the league for me," Sutton said. "He's a super hitter, he's going to hit .300 and he'll probably hit .300 against me."

The Astros had gone 18 innings without a run — they were blanked on two hits Monday night — when Watson hit his home run.

But they didn't come close to a run for seven innings, restricted to just an infield single by Watson in the fourth. Singles by Milt May and Doug Rader with no one out in the eighth had Sutton in trouble. But he got out of it, nailing five batters in a row before Watson's home run.

Cey's homer gave Sutton a 1-0 lead, then Sutton opened the decisive fifth with a single to left. He was bunted to second by Dave Lopes. But then Konieczny walked Willie Crawford and Jim Wynn to load the bases. Garvey then drilled his single to center, scoring Sutton and Crawford.

DODGER DATA — Cey is way ahead of his pace. He didn't hit his seventh home run last year until June 5, which was the Dodgers' 54th game.

Garvey has hit safely in 24 of the Dodgers' 28 games.

The homestand finale tonight (7:30 p.m.) is Teen Night. All teenagers will be admitted to the reserved seat level for only $1.

Following tonight's game, the Dodgers depart for a sixgame road trip to Pittsburgh and St. Louis. Sunday's game against the Pirates will be televised by KTTV (Channel 11) at 10:35 a.m.

The Dodgers announced Tuesday there will be an aerial fireworks show at Dodger Stadium on July 4th following the 7:30 p.m. game against the Giants.

Bonita takes baseball title

By CRAIG TRAVIS
PB Correspondent

"They can't take it away now," said Bonita High's Harold Drake.

The Bearcats copped the Hacienda League baseball championship, for the second straight year, Tuesday afternoon with a 4-2 win over the Braves of Alta Loma.

If the city of La Verne were to hold an election today (for any office), H.P. Drake and his running mate Larry Franco would probably be shoo-ins.

The righthanded Drake hurled a complete-game, nine-hitter, drove in what turned out to be the winning runs with a two-run single in the third inning and tripled and scored an insurance run in the seventh frame.

Franco contributed a single and scored a run in Bonita's three-run third but the 5-9, 165-pound senior made his greatest contribution with his glove.

The speedy rightfielder made a diving catch of a low line drive off the bat of Alta Loma catcher Steve Hargraves, with two out and the bases loaded in the fifth and the 'Cats leading by a narrow 3-2 margin.

Hargraves slashed a 2-0 offering toward the rightfield foul line. Franco got a good jump on the ball, raced to his left, and in all probability "saved" the win for Bonita with his diving catch.

"The team did a super job today," said an elated Drake (now 5-1 for season), "an excellent defensive job. Larry's catch saved the day."

Besides Franco's game-saving catch in the fifth, first baseman Ron Pickenpaugh smothered a smash off the bat of Pete Vasquez in the bottom of the seventh that squelched a possible Braves uprising.

Bob Branchetti had led off the frame with a single to center and then Vasquez hit a shot heading for right field. "Pick" pounced on the ball, and while rolling over the base retired Vasquez while Branchetti advanced to second.

Drake then walked Alta Loma hitting star Tom Bright, who entered the contest with a .405 batting mark and had singled twice and walked intentionally in three trips to the plate, and got Anthony Vasquez to hit a ground ball to Beto Bernal at second, who forced Bright out at second base.

Hargraves ground out to shortstop Bill Bumstead for the final out.

The other brilliant defensive gem came in the first inning when Branchetti walked and Pete Vasquez lined a fastball headed for left-center. Bumstead raced to his left and backhanded the smash, turned a doubled Branchetti off first base.

Drake, in hurling Bonita to its second H.L. flag and the school's fourth league championship, allowed nine hits, walked five and struck out three while pitching with a sore arm.

"My arm didn't hurt at the end. I seemed to get stronger towards the end," continued Drake. "Because of the wind and cold and because he (the umpire) had a small strike zone, I stayed with my fastball in the later innings."

Coach Dick Salomon, between ecstatic handshakes from his players and embraces from his wife, somehow said, "I'm so happy. This is a great bunch of guys." The Bearcats will have a week's rest before the CIF 2-A playoffs begin Tuesday.

Eight share record

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Eight golfers share the record for 31 strokes for the first nine holes in the Masters golf tournament.

They are Craig Wood, Cary Middlecoff, Ken Venturi, George Bayer, Jack Nicklaus, Roberto de Vicenzo, Mason Rudolph and Tommy Aaron.

Angels fail to protect their lead

OAKLAND (AP) — Pitcher Ken Holtzman of the Oakland A's thinks he is a little better than his record might indicate.

He pitched 6 1-3 strong innings against the California Angeles Tuesday night but didn't get the decision in a 5-3 victory for Oakland. He was taken out by Manager Alvin Dark after he walked Lee Stanton with one out in the seventh inning.

"I couldn't believe he took me out," Holtzman said. "I thought I was pitching very well."

Holtzman was unhappy about leaving the game with a 2-1 lead and a chance to win his second game of the season. He got even madder when the Angels went ahead 3-2 in the seventh inning on a two-run pinch single by Joe Lahoud off relief pitcher Rollie Fingers.

Holtzman still has a 1-3 record and feels that with a little luck he could have a 7-0 record instead.

The A's came back to win by scoring two runs in their half of the seventh inning.

Claudell Washington tied the score with a leadoff home run and Sal Bando doubled to score pinch runner Matt Alexander with the winning run.

Dark said he took out Holtzman because he was working with only two days rest and had thrown more than 100 pitches. "Our bullpen was ready so I let them do it," Dark said.

Manager Dick Williams of the Angels blamed his inexperienced bullpen for the defeat.

The A's scored the winning run off Don Kirkwood who replaced starter Ed Figueroa after Washington's home run in the seventh.

"Our relief pitchers are young and they are better than last year. But they still need experience," Williams said.

The A's and Angels continue their series tonight with Vida Blue, 5-1, pitching for Oakland against Bill Singer, 2-3.

Barry evens series

OAKLAND (AP) — Rick Barry came out a winner in "one of the most memorable games I've ever played in."

And after scoring 36 points Tuesday night, leading the Golden State Warriors to a comeback 111-106 victory over the Chicago Bulls, Barry isn't haunted quite so much by the fatal mistake he made two games earlier.

"Thank God it's even now," the Warriors' star said after doing his bit in squaring the National Basketball Association Western Conference finals at two games apiece.

The fifth game is scheduled here Thursday night.

The Bulls blew a 19-point lead in the fourth game of the best-of-seven series, but guard Norm Van Lier vowed later, "We're going to win the playoff."

Chicago has a 2-26 all-time playoff record in road game, but Van Lier feels, "We're the better team, and we're going to prove it."

There were no flat predictions of victory from the Warriors, but Barry noted, "It's a three-game series now, and we'll have the homecourt advantage twice."

Barry, in Game 2 at Chicago, threw up a foolish shot in the closing seconds, giving the Bulls the ball and the opportunity they needed to pull out a 90-89 victory.

The Warriors' forward and his teammates started off miserably Tuesday night, trailing 35-18 after one quarter and by 39-20 early in the second period. Jeff Mullins came off the bench to score eight points in the second period, Barry added six and it was 52-50 Chicago at halftime.

"We kept our composure," said center Clifford Ray, who grabbed 18 rebounds for the winners.

The third period was even, but the Warriors overtook the foul-troubled Chicagoans in the final period. Barry had 26 of his points in the second half.

"We lost it at the foul line," Chicago Coach Dick Motta said, looking at the Bulls' final statistics which included 20 missed free throws.

But guard Jerry Sloan, whose 22 points were second high to Bob Love's 27 for Chicago, differed with his coach.

"The turning point was when we were the dominant team and were getting into foul trouble. I still can't figure out how that happened," he said, implying the Warriors owed officials Don Murphy and Jake O'Donnell thanks for helping them in the second period.

Buffalo wins in overtime

BUFFALO (AP) — It is unlikely that Rene Robert's contract calls for overtime pay and he admits he doesn't like putting in extra time on his job.

Nobody, he said of his Buffalo Sabres teammates and himself, "likes an overtime game. One mistake and you're gone."

Neither Robert nor the Sabres made a mistake in Tuesday night's sudden-death overtime and Buffalo, on Robert's low shot, defeated the Montreal Canadiens 5-4 in Game 5 of their National Hockey League semifinal playoff.

The victory gave the Sabres a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series with Game 6 to be played in Montreal Thursday night and, if necessary, the seventh scheduled for Sunday here.

Gil Perreault, center on Buffalo's high-scoring French Connection line that includes Robert and Rick Martin, won a faceoff, skated up ice with the puck and fed it to Robert.

"Before the puck is dropped in a faceoff, I usually pull back," Robert said. "But I said before this one, 'Heck. I'm going to move in this time.' I just gave the puck a beating."

Buffalo won the first two games of the series at home, 65 in overtime and 4-2, then dropped 7-0 and 8-2 games in Montreal.

The Connection failed to score a point in the second, third and fourth games and Robert was asked about the line's morale.

"Put it this way," he answered. "Nobody playwed well in Montreal. We took two beatings and I think it was good for us. We came back home, worked hard for two days and it paid off."

"We played a little better tonight than we did in Montreal," he said, adding: "It was kind of nice to see the French Connection get the winner. They've been taking their lumps. Maybe this will get them going."

Allen, Phillies back together

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves today traded slugger Dick Allen and catcher Johnny Oates to the Philadelphia Phillies for three young players and cash.

Allen, the American League home run champion last year with the Chicago White Sox, had refused to play in Atlanta but had expressed an interest in playing again for the Phillies.

"The deal is satisfactory in view of the fact Allen did not want to play in Atlanta," said Braves Vice President Eddie Robinson.

In return for the rights to Allen, the Phillies dealt minor league outfielder Barry Bonnell and minor league catcher Jim Essian to the Braves. The Braves also will receive a Phillies minor league player at the end of the season.

Bonnell, 22, was the top choice in last January's free agent draft. The outfielder hit .350 for Ohio State last season and currently is playing in Spartanburg in the Class A Western Carolinas League.

Essian, 24, hit .282 last season for Toledo in the International League and has been playing for Reading of the Class AA Eastern League this year.

Robinson said he had been negotiating with the Phillies since they claimed Allen on waivers.

"I feel that if we can get two outstanding young players for him we are better off than having him play here unwillingly or not play here at all," Robinson said

"Johnny Oates was put in the deal because he has been unhappy in his role as a second string catcher in Atlanta," Robinson said.

The Braves, who obtained rights to Allen from the White Sox for $5,000 and a player to be named later, still have an obligation to the White Sox.

Robinson said a player will be dealt later to Chicago to complete that deal.

Three innings away

Mounties nearing playoffs

By MIKE RAWLINSON
PB Staff Writer

Mt. San Antonio College has only three innings left to play in the regular season this year. But for Coach Art Mazmanian and his baseball team, they may be the longest innings of 1975.

The Mounties remained deadlocked for first place in the South Coast Conference standings with Cerritos Tuesday as righthander Larry Pekarcik stifled San Diego Mesa on four hits in a 6-2 victory.

The Mountie flamethrower fanned eight and walked only one to set a school record for strikeouts in one season. He has 105. Harry Morse fanned 101 for the Mounties in 1966.

The final three innings of the season will be played Thursday at MSAC against Santa Ana. A full nine inning game was played April 14 with the Mounties winning, 3-0. Santa Ana Coach Jim Reach protested the game on the removal of his pitcher, Ed Nichols, by the umpire in the seventh inning.

The Mounties were leading 1-0 at the time, men on first and third, no outs. That's the way it will begin Thursday at 2:30.

While the Mounties replay that one, Cerritos will visit Fullerton for a 2:30 game.

If both teams win they will finish with 15-5 South Coast records and a playoff—perhaps Saturday — will be necessary to determine the conference champion and representative to the Southern California junior college tournament which begins, Friday, May 16.

Pekarcik, who has had incredible success with Mesa this season, saw his magic disappear in the first inning Tuesday.

The Olympians touched him for three hits and two runs. In 18 innings previously against the southern team, the former Damien High star had given up no runs and only five hits while striking out 27 batters.

But just as easily as he lost his touch with the Olympians he regained it, issuing one hit, a double to catcher Paul Contreras in the third.

After scoring once in their half of the first, the Mounties retired Mesa starter Fred Westfall with a five-run fifth inning.

Ron Roenicke started it with a walk. He stole second and scored on Javier Fierro's line-drive single up the middle. Marty Shepherd followed with a bunt to sacrifice Fierro to second, but the Mesa third baseman threw the ball over the first baseman's head and Fierro went to third, and Shepherd to second.

Frank Marini, who was batting only .241 going into the contest, delivered his second extra base hit of the game, a triple to right center to score Fierro and Shepherd. Marini scored on a sacrifice fly by Gary Adair. Tracy Cowger finished the scoring with a single up the middle that got by the centerfielder for a three base error and the fifth run of the inning.

Marini was the batting hero for the Mounties, collecting two of their six hits. He doubled in the first and scored on Mike Parkinson's single.

The victory upped Pekarcik's record to 8-3 with a 2.38 ERA. He probably won't see action again until the playoffs — if the Mounties make it. Lefthander Jim Vallone (5-2, 1.96 ERA) will throw for MSAC Thursday. Righthander Terry Jacob (9-1, 1.69 ERA) will be in relief.

Mets sign Colton star

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets announced Tuesday the signing of righthanded pitcher Rick Sander of Colton, Calif., their third choice in last January's free-agent draft.

He will report to the Mets' minor league complex in St. Petersburg, Fla.

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Some stables, trainers and jockeys are thrilled to get one or two winners on the same program. But Audley Farm Stable, trainer Mark Wallerstedt and jockey Burl McBride turned in a consecutive triple at Garden State Park here on Feb. 18.

Their winners were Star Fanny in the feature race, De Soto King and Green Is Beautiful.

Change to night

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Expansion of the University of New Mexico football stadium will be completed in time to permit some 1975 season games to be played at night. University officials had announced earlier that all six home games would be played in the afternoon.

Contractors have assured athletic department officials that the Fresno State, Colorado State and Arizona State games in September and October can be played at night.

The first day game will be Oct. 18 against Utah.

WAC attendance up

DENVER (AP) — A new attendance record was established among Western Athletic Conference schools during the 1974-75 basketball season.

For the first time, more than one million persons viewed 119 home games involving the eight league schools in New Mexico, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Arizona and Texas.

University of New Mexico topped the mark with 210,381 fans for 15 home dates.

'Pack netters win

Claremont slipped by Ganesha in tennis Tuesday afternoon, 18-10, as the doubles teams of Jeff Arce and Mark Christian and John Erickson and Ty Martin swept their matches.

Ganesha took the singles portion of the competition as Rob and Dave Stull combined to win six of eight matches.

Greg Kaufman helped Claremont in singles by winning all four of his matches.

The San Antonio League Tourney is scheduled next Tuesday at the Rodeway Inn.

'Pack cinches second place

By MARK GRIP
PB Correspondent

Claremont High won its sixth straight game in San Antonio League play, scoring two runs in the sixth inning and going on to defeat Ganesha, 3-1, with the help of John Huddleston's one-hit pitching Tuesday at Ganesha.

The victory puts the Wolfpack in second place all alone due to Montclair's loss to Chino, 5-2. Montclair and Claremont went into Tuesday's game tied for second, three games behind league leader Damien.

Claremont will go into Friday's game against Damien with an 9-4 league record. The worst the 'Pack can do is a tie for second with Montclair. Claremont is now assured of a playoff berth, win or lose.

Huddleston allowed only three base runners in his one-hit gem. The only hit was Ron Lopline's triple, which led to the Giants only run in the fourth inning. The "Hud," pitching with expert control, struck out three and walked one. Huddleston retired 11 consecutive batters after the fourth inning run in upping his SAL record to 3-2.

Rob Haerr led off the Claremont sixth with a single and was sacrificed to second by Huddleston. Tim Helton then hit a grounder to pitcher Joe Jones who caught Haerr trying to go to third. Helton then stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Jim Tullis followed with a single up the middle to score Helton with the tying run.

Tullis went to second on Dan Thomas; single and scored on Gregg Thompson's single to left with the go-ahead-run.

The 'Pack scored an insurance run in the seventh as the result of two hits and two errors.

Paul Sokolowski singled with one out and was sacrificed to second by Haerr. Scott Davis, hitting for Huddleston, hit a ground ball to shortstop Wayne Smith who couldn't pick it up. Sokolowski took third and scored when Smith threw low to the plate.

Dan Houck's squeeze bunt in the bottom of the fourth was enough to bring Lopline home after an infield out.

Joe Jones suffered the loss on the Giant mound, dropping his record to 0-6. Jones struck out seven, walked one, giving up seven hits. Ganesha will visit Upland Friday while Claremont will host Damien. Both games will start at 3:15 p.m.

Cavs' playoff bid dimmed

Chino triumphs

By GRAHAM CROW
PB Correspondent

Chino High baseball coach Jim Rawls called it a "victory for law and order." But for Montclair it was more a case of "never on Mundee."

Montclair's hopes for a CIF playoff bid were dealt a crushing blow Tuesday afternoon as the Cavs fell to Chino's Keith Mundee 5-2 on the loser's field.

Rawls' remark was in reference to his depleted team's condition as only two regulars are on hand following last week's suspension of several players.

"This was a very big game for us," commented an excited Rawls. "The players we still have with us have done things the right way and we wanted to prove that they could still accomplish some very good things this year."

What Chino did accomplish was to put Claremont into the playoffs along with San Antonio League champion Damien.

Montclair, now 8-5 in league play, still has a chance to tie for second, and hope for a playoff bid. But for this to happen, the Cavaliers must defeat Pomona on Friday while Claremont is losing to Damien.

Actually Montclair has no one to blame but itself for the loss as five walks in the first inning gave Chino all the runs it needed during the day.

Larry Herndon, an outfielder, is the youngest member on the roster of the St. Louis Cardinals. He'll be 22 on Nov. 23. He lives in Sunflower, Miss. He stole 50 bases for Arkansas in 1974.

It was Brent Jetton's turn on the mound for Tommy McFadden's crew, but the versatile lefthander had a slight touch of the flu remaining so Dan Pierce, who struck out 16 batters last Friday, started.

Pierce picked up where he left off by striking out Rick Riedel to open the game but then lost sight of home plate completely and walked the bases loaded.

McFadden, not wanting to take any chances, brought in Jetton right away from first base, but without the proper amount of time to warm up, Jetton was hardly effective.

Mundee greeted him initially with a sharp single to drive in one run and then Jetton hurt himself by walking the next two batters, forcing a run each time.

Joe Pickens culminated the Chino scoring in the fifth with a deep drive to left over Rick Adams' head. John Lusk, who had collected his second single earlier, scored ahead of Pickens on the round-tripper.

Meanwhile, Mundee was sensational as he continuously had Montclair off stride with his changing speeds. Keith had a no-hitter entering the sixth when Mike Medeiros hit only the second ball out of the infield for a clean single. Rick Adams' double and an error led to both of Chino's runs.

For the game, Mundee gave up only three hits, all in the sixth inning and struck out seven while walking only the lead-off hitter of the game.

The Montclair pitching staff rebounded quite nicely from the first frame disaster as Pierce, who came back in during the sixth, and Jetton struck out 12 Cowboys.

Poly beats UCLA

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Correspondent

Somewhere, Clyde Russell is smiling.

The Cal Poly Broncos, dedicating the contest to their recently departed number-one fan, rallied for four runs in the last of the eighth to overcome UCLA 5-3 Tuesday afternoon at Kellogg Field.

The Poly ballers took the field on a somber note, having learned of Russell's death just hours before gametime. But their spirits didn't lag once the contest began, as they rallied from a 3-0 deficit to deal the powerful Bruins a defeat.

The style of the victory would have made Russell proud. The scrappy Broncs used clutch hitting, nifty fielding and an outstanding relief job by Bruce MacPherson to notch the triumph.

Down 3-1 entering the last of the eighth, Poly put together two walks, Kevin Thornhill's bunt single, and a booming double to left-center by John Springman to knot the score at 3-3.

UCLA relief pitcher Floyd Pifer almost got out of the jam by fanning Dale Biggs for the second out of the frame, but Pete Alexander stepped to the plate and promptly laced a ringing single to center to drive home the winning runs.

the Uclans jumped ahead 2-0 in the fourth on two walks, a hit batsman, and Bob Gaylord's single. They made it 3-0 in the fifth as Bronco southpaw Howard Ashlock walked four UCLA batters to force across a run.

From that point, it was all Poly. Alexander's triple in the last of the fifth set up Clay Harris' RBI groundout, making it 3-1. Tough relief hurling by Ashlock and MacPherson proceded to hold the Bruins bats to only one hit in the final five frames, giving the Broncs a shot at their big eighth-inning comeback.

McPherson hurled the final three frames, striking out three Bruins to notch the victory. It was his second of the season against three losses.

Is was a doubly sweet win for the rebounding Broncos. Not only did it improve the Poly season mark to 14-24-1, it also revenged an earlier 2-1 loss at UCLA.

Most importantly, however, it was a victory for "Ol' Clyde." Russsell, a longtime coach of high school baseball in the East, had "adopted" John Scolinos' ball club when he moved to the local areaseveral years ago and had helped tutor the Bronco squad. Although in failing health the past year, Russell had faithfully attended Poly games and had been out to see the Broncos play as recently as last Saturday.

Coach Scolinos' improving squad will now tackle California Collegiate Athletic Association foe UC Riverside in a three-game series starting Friday at Kellogg Field. Friday's starting time is slated for 2:30 p.m., with the two teams meeting in a Saturday twinbill at 12 noon.

Owls open new season in playoffs

Northern Division champion Citrus College opens a second season on its home field Thursday hoping the result will be the Mission Conference baseball title and a berth in the Southern California tournament.

The Owls completed the regular season Monday with an 8-3 setback to Saddleback, the team they face Thursday at 2:30 p.m. The game was a replay of a previous contest which was protested by Saddleback.

With the victory, Saddleback gained the playoffs over Grossmont.

Righthander Ron Walton (9-2) will start for Coach Skip Claprood's Owls who are 28-8 overall and 17-5 in conference play.

While the Owls tangle with Saddleback, Southern Division titlist San Diego (18-6) hosts Riverside in a playoff.

The winners of the two playoff games meet Saturday to determine the Mission Conference championship.

The Owls will have four .300 hitters in the lineup for the playoff game. Centerfielder Greg Johnston (.355), shortstop Todd Ervin (.348), first baseman Dave Hostetler, leftfielder Jim Ayres (.316) and second baseman Gary Bach (.304) set to start.

Johnston is the leadoff hitter. He's followed by Ervin, rightfielder Kim Eppard (.282), Hostetler, catcher Worth Valentine, Ayres, designated hitter Frank Convertino, third baseman Joe Sansom and Bach.

Southland racing

Sunday will see the more exotic bikes face off for big money. Racing begins at 9 a.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday. DeAnza is eight miles east of Riverside Raceway on highway 60.

Jennings heads Hacienda trackers

By KEVIN CLOE
PB Staff Writer

Ontario High sprinter Marcus Jennings will be the headline attraction Tuesday afternoon when the Hacienda League stages its track and field finals at Chaffey College.

Jennings, who holds the best mark in the state in the long jump at 24 feet, 1¼ inches, is favored to dominate the short sprints and the long jump in the finals.

Field events are scheduled to get underway at 4 p.m., with the running events scheduled to get the gun at 4:30 p.m.

Also, the league's girls teams will conduct their finals at the same time.

Jennings has held the top marks in the league all year in his three events. His best time in the 100 was last week at the prelims in a wind-aided 9.8 seconds. He also ran a 22.4-second 220 in the prelims.

Other individuals who figures to be favored include Ontario's John Skeete (51.0) and Gil McCroey (51.0) in the 440, McCroey (1:59.1) in the half mile, Royal Oak's Doug Moore in the two mile (9:55.8), Ontario's Jim Donaldson in the 120 high hurdles (14.5) and Royal Oak's Dave Kellogg in the 330 lows (39.8).

In the field events, the favorites will be San Dimas' Colin Fenderson in the high jump (6-4¼), Jennings in the long jump, San Dimas' Tony Atkinson and Gladstone's Harry Hindman in the pole vault (13-6), and Gladstone's Mark Velasquez in the shot put (56-2).

Leopards no-hit Caltech; APC crushes Cal Baptist

La Verne College took over undisputed possession of second place in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIA) Tuesday as four Leo pitchers combined for a no-hitter.

The Leopards (11-5) rolled to an easy 11-1 victory over hapless Caltech. Meanwhile, Redlands (9-7) edged Occidental (10-6) to drop the Tigers into third.

In other games, Whittier beat Pomona-Pitzer 10-3 and Azusa Pacific walloped Cal Baptist, 10-1, in an NAIA divisional game.

At La Verne, Paul McGuire, Dan Quinsenberry, Steve Iles and Tony Williams combined for a no-hitter.

The Caltech run came in the very first inning when McGuire hit two batters. The runners advanced on a passed ball and one run scored on an infield out.

Strangley, McGuire didn't walk anyone in his four-inning stint. He struck out four. Quisenberry struck out the side in the fifth inning. Isles and Williams each fanned one in their inning of work. Caltech conceded after 6½ innings.

The Leopards (19-15-1 overall) tied the game in their half of the first on Jim Sherman's doubles and an error on a pickoff throw. The Leos iced it with a six-run second highlighted by a two-run home run by Mike Pagnotta and a three-run roundtripper by Nick Leyva.

At Pomona College, visiting Whittier scored four runs on four hits, a walk and an error in the first inning, came back for four more in the third on two walks, a wild pitch, an error, a single and a three-run homer by Dana Tunison, and added two in the sixth.

The Sagehens' Jim Dembowski cracked his first homer of the year for one run, then drove in the second with an eighth inning single and walked in the ninth with the bases loaded for for the third run.

La Verne winds up regular season play with two games at Caltech Saturday and Pomona-Pitzer has two at Whittier.

At Riverside, Azusa Pacific mauled Cal Baptist for 20 hits including four home runs.

Paul Moskau slugged his 13th roundtripper while registering his ninth win against five losses. He sturck out seven.

The Cougars, now 11-9 in division play and 25-19 overall, were slated to host Claremont-Mudd, 20-10, at 3 p.m. this afternoon.

Freshman Bob Murphy played second base for APC Tuesday and went 3-for-4 including a double. Mark Barrier had a home run and two singles in five at-bats.

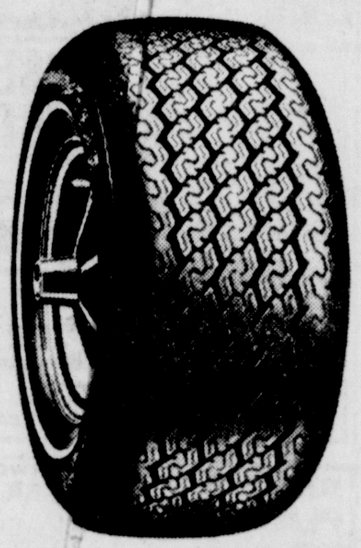
POLYGLAS RADIALS
30,000 mile whitewalls on sale through Saturday



Polyglas Radial
This new Polyglas tire makes it easy to join the switch to radials — especially during this sale period. Both the 70-series wide tread and the 78-series sizes provide radial handling and performance with all the built-in advantages of fiberglas cord belts and polyester cord bodies. On dry pavement, the grip-block tread is designed to give real cornering assurance. On wet roads, wide tread grooves help channel water out from under the tire for good contact, good gripping traction. This 30,000 mile tire is an unsual value — especially during this sale period. Act now.

Indy vets go at Riverside

RIVERSIDE — The roster of veteran Indianapolis 500 drivers entered in the Camel GT Six Hours of Riverside Saturday has grown to four with the addition of Ronnie Bucknum of La Canada.

The 38-year-old star of formula 1, Indy, Le Mans and Can-Am racing has come out of retirement to see if he still has the old touch that made him one of the best young drivers ever developed in California.

For three years Bucknum has been out of action, solving personal problems that grew out of his frustrations over landing and holding first class racing assignments.

Now, having dealt with many of the doubts in his mind, Bucknum has decided to start over where he left off in 1972.

In case there are fans who have forgotten him since the days when he was one of the leading Ford Motor Co. factory drivers, Bucknum's last major victory was in the USAC 250-miler at Michigan International Speedway in 1968. He scored two victories as well for the Roger Penske Camaro team on the Trans-Am trail, and he led the LeMans 24-hour race in 1967.

Bucknum joins two-time Indianapolis 500 winner Rodger Ward of Rosemead, 1972 Indy rookie of the year Mike Hiss of Tustin and talented former Indy driver Sam Posey of Capistrano Beach in the Camel GT lineup.

Prof wants to be racer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In 1976 Benny Scott plans to be the first black to drive in the Indianapolis 500. If he does, he'll probably have to end another career: that of Ph.D. candidate as psychology professor.

Scott, who has been racing 10 years, won the Stock Car Association of Southern California championships in a 1969 series and the California Sports Car Club Formula A championships in another series in 1972. He is being heavily backed by a national tobacco firm in his effort to qualify for the 1976 Indy race.

Meanwhile, he is a full-time psychology professor at a Los Angeles community college and is working on his Ph.D. thesis at the Claremont graduate school in Claremont.

"When I'm driving a race car I'm giving it 100 per cent," said Scott. "I try not to let one detract from the other.

"A lot of people question whether I can do both effectively. I imagine at one time or another one is going to have to go."

Because of his diverse interests, Scott's major problem in racing has been that "people have questioned my seriousness.

"A lot of folks have problems dealing with the trip that I'm a college professor and they say, 'What the hell's he doing out here?' Then when they find out I'm in psychology, they immediately think I'm conducting some sort of research.

"And maybe some people think that I'm some sort of blockbuster who's simply in it to integrate racing."

But Scott says that's not the case. His No. 1 goal is to be a good driver.

"The fact is that one can't really do anything for one's race unless he's successful at what he does," Scott said.

Scott got interested in racing through his father, who drove midget racers every Sunday at White Sox Park, a track for black drivers which flourished in Hollywood in the late 1930s and early 1940s. It was one of many such tracks which developed across the country because black drivers were barred from white racing ovals, Scott said.

"Racing was something my father always wanted to do and because he was really unable to fulfill those dreams in a big way, I kind of feel I'm really carrying them on," Scott says.

Racing early became his first love, but as a student at Monrovia High School in Los Angeles he realized that the sport was "terribly expensive" and that he had little money.

"So I decided to go to school and get an education like "the Man" said. "I had a good psychology professor, so I just kind of went in that direction."

He earned B.A. and M.A. degrees from Long Beach State and then enrolled in the Ph.D. program at Claremont. While in graduate school he was hired as an instructor in psychology at Long Beach State, where he published journal articles.

In 1972 he quit the job as an instructor to devote full time to racing, but lack of funds forced him to return to teaching the next year.

Scott says he has found no prejudice in racing. But while not primarily interested in the integration of auto racing, he hopes his future success will help blacks get into automobile dealerships and the auto parts business and that these businesses will create new jobs and revenues for the black community.

Scott's Black American Racing team, headed by President Leonard Miller of Trenton, N.J., also includes a vice president and a mechanic. All are black.

A large part of the team's finances have come from the national tobacco firm which began to sponsor the team when cigarette commercials were barred from television.

Scott estimates that the company has spent tens of thousands of dollars on his car.

"It's the first time a major company has backed an all black racing effort," says.

He is now racing Super V cars, which reach speeds of 150 miles per hour but are smaller and slower than the Indy cars.

His next step will be a Formula 5,000 car, which is capable of speeds of 180 m.p.h. Then comes the Indy car, which is bigger and faster.

"We have a plan, and that is to go slowly and do it right," Scott said. "There's no sense going to Indianapolis if you're not prepared."

Scott's target date for Indianapolis is 1976. To qualify a driver must demonstrate ability in other races, pass a rookies test at Indinapolis and then record one of the fastest 33 times in qualifying runs at the track. Scott estimates that it can cost as much as $400,000 to get a driver to that starting line.

SH's Bethke accepts bid

LOS ANGELES — Brian Bethke of South Hills High, who led his team to the CIF 4A football championship, has accepted a bid to play for the North Team in the 24th annual Shrine All-Star Football Classic, set for July 26 in the Rose Bowl.

Bethke was chosen as 4A Co-Player of the Year in 1974. He passed for 1302 yards and ran 1015 yards more as a wishbone quarterback. Brian also kicked 40 out of 43 extra points and made seven field goals.

Tommy Jacobs was a 17-year-old amateur when he played in his first Masters golf tournament at Augusta, Ga., in 1952. He's the youngest amateur ever to compete in the event.

Rams 'get' Otto Stowe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Denver Broncos traded the National Football League rights to wide receiver Otto Stowe and an undisclosed 1977 draft choice to the Los Angeles Rams Tuesday as compensation for signing free agent defensive lineman Phil Olsen.

The teams originally announced the deal as a trade, but later said the NFL had told the clubs it could not actually trade the players since both had played out their options and were free agents.

Further complicating the transaction was the fact that Stowe has signed a 1975 pact with Jacksonville of the World Football League.

The Rams, who said that the Broncos had already agreed to terms with Olsen, said Stowe's agent Ed Keating had submitted papers to the NFL indicating the receiver's contract had been breached by the NFL and he was free to join another team.

The Rams said they are awaiting formal clearance from the NFL before beginning negotiations with Stowe, who saw almost no action last season at Denver, which acquired him from the Dallas Cowboys.

Olsen, younger brother of All-Pro defensive tackle Merlin Olsen, started briefly at tackle for the Rams briefly in 1972.

Olsen was originally signed by the Rams in 1971 after he was declared a free agent on a contract technicality although he never played a game for the New England Patriots, who had made the 6-foot-5, 265-pounder from Utah State their No. 1 draft choice in 1970.

Checco sets scoring pace

Al Checco is setting the scoring pace in the Ontario Hockey Association. He leads the league with 25 goals and 16 assists for 41 points.

Checco scored four goals last week to lead the first-place Kings to a 7-6 win over the Flyers. His final goal won the game with 5:48 left on the clock.

It was the seventh consecutive one-point loss for the Flyers. Ken Berry led the Flyers with two goals and an assist while Pat Thomas scored his first goal.

Meanwhile, the Bruins moved into second place by beating the Canadiens, 8-3. Ron Kennedy led the Bruins with three goals and two assists. Phil Williams also had three goals with one assist.

Two games are on the program tonight. The Kings play the Canadiens at 8:30 followed by the Bruins and Flyers at 10:30 at the Ontario Ice Bowl.

Gordien clears 6-6¼ at prelims

By KEVIN CLOE
PB Staff Writer

Sophomore Kelly Gordien had the track fans at Upland High shaking their heads Tuesday afternoon

Claremont's young high jumper came up with his best performance of the season and captured the San Antonio League frosh-soph high jump title.

The leading high jumper in the league all year, Kelly bettered his best jump by almost a full inch as he cleared 6 feet, 6¼ inches.

All the lower division field events conducted their finals Tuesday, while the running events held their preliminaries.

Only three varsity events were held Tuesday, with the rest passing up the prelims and running just the finals, which will be held at Upland High Friday evening at 6:30 p.m.

Montclair High's Jim Donaldson won both of his heats in the 100 and the 220, as did Ganesha's Darrell Gardner. Donaldson won his heat in the 100 in 10.0 seconds, while Gardner won in 9.9 seconds. In the 220, Donaldson won the first heat in 22.7 seconds, Ganesha's Arthur Lane took the second in 23.2 seconds, and Gardner claimed the third in 22.4 seconds.

Ganesha's Lloyd Jones and Pomona's Dwayne Jackson won their heats in the 330 low hurdles, clocking times of 39.4 and 38.5, respectively.

Romans clinch second in H.L.

Pitchers Bob Cochran and Matt Darrow combined to throw a one-hitter and give Royal Oak High second place in the Hacienda League standings and a definite spot in the CIF playoffs Tuesday.

Cochran, who fanned 12 batters in five plus innings of work, gave up the only hit to San Dimas in the sixth inning as the Romans posted a 4-2 triumph. Cochran, however, had to be rescued by Darrow after he walked three and allowed a single in the sixth inning.

The win gives Royal Oak a 10-4 record in the Hacienda League, which ended its season Tuesday.

Gladstone helped put the Romans in the playoffs by handing Walnut a 9-0 shutout in another Hacienda contest Tuesday. Walnut and Royal Oak had been tied for second place going into the game. Walnut (9-5) ended tied for third place with Gladstone and doesn't figure to get a CIF playoff berth.

In one other Hacienda League game Tuesday, Sierra Vista defeated Ontario, 7-1.

In the San Antonio League, Garey High handed league champion Damien its second loss of the league campaign. Viking pitcher Dan Ross fanned nine and walked three in improving his mound record to 3-3 as the Garey club trimmed the Spartans, 4-3.

Garey scored all four of its runs within the first three innings of play. Andy Pedraza went two-for-two for the Vikings, while Robbie Franklin drove in three of the four runs with a bases-loaded double in the third inning.

In another SAL game Tuesday, Upland's Joe Zamudio shut out Pomona on two hits, 7-0. Dave Standlea drove in two runs for the Highlanders with a triple in the four-run fifth inning.

Nogales High clinched sole prossession of the Montview League championship Tuesday by handing Baldwin Park a 3-2 loss.

The Nobles, 11-2 in league competition, now hold a two-game lead over Charter Oak with one game to go.

Charter Oak clinched at least a share of second place by nipping Northview, 5-3. The Lancers are one game up on third place Bassett. In one other Montview contest Tuesday, Rowland dropped a 10-4 decision to Bassett.

Chaffey High maintained a tie for second place in the Citrus Belt League by slipping past Pacific, 7-6. The Tigers scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth on Rick Fellhauer's single to win it.

The Tigers are now 8-5 in the CBL, tied with Redlands and four games behind league champion Eisenhower with two games remaining.

In Arrowhead League, La Verne Lutheran (3-8) whipped CSDR, 11-7. In another valley high school contest, American Christian dropped a 10-2 decision to Liberty Christian.

No beer hits poor Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — They've cut off beer sales for San Francisco Giants' games at Candlestick Park for the rest of May. That's really kicking a baseball team when it's down.

The National League club already rates as the major leagues' weakest franchise financially, although president Horace Stoneham says recent implications that the Giants are going broke are erroneous.

"We have assets in real estate. We are not going bankrupt. Our club will be in San Francisco all year," Stoneham said at a civic luncheon one day after a San Francisco newspaper quoted him as saying, "We're pressed for money right now, but we can operate for another couple of months."

Trying to set the record straight, Stoneham explained, "I said we have arranged to pay our bills through June 15. But that did not mean we will not be able to pay our bills beyond that date."

The 72-year-old Stoneham's wording about the team staying in San Francisco this season led to the question of next year. A front office lieutenant said, "Horace didn't mean only this year. We're staying."

The crowd count is up slightly so far this season, with an average of 9,300 paying fans per home date, but there's that dry nine-game homestand coming up. That's because the Candlestick Park concessionaire drew a 10-day suspension of its beer license for sale to minors in April, 1973.

The break-even attendance point would be somewhere near one million, and Stoneham admits that's about the best that can be hoped for.

OLA girls win CYO track meet

Our Lady of the Assumption School of Claremont took first place at the annual CYO girls' track and field championship meet held at St. Paul High School in Santa Fe Springs.

OLA earned 20 points followed by Holy Cross of Los Angeles with 13 and St. Cyprian with five.

Gissele Lewis paced OLA's effort by winning first place honors in the 100 with a time of 12.2 and the 220 with a 30.1 clocking. She also anchored the 880 relay team which won its race in a time of 2:00.2.

Other members of the winning relay team are Debbie Houle, Debbie Ambord and Evette Akins.

Miss Akins also took a second place in the 75 at 9.5 and a third place in the 100 at 12.4. Miss Houle was third in the long jump at 13-6.

OLA's fifth and sixth grade team took second place in its division.

STRONG INFIELD

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies says the strength of his baseball team lies in his infield. He calls third baseman Mike Schmidt, shortstop Larry Bowa, second baseman Dave Cash and first baseman Willie Montanez the best infield unit in baseball.

Airplanes without engines are called gliders. They are very light, with long, slender wings.

A glider can glide downhill on air. It also can soar upward on rising wind and heat currents in the air.

These updrafts are caused by warm air that rises upward from sun-heated plains. In hilly land, upcurrents can come from wind that rises up a hillside. There are also rising currents in large, puffy clouds.

When a glider pilot finds a rising current of air, he lets the rising air push his light glider upward. Then he glides downhill until he finds another rising current.

A good glider pilot can soar aloft for many hours.

In flight, gliders are con trolled like regular airplanes.

Most gliders are launche by pulling them into the a like kites, at the end of a lon line towed by automobiles airplanes.

Once aloft, the glider u hooks and is free to s without power on the currents.

No. 482, in book T9636, page 140, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California, will sell at public auction to highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) at the inside front lobby entrance to the building located at 6000 West Manchester, Los Angeles, California, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County and State described as:

Lot 11 of Tract No. 21330, in the City of Pomona, as per map recorded in Book 558, Pages 22 and 23 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 1115 East Alvarado Street, Pomona, California.

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, to-wit: $882.57, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

Dated: April 16, 1975.

PUBLIC NOTICE

OFFICIAL NOTICE INVITING BIDS

Notice is hereby given that the Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors will receive sealed bids in a place, time and manner hereinafter described for furnishing all materials, labor and equipment required for the construction to complete the following work:

SD	SPECS. NO.	PROJECT	DEPOSIT	DATE OF BID OPENING
1	3586	South Diamond Bar County Park General Development, Phase I Brea Canyon Road south of Cold Spring Road Diamond Bar, California	$20.00	5-28-75

Bids shall conform to drawings and specifications open to inspection in the Office of the Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors and in Room M-03, 1625 West Olympic Boulevard, Los Angeles, California 90015. Copies of the specifications and drawings of the work to be bid upon can be obtained in Room M-03, for a refundable deposit in the amount indicated. Refunds are made when drawings and specifications are returned in good condition within thirty (30) days after bid opening date.

Each bid will be submitted on a form obtained in Room M-03. Bids shall be sealed and filed at the Public Counter, Room M-03, 1625 West Olympic Boulevard, on or before 10:45 a.m. on the date indicated. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared by the Facilities Department at 11:00 a.m. on this date in Facilities Department Hearing Room M-49. For information call 974-4888.

Bidders must comply with the provisions of General Conditions of the Specifications and Form of Proposal concerning bid guarantee, contract bonds and insurance requirements, and to the requirements for appropriate license classifications issued by the Contractors' State License Board.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute any construction contract(s) which may be awarded the successful bidder or bidders by the County of Los Angeles. Said prevailing wage rate schedule is included in the specifications and is on file in the Office of the Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

In the event the Contractor or any subcontractor employed by him pays a workman less than the stipulated prevailing rate for such work or craft, the Contractor will be liable for all forfeits and additional wage payments provided in Section 1775 of the Labor Code of the State of California.

The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive technical errors and discrepancies in bids submitted in the public interest.

Published by order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, dated April 29, 1975.

Kuwait world's richest

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Based on per capita Gross National Product, Kuwait was the world's richest nation last year, with $11,000 worth of goods and services for each person in the land, according to a study released today by a Swiss bank. The United States was in fifth place behind several European countries.

The Union Bank of Switzerland said its study, based on 1974 figures, showed most oil producing countries still trail the Western industrialized countries in per capita GNP.

Switzerland was second on Union Bank's list, with per capita GNP of $7,270, followed by Sweden at $6,840, Denmark at $6,800 and the United States at $6,595. Kuwait had a real GNP growth rate, after discounting inflation, of 12 per cent in 1974, the study showed.

Others on the 30-nation list included Canada at $6,340, West Germany at $6,215, Norway $5,820, France $5,390 and Australia $5,370. Britain was well down at $3,385. Italy's $2,700 was still slightly higher than Saudi Arabia's $2,650 and Venezuela's $2,275. Iran's per capita GNP was put at $1,275.

The Dardanelles is a narrow strait that joins the little Sea of Marmara to the Aegean Sea. It is about 40 miles long and at its narrowest point only a mile wide.
